President Gives It Out to Clarify Situation that Has Arisen Over Government Fortifying Works

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—A contribution designed to clarify the confused situation which has arisen over the right of the United States to fortify the Panama canal was submitted today by former Senator Foraker of Ohio to President Taft, who made it public.

Throughout the period in which the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was negotiated and ratified Senator Foraker advised with John Hay, then secretary of state, and made many of the suggestions which were incorporated into the treaty preserving to this government the right to take such means as it deemed necessary to protect the canal property and shipping specifically authorizing fortification.

REVIEWER'S LETTER TO TAFT

Senator Foraker's letter to President Taft reviewing the acts of the senate in connection with the ratification of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty by the senate December 1901, which was rejected by the British government.

Hay Once Discouraged

Mr. Hay was greatly disturbed by the attitude of newspapers, and Senator Foraker said he received a call from him one Sunday morning and "he seemed distressed and discouraged."

Letter Says Views Cannot Be Adequately Expressed Because of Official Position.

POLLING THE CANAL

"The canal shall never be blockaded, nor shall any right of war be exercised, nor any act of hostility be committed within it. The United States, however, shall be at liberty to maintain such military police as may be necessary to protect it against lawlessness and disorder."

INTENTION TO PROTECT

Quoting from the Spooner law providing for the construction of the canal and from the treaty with Panama Senator Foraker shows it to have been set forth clearly that it was the intention of the United States to protect the canals and harbors.

SILENCE GAVE FREEDOM

Senator Foraker said further: "An explicit stipulation to this effect was not insisted upon because silence on the subject of it left us free to do as we might see fit."
