with the Corn Products Refining company, a subsidiary of the Standard Oil and the National Starch company, of which he was president, made him a desirable asset, succeeded Mr. Dickinson for ten months. He did as much house cleaning as he could and resigned in favor of Mr. Howell. No many changes in management has not strengthened the bank in public favor. It is evident from its report to the state superintendent on November 1 that its business had greatly declined in recent months. Deposits as of that date were given at $2,705,100, as against $2,275,700 as shown in the bankers' directory of the preceding July.

Then the shadow of Robin again fell across its doors. Dickinson and Robin had been friends. Robin was on the first directorate, but resigned. When the Northern bank was closed and Superintendent Hotchkiss of the State Department of Insurance made public his investigation into its affairs, a draft drawn by Robin on the Carnegie, with which he had no account, cropped up. From that time there began a steady, but continuous withdrawal of funds by depositors who, in confidence, it could scarcely be called a run, but in its culmination today it proved quite as effective.

With the incoming of the new city administration, the Northern Bank of New York and the Carnegie Trust company both became city depositories.

Comptroller Frensdorff became doubtful of the Carnegie and in one of City Chamberlain Hyde's reactions, insisted that the directors put up their personal bond.

Lessie M. Shaw is surprised. PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 7.—Lessie M. Shaw, former president of the Carnegie Trust company, who is now a resident of this city, was surprised to learn that the company had closed its doors. He said he had no knowledge that the institution was in a bad condition. Mr. Shaw said the trust company's paper was all good when he retired as president and that he has inside information that there has been more than $2,000 loss on the paper held by the bank at the time he retired.

 Congressman Ainkaid Introduces Bill in Their Interest.

WILL SOON BE CONSIDERED

Two Postmasters Recommended for Office—Bleasing at Ord and Oliver at Seneca—To Force Attendance.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 7.—(Special Telegram.)—A bill for recommendation made by the North Platte Valley Water Users' association, Congressman M. E. Kinkaid today introduced a bill to amend section four of the reclamation act by providing, in lieu of the law which now provides that such payments shall be made as the secretary of the interior shall prescribe within ten years, that payments shall be made in installments not to exceed $1 per acre for construction for the first and second years, with no payment for maintenance; $2 per acre for construction to be made for the third, fourth and fifth years, together with maintenance charges; $2 per acre for construction to be made for the sixth, seventh and eighth years, together with maintenance charges, and $3 per acre for construction, together with maintenance charges, to be made thereafter annually until payment for the water right has been completed, together with accrued charges for maintenance.

Two Bills Together.

The chairman of the committee on irrigation has promised to give a hearing upon this bill at an early date and to give a hearing also upon H. R. No. 2281, introduced by Mr. Ainkaid at the last session, to amend the same provision of the same section four, giving twenty years instead of ten to make such payments. Mr. Kinkaid will ask consideration of the two bills together, but will urge his preference for the adoption of the new bill rather than the bill introduced at the last session, but will accept a favorable report on the old bill if he cannot secure a favorable report on the new bill.

Mr. Kinkaid and Congressman Hitchcock, both being members of the house committee on irrigation, were in conference this morning in regard to this amendment and other irrigation legislation. Senators Burkett and Brown and Congressman Kinkaid have also conferred fully upon proposed legislation affecting their constituents interested in the North Platte project in South Platte and other counties in western Nebraska.

Francis S. White Dies at Plattsmouth Home

Pioneer Resident of Cass County, Leading Merchant and Mason, Dead.

PLATTSMOUTH, Neb., Jan. 7.—(Special Telegram.)—Francis S. White, who for the last fifty-three years has resided in this city and since 1865 been identified with the mercantile interests of Plattsmouth, died this morning at 5 o'clock in his residence on North Sixth street, in this city, of pneumonia.

Francis S. White was born in Akeley, Norfolk county, England, January 16, 1827, and came to America in 1853, going first to Utah, where he engaged in farming for two years, and came to Plattsmouth in 1857, where for a few years he engaged in shipping merchandise across the plains. In 1865 he went into the general mercantile business in this city and had continued in this pursuit until his death. Mr. White was twice married, his first wife being Miss Annie Butterfield, whom he married in England in 1851 and who died in Plattsmouth in 1887. To this union six children were born, five of whom survive their parents. Those surviving are: Walter J., Alfred W. and Mrs. V. Leonard of this city, Francis F. of Omaha and Arthur C. of Fort Morgan, Colo.

In June of 1871 Mr. White was married to Dora Edgerton, who also survives him. One child, now Mrs. Redfern of Lincoln, survives of this union. Mr. White's children were all at his bedside when he passed away.

His funeral will occur Monday at 2 p. m. at the Masonic hall, conducted by Canon Burgess of St. Luke's Episcopal church, of which the deceased was a life-long member. His body may be viewed by his friends and acquaintances at the residence, Monday, from 10 to 12 a. m.

Mr. White was one of the oldest members of the Masonic fraternity in this part of the state, having been made a Master on May 22, 1865. He was later made a Royal Arch Mason and also a Knight Templar.

WOOL GROWERS CHOOSE OMAHA

duties and recognize that every time departure has been made from the principles therein contained serious disaster has befallen the industry of wool growing. The wool growers need and deserve protective duties, equally with the manufacturers of other classes.

Both classes feel the competition of the cheap labor of foreign countries and both are dependent upon the tariff for their prosperity, and indeed, for their existence, and we call upon our senators and representatives in congress to present a united front against foreign invasion of our markets and resist to the utmost all attacks of vicious protectionists upon the protection that shields this national industry.

Some Things Proposed.

"Pending the investigation of the tariff board appointed by President Taft, tariff legislation again should cease until such time as the findings of the board are reported. We recommend that the tariff work be done by the American Tariff Commission association."

The report commends a resolution favoring the appointment of a committee to represent the association in matters pertaining to tariff legislation. A committee is advocated which shall have for its object the investigation and criticism of the first and second sessions of the tariff board, secretary of agriculture and forestry before the next grazing season opens, with a view to adjusting any differences.

STOUT PAROLE CAUSES ROW

parole which he granted to Ernest Stout of Doniphan. The people of Doniphan, in the community where Stout killed Joseph Richardson, planned to hold a public demonstration tonight against the parole. Stout, who is his way home, was asked over the long distance telephone at Sutton if he had any thought of withdrawing his parole and he replied that he had not.

"Stout was in no sense a criminal," said Shallenberger, "and he has a wife and family to support. The crime was committed while he was engaged beyond control, and he cannot be considered a hardened or desperate man."

Stout's parole was granted on the request of his family, his attorney, W. H. Thompson, and prominent citizens of Hastings, where both Stout and his victim formerly lived.

Barney of Des Moines before a gathering of the short course students in the regular evening meeting at Ames last night. Mr. Barney criticized the state for letting inefficient men resign to take up a similar position with a commission firm at a larger salary.
