The men who race in autos, fellows who guide a roaring, ripping gasoline engine at a mile a minute clip around an eccentric course, must have their minds on their business, if they expect to win.

They must eat and drink things which will give them nerve and strength, for the race is a tax on both.

Ghirardelli's GROUND CHOCOLATE is the best of all beverages for those who engage in strenuous sport as well as those whose delicate constitution needs building up. It is so delicious that it would be the most popular even if it were not also the most nourishing of all beverages. The combination makes it irresistible.

Insist on having Ghirardelli's Ground Chocolate and read the label so that you get it.

JUDGES HOLD FIRST SESSION

Steps Taken to Arrive at Value of City Water Plant.

J. L. WEBSTER FOR BONDHOLDERS

Difference of Opinion Exists as to Validity of Law Under Which Procedure is Taken—Judge Hobson Chairman.

Judges A. B. Thornell of the Fifteenth judicial district, whose home is at Sidney; A. N. Hobson of the Thirteenth, residing at West Union, Fayette county, and F. O. Ellison of the Eighteenth district, living at Anamosa, Jones county, constituting the court of arbitration appointed by the Iowa supreme court to hear the evidence and reach a final decision as to the value of the Council Bluffs city water plant, convened at 10 o'clock yesterday morning in the county court house. Judge W. R. Green happened to be in the city and promptly relieved Judge Thornell of his duties on the local bench so that there was no interruption of the district court business while Judge Thornell was engaged in the first steps of his new duties.

After an informal conference the condemnation court organized by selecting Judge Hobson chairman and naming Jasper J. Ferguson as official reporter. The attorneys representing the water company and the city were then admitted to make their preliminary presentation of the case.

Webster for Bondholders.

John L. Webster of Omaha appeared in behalf of the bondholders had George S. Wright of this city for the water company. City Solicitor Kimball and Emmet Tinley appeared for the city. There was necessity for only the briefest session. Each side stated that considerable time would be required to get the evidence in shape for presentation and it was quickly evident that the only thing that could be accomplished at the time was to fix the dates for future sittings. This involved the question of the service of notices upon the parties interested in the ownership of the plant. Both Attorneys Webster and Wright agreed to accept responsibility for service upon the bondholders, mortgagees and officers of the company, asking only reasonable time to get into communication with them. After further consultation between all the lawyers and the judges it was agreed that an adjournment to January 27 would afford ample time. The order was made and in five minutes all the lawyers and the judges were out of the court house. The judges, however, remained in consultation for nearly an hour.

Kimball Says Law Bad.

From the smoothness and celerity with which everything went along and the ready willingness of the representatives of the water company to solve the knotty problem of notice service it looked as if the trim little ship upon which municipal ownership of the water plant had been embarked was destined to a speedy and pleasant voyage, but after the lawyers had left the building Attorney W. R. Kilpatrick pointed out some breakers ahead. Although, contrary to the hopes and wishes of some of the municipal ownership advocates, he was not included as counsel for the city, he has given the subject of the condemnation much consideration. He pointed out a defect in the law under which the whole proceeding is brought. The law, specially prepared for the purpose, provides fully for the creation of the court and its methods of procedure, defining how service shall be obtained upon the owners of the plant, and specifically says that "notice shall be served upon the owners of the plant in the same manner as original notices.

If such owner or owners be unrepresented then notice shall be served upon the person in charge of the plant or works." Attorney Kilpatrick pointed out this does not provide for notice to persons having liens on the plant not represented by the mortgagees. Notice would be ample when served upon the mortgagees for all holders of bonds, but would not affect other claimants. He said there might be liens to a large amount that could be brought forward after the city paid its money to the bondholders and that these claims would continue as a lien upon the property, and which the city would ultimately have to defeat or pay.

State Senator Saunders, who drew up yesterday and when his attention was called to the matter said it might prove a serious defect, but one that could now be easily remedied by an amendment to the law, making it specifically include all liens and claims of whatever nature, leaving the city's title to the plant without suspicion when the purchase price is finally paid over. He said he could get such an amendment through the legislature in about a week and would do so if it was deemed advisable.

Kimball Says Not.

