

Thirty-five Bowlers Leave for St. Louis Omaha Upheld in Return of Players

TENNEY IS NOW DISCREDITED

Some Stockholder in Boston Does Job By Blocking Deal.

SHAHER SAID TO BE COMING

If Deal Had Gone Through Boston Would Have Had Lively Inflection—Doubt Boosts the Philites.

BY JOHN R. PORTER.
Everybody in the base ball geological garden has a hammer in hand for the board of something or another of the Boston National League club which held up a trade that was made by the manager.

Tenny was willing to swap Shean for Shafer. McGraw agreed. A book learned citizen of Boston who owns stock in the Boston club stopped the trade.

Result—Not a citizen of Boston will have the slightest confidence from now until the end of the present career of the present Boston baseball management that Tenny is the absolute playing head of the Boston team.

Faith has been shattered in his judgment as a manager and confidence has been destroyed in his ability to select ball players.

It doesn't matter 2 cents to John J. McGraw. As he remarked: "There was no other manager than Tenny would could have had Shafer, and I merely was willing to make the trade because I was a friend to Tenny, and thought that he might be able to get Shafer to go with him. Shafer will not play with the Boston National League. It is doubtful whether he would play with any club but New York, but he might have made an impression in Boston because he has always been friendly with Tenny."

McGraw was not asked to give his opinion as to the merits of the players. Yet this much is known. Shean has had more experience than Shafer, and has improved some because he has been able to get into the game every day.

He's All Right.

Shafer is one of the most promising young ball players in either league. Folks in Boston who knew nothing about him seemed to think that Tenny had all the best of the deal. Many don't think so. Opportunity has been given to see Shafer play in some of the games in which the Giants indulged on the exhibition tour and Shafer has shown that he is a ball player of the United States.

If he had gone to Boston and had been put in the game regularly Boston would have witnessed the development of the best young third baseman who has played in that city since the days of "Jimmy" Collins, and that is what the fans and the others who stopped the deal.

With Tenny at first, Sweeney at second, Herzog at shortstop and Shafer at third, the Bostonians might not have had an infield which would have been the greatest in eight years, but which would have been on the high road to be one of the finest collections of ground covers in the National League, provided Tenny's feet remain in good condition all of the year.

The Boston club now seems to be in the condition that any trade which is suggested by Tenny will be declined by other clubs, because the owners will be dubious as to Tenny's authority to complete it.

The Boston management has made a mistake at the very start of its new career and will have plenty of opportunity to discover its blunder.

There is an evident lack of knowledge of practical base ball, which will probably give Boston a firm grip on the tail position in the race, an usual.

No Changes.

Cole, pitcher for the Chicago National League club, says the ball players do not wish any changes in the rules. Very probably, Mr. Cole observes, "Nix on the changes," and the office boy would like to know who is this person, "Nix," who writes on base ball rules.

Doolin Says It Will Be the "Philites."

Listen, "Chatterbox" Doolin, the farmhand red, snatched, sailor, over in Philadelphia, says the "Philites" will win the pennant this year in the National League.

He's trying to "boost" his vaudeville name. That's all there is to it. Not that there is any objection to the "Philites" winning the championship, if they are big enough to do so, but how are they likely to pull it through when there are three men on the team who "lose their goat" any time some other fellow says "ba-a?"

Decisions in Boxing Bout.

If there are any who are willing to play with the harmless diversion of making decisions in boxing bouts, so be it. There are several who are willing to do so. A New York writer called attention the other day, and very pertinently and clearly, too, as to what constitutes a decision in a boxing bout.

It isn't an occasional wild lunge, or soul racking swing, with a fending look on the part of the villain, but it is the ability to get over and under the other man's guard and pepper him full of hot shots. A decision was given in favor of a boxer the other night, when actual written record showed that he did not land five clean blows in the bout, and he did not score a knockout; either. His opponent outpointed him six to one, but the chap who got the decision had a way of looking fierce, as if he would bite a leg of mules in two, and then swing heavily against the other fellow's glove.

Soccer Foot Ball is Given a Tryout

First Game is Won by Creighton Against St. John's Hall Boys.

In a fast and exciting game of soccer the first team of Creighton university defeated a picked eleven from St. John's hall by the score of 2 to 1 Thursday. The contest was the first of a series that will be played by the locals during the next two months, and judging from the enthusiasm displayed by the players and spectators, the outdoor sport will supplant basketball as the local vogue.

Efforts have been made by the management to secure a number of games with different teams throughout the state, and if the experiment of introducing the game is successful the sport will continue permanently as the athletic diversion after the fall foot ball season has closed.

Medicine that aids nature is always most effective. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy acts on this plan. It attacks the cough, relieves the lungs, opens the secretions and aids nature in restoring the system to a healthy condition. Thousands have testified to its superior excellence. Sold by all dealers.

Russian Lion Gets More Than Bargained For in Roller Match

Fails to Throw Seattle Wrestler Once in Hour, Though Promised Two Falls.

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 2.—(Special Telegram)—When George Hackenschmidt guaranteed to throw Dr. E. F. Roller twice in an hour he overestimated his power and failed to secure even one fall within the allotted time. The Russian Lion appeared to a disadvantage with Roller and was on the defensive nearly as much as the Seattle doctor.

Roller broke Hackenschmidt's holds with ease and finished apparently in better condition than Hackenschmidt. Roller picked Hackenschmidt up several times and threw him to the mat, but at no time had a chance for a fall. In the preliminaries Blackie won in two straight falls from Collins.

Holden, an Omaha wrestler, appeared for the first time before a Lincoln audience and made a big hit with the crowd with his clever work against Ernest. Hackenschmidt's trainer, Ernest won two straight falls.

