

GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET

Wheat Fluctuates, with the Extreme Range Lower.

CORN BEARS AND BULLS ARGUE

Stimulus Responds to Influences from Both Sides—Primary Receipts of Grain Are Slightly Lower.

The wheat market was a general rally, trading being mixed and values ranged from 100 to 105 cents for No. 1 hard.

Corn trade is well divided. Bears hold that the winter crop is a failure and that the spring crop will be smaller.

Primary receipts were 42,000 bushels of No. 1 hard, 10,000 of No. 2 hard, 10,000 of No. 3 hard, 10,000 of No. 4 hard, 10,000 of No. 5 hard, 10,000 of No. 6 hard, 10,000 of No. 7 hard, 10,000 of No. 8 hard, 10,000 of No. 9 hard, 10,000 of No. 10 hard.

Chicago Grain and Provisions. Features of the Trading and Closing Prices on Board of Trade. Chicago, Jan. 14.—Constant support was forthcoming in the wheat market today and the day before.

Despite liberal purchases by leading houses, wheat at 100 times the quantity was sold at the close of the previous session. One reason was that receipts here were virtually equal in quantity to the shipments.

Provisions dragged under offerings from packing interests and not a great deal of interest from speculators. Pork closed unchanged to 1/2 cent lower.