City Solicitor Kimball, who drew up the special condemnation court law, does not share the belief that there is any defect in it.

"If there is any defect in the law creating the condemnation court we want to know it right now," said he, "but I don't think there can be any defect anywhere. We did not change in the remotest the general condemnation law of the state under which millions of dollars' worth of property has been condemned within the last thirty years, and upon which the supreme court has passed time and again. These proceedings are brought under chapter 116 of the general condemnation law. If there are any liens other than the mortgagees they must be of record, and we will make them come in the notice service. We shall probably have to have a complete abstract of the property. We will look it up carefully and if the law needs to be amended we will entrust the work to Senator Saunders, but I think every point has been well covered. It amounts to just this: Under the general condemnation law property has been condemned for all sorts of public purposes, including sites for water works. We have only added the provision for condemning the plant itself. The other acts authorized by the law have stood the test of thirty years in cases where every thing contingent here was involved, and we think this will be likewise invariable."

Other attorneys, however, are inclined to believe the law is lame in its provisions for service and should be amended to make assurance doubly sure.

James Current Hits

Large Man Who Was Witness in Court

Legal Dispute Over Possession of Children Leads Omaha Man to Fight Witness.

Ovid Vlen, rotund, vigorous and always cool, who handles his 234 pounds with extreme agility, was astonished just as he left the district court room yesterday afternoon by James Current of Omaha, weighing less than 100 pounds, but extremely active under a 300-pound pressure of indignation. The little man hit the big fellow a swinging blow in the face and was following it up with plenty more of the same kind when Mr. Vlen recovered from his astonishment and stopped him.

Mr. Current is the father of Mrs. E. B. Black, formerly Mrs. Luella Oliver, and she is prosecuting a suit in the district court to recover the custody of her twin children, who were consigned to the care of their father when she obtained a divorce from him on November 3, 1909, on grounds of cruelty and intoxication. On February 16 she married Mr. Black, who is a business man of Omaha. James Oliver, the father of the children, has given them into the custody of his mother, and according to his testimony is providing for their support. Since her remarriage the mother of the twins is anxious to get them again in her charge, expressing her willingness either to care for them in her new home or to consign them to the care of her own parents, Mr. and Mrs. Current. Oliver's contention is that neither home is a proper place for the little ones, and for the last two days his attorney has been introducing testimony in the attempt to sustain the contention. Vlen was one of his witnesses and was obliged to make some statements in the witness chair just as the father of Mrs. Black entered the court room. He listened aghast at the attempt to blacken the character of his daughter, and when the witness left the chair and passed out of the court Current followed him into the corridor. There were a few excited demands for a retraction and then

Council Bluffs

Mr. Current vigorously assaulted the big man.

Women in the corridor screamed and half a dozen men rushed forward and separated the two men. Current was on his knees with the face pressed close to the floor and was quickly picked up. Vlen avers that he simply laid his hand on the small man's head and he went down under the weight of it. Neither man had the slightest mark to indicate any damage except to feelings.

COUNCIL BLUFFS WANTS

MAN IN SMITH'S PLACE

Republicans of East End of Ninth District Hold Conference Over Congressional Place.

Local republican leaders held a secret conference yesterday for the purpose of deciding upon the course to be followed in filling the vacancy in the Ninth congressional district that will be caused by the resignation of Congressman Walter I. Smith, when he leaves his duties at Washington to take the place on the circuit court of appeals. The party managers called into the conference do not care to give out details of the plans formed and are inclined to have it understood that no definite course was decided upon.

Senator C. G. Saunders was called from his legislative work at Des Moines to attend the conference, which was called by Ernest E. Hart. There were about twenty of the party men present, including several from the east end of the county, but none from other parts of the district. It was agreed that no encouragement would be given the demand for a special primary to name a candidate to be elected at the polls, but the choice of the party should be made in a convention composed principally of the congressional delegates selected at the June primary last year. It has been made quite evident that the purpose of the republican managers is to make it certain that Congressman Smith's successor shall be a Council Bluffs man. Several have been mentioned for the place, including Senator Saunders, Clem F. Kimball, D. E. Stuart and other strong men who will poll the full party vote.