The crowd was the largest ever in the Lincoln open house. Frank Gotch wrestles four Nebraska heavies on February 9. Ernest, who was recently thrown by Gion, the Nebraska champion, challenged Gion for a finish match with a side bet of $250, which the Aurora man accepted.

Welch is Traded by Pa to Sioux City

Three-Cornered Deal by Which Omaha is to Secure "Goat" Anderson.

By means of a three cornered deal, Pa Bourke, of Omaha, has traded off Harry Welch, the Omaha boy who has been playing outfield for Omaha, and obtained "Goat" Anderson, a former big leaguer and a fast infielder.

Welch goes to Sioux City to play with the Indians next summer and Johnnie Fisher comes to the hands of Pa. Then Pa takes Johnnie and trades him off to Dayton, Ohio, which town has the hold on Anderson, and wants to trade him, as Anderson does not want to play with Dayton. Anderson in 1907 and 1908 played with Pittsburgh and with Rochester in the Eastern league in 1909 and 1910. He turned in a perfect fielding average in 1909, making 33 put-outs and assists in 34 games and made no errors at all. In batting, however, he is not so strong, coming below .50.

Sioux City now has two Harry Welch's.

CORRIDON IS LOST TO OMAHA

Speedy Infielder is Traded by the St. Louis Browns to Pittsburgh.

The release of "Red" Corridon by the St. Louis Americans to Pittsburgh comes as a surprise to Omaha fans and incidentally puts Pa Bourke on the hunt for another infielder. Corridon was when in Omaha as a shortstop for a part of last season, but returned to Hedges at St. Louis to finish the season. However, Pa has been expecting to get him back for use this season.

Corridon went to Pittsburgh as part of a trade Hedges had on with the Pittsburgh management for some time and this is why Omaha did not get him. It is reported that Pittsburgh paid $1,500 for the infielder, but that city may not use him during the coming season at that. Corridon's usefulness on a team was not so much in his great fielding ability, but in the fact that he was a good batter; had lots of ginger and was a good base runner. In living up a base ball team Corridon will earn his salary.

Pa announced Thursday that he sent out contracts on that day to all his players and that he would be heard from soon. He also let drop the information for Omaha fans that although he couldn't let out who they would be at present, he would have nine pitchers on the list when he opened the training season. There will also be four catchers, the four regular infielders and a utility infielder and three regulars in the outfield, with an extra man there.

Grand Circuit for Automobile Racing

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—A grand circuit for automobile racing to insure regularity and better opportunity for manufacturers in this method of testing the comparative capabilities of their cars finally was decided upon today at a meeting of members of the Manufacturers' Contest Association here. A tentative plan, with facing to be held May 30 at the Indianapolis speedway and to end about November 1 at Savannah, Ga., was submitted and voted upon favorably, a committee consisting of Chairman S. M. Butler of the American Automobile Contest board, Russell Field, A. R. Partridge and Fred J. Wagner, being appointed to arrange a tentative schedule.

It has not been decided yet whether the circuit shall extend to the Pacific coast or made more compact by limiting it to the middle and eastern states.

Hirds Scarce in Rogers' Springs. ROGERS SPRINGS, Tenn., Feb. 2.—Summer weather and a scarcity of birds made the hunting of the all-American field trials club uninteresting. Through the day the thermometer registered between 60 and 70 degrees and all of the sixteenth dogs running were tired before the completion of the forty-minute test.

The actors, Theodore Whitestone and Philipides, made the best showing. They ran a fast race off wide range and worked out the territory well, but found no birds.

Omaha is Upheld in Returning Players to Louisville Club

National Commission Approves Decision of Board in Case of Sullivan and Moriarty.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 2.—The National Baseball commission today dismissed an appeal filed by the Louisville club of the American association from a decision rendered by the National board relative to the Moriarty and Sullivan, who were sold by Louisville to Omaha, but were returned.

The national board has ruled that Omaha was justified in returning the players, because they were not in condition at the time of the sale. The national commission upheld the ruling.

Would Form Tri-City Amateur Ball League

Enthusiasts of Three Cities in Hopes of Forming Organization—Quigley May Leave City.

The formation of a Tri-City league of amateur teams in the three cities is one of the things that the enthusiasts of this class of base ball are earnestly wishing would come to pass. The making and keeping up of such a league is very hard, but it is found possible and advisable in many cities the size of the three cities right here on the Missouri. An effort to form such a league will probably be made.

Frank Quigley, captain of the Stars Triumphs last year and for years manager and captain of the Diets organization, may not be in Omaha next year, as he is seriously considering an offer from President Carey of the Mink league to manage the Nebraska City team next year.

Quigley has always been an enthusiastic supporter of amateur sports in Omaha, and his loss would be felt greatly in both foot ball and base ball. If he went to Nebraska City he would probably play the outfield and act as utility catcher.

BIG DANE BACK FROM DENVER

Westergaard Declares He Would Like to Arrange for Another Match in Omaha.

Jens Westergaard, the wrestler of Iowa, who in Omaha Wednesday night, enroute from Denver to his home in Des Moines.

Although neither Jens nor his manager, Thorson, had anything in mind right now, they both declared that they would like to get another match in Omaha in the near future. They are not particular as to who Jens takes on so long as it is a good man, and a go may be arranged for the Iowa to appear in the latter part of February.

The last time Westergaard was in Omaha was the night he held Hackenschmidt off for an even hour in a handicap event and won the match. This was also the time that Farmer Burns sprung his little surprise, in the shape of Mahout, in the ring and challenged Hackenschmidt.

Westergaard's next match is with young Sandoz in Des Moines February 7. Sandoz and Westergaard are well matched and this will be a test of the class of sandow.
