

CHARTER CONFERENCE SECRET

City Officials Meet Representatives of the Commercial Club.

REPORTERS ARE BARRED OUT

Garbage Collection Suggestions Accepted, but Change of Hours for Holding Election Rejected—Council Controls Garbage.

In a secret conference from which newspaper reporters were barred unless they would promise not to divulge the happenings within, plans for the amendment of the bill for the revision of the city charter were discussed Tuesday morning in City Attorney Rine's office. By the mayor, three members of the city council, City Attorney Rine and representatives from the Commercial club.

Acting for the representatives at the meeting, City Attorney Rine refused to admit the reporter for The Bee unless he would be pledged to secrecy.

"These discussions are not public matters," said Mr. Rine to the reporter, "and you cannot come in unless you will promise not to write anything about it. There are some who might not want the discussion made public." The reporter did not go in.

The conference was attended by Mayor Dahlman, City Attorney Rine, Councilmen Berka, Hummel and Sheldon, J. E. George and John Robbins.

The meeting was for the purpose of considering the amendments decided upon by the municipal committee of the Commercial club at its meeting last Friday. The Commercial club recommended two amendments, one relating to the collection and disposal of garbage and another changing the hours of opening and closing the polls in general and special elections to the hours of 8 a. m. and 8 p. m.

The suggestion of the club, relating to the collection and disposal of garbage was accepted by the framers of the original bill, but the one asking that the hours of election be changed was unceremoniously rejected.

Upon an agreement reached at the meeting, an amendment will be offered which will give the city council power to contract for the collection and disposal of garbage without cost to the city, but in the event of failure, the council, acting with the mayor, who shall be given a vote, will be empowered to apportion money to the amount of $50,000 upon a two-thirds vote of the council and mayor.

Holdup Men Rob Two and Get but Little

Secure Nothing from the First Man and Only $1.25 from the Second.

A brace of young holdup men held up and robbed Charles Krelle, a linotype operator, of 1023 Dorcas street, last night at 11 o'clock. They secured only $1.25.

The holdup men manipulated at the corner of Seventeenth and Jones streets, while Krelle was on his way home from an inspection of the Dahlman Rifles, of which he is a member.

Two young men approached him rapidly from behind, after following him for several blocks, and when within a few feet of the victim, one of them whistled. Thinking that he was being overtaken by some friends, Krelle slackened his pace and turned around, only to face a pair of revolutionaries.

C. M. Howell, living at 208 North Nineteenth street, was held up at 10:30 last night on Capitol avenue, between Eighteenth and Nineteenth street. They got nothing from their pains. It is thought from the two descriptions that the same men did both jobs.

FUNERAL OF W. C. GALLOWAY

Body of Aged Pioneer Taken to Oakdale, Neb., for Interment—Was Well Known.

The funeral of William Clayton Galloway, who died Sunday evening, was held Tuesday at 1:30 from the residence of 719 Wirt street. The body was then taken to Oakdale, where, after brief services at the home of A. T. Galloway, the body will be interred. Rev. Frederick T. House of the First Congregational church conducted the services at the Omaha home.

Mr. Galloway died at the age of 71. He had extensive milling interests in Nebraska and was prominent as a layman in the Congregational church and as a veteran of the civil war.

Born in Virginia, Mr. Galloway enlisted in the confederate army at the outbreak of the war, fighting in Pickett's division and under Stonewall Jackson. Wounded at three different times during the war he returned to the front each time. He left the service in 1864 and married, but volunteered and went back again as a substitute for his partner, a married man with a family, who had been drafted.

Mr. Galloway came to Omaha in 1870, but moved to West Point, Neb., a short time afterward, taking with him the first stock of merchandise to be carried over the Northwestern into West Point. Later he went to Neligh, buying the mills and the greater part of the townsite. While there the hard times and the grasshoppers visited Nebraska, and Mr. Galloway very generously expended a small fortune in aiding those who were struck the hardest. He was also a generous giver to Gates college and the church there, taking a giant's part in the founding of each. He became president of the Galloway Milling company, which has its mills at Oakdale. He came to this city again in 1900, and has remained here since that time.

He was a strong friend of J. Sterling Morton and spent one whole winter at Lincoln in an attempt to elect his friend to the United States senate.

Mrs. Galloway died two years ago. Nine children survive Mr. Galloway. They are A. T. Galloway of Oakdale; Mrs. Frank W. House of Shawnee, Okla.; Miss Lulu and Emmett of Andrews; Miss Bess Galloway and Clyde of western Nebraska; the latter four all having Klondike claims; also Ernest, Miss Claudia and Miss Leelan, the latter a teacher in the city schools.

Land Show Exhibits Win at the Corn Show

Alfalfa and Grain Taken from Omaha Win Many Valuable Prizes at Columbus.

Prof. W. G. Brandenberg of Denver, special lecturer at the recent Omaha Land show on Colorado and the San Luis valley of that state Tuesday wired friends in Omaha that a portion of the exhibit which was shown at the Omaha Land show and taken over to the National Corn show at Columbus, O., has won many premiums during the last week. Among these premiums black oats grown at San Acacio on the Cordilla irrigated lands won the grand sweepstakes, while Christensen's oats from the San Luis valley fell short only a fraction of a pound from winning $1,000 Colorado trophy cup. Alfalfa from the San Luis valley won the highest prize for alfalfa, and Oscar Kling of Monte Vista won the special prize for the best wheat. These products, which were shown at the Omaha Land show and taken over to Columbus from here attracted much attention while on exhibition at Omaha.
