Caper pennants are beginning to show their golden heads upon the horizon of Western league bare ball gossip, following close upon the stories of the signing up of the old standbys and various "finds" of the 1910 season. Up to date at least five cities have discovered a pennant in their midst, to be had for the taking, but Pa Rourke has been very quiet and correspondingly industrious,

Rourke's bunch of pitchers, procured to twirt curves for the Omahas in 1911, has already gladdened the hearts of the Omehu fans and he hints that another classy man may be signed a little later. Att are right-handers, Recley, Rhodes, Pentress and Durbin making the lineup.

Buyldn has the reputation of one of the factors of the rounger twirlers and is expected to put himself near the top of the Western in 1911, to make up for his year's absence from the game. Rhodes and Keeley have had good training in the big leagues, the one with the Cardinais and the other with Washington. Pentress proved by the way he pitched ball last season that he will make a big legguer before many years roll past.

There is to be no weakness in the of being short on good catchers. Besides the invaluable Johnny Gonding, there are three other backstops who will have a try-out for the position. Ed Jokerst, s find of the west last season, and the two Agnew brothers have been signed up to be in harness in the spring training

Pickering in the Garden. Olife Pickering will burn up the grass in the garden fields for Pa in 1911, having signed up some weeks ago. He announced while in Omaha making his deal with Pa that there was going to be some faxt base ball seen in the outfield if he Cornhusker Basket Ball Team Shows was able to show up at all. The deal on for a shortstop is still hanging fire. Pa had a half bargain made with Herr Hedges of St. Louis that he was to get ageldon book to play this now tion for Omaha and another pitcher

The rest of the 1911 lineup of Omaha will hasket ball to play first base, and George ready signed up. Graham will hold down second, since his knee has become well again.
