GAS COMPANY KEEPS BILL

Does Not File its statement for Gas Furnished in January.

COUNCIL'S MOVE IS NOTHING

So Says Manager Clabaugh of the Gas Company, Who Also Says the Matter Probably Will Go to the Courts.

For some reason, the Omaha Gas company has failed to present its bill for street lighting to the city for the month of January. Usually the company is very prompt and has its bill in the hands of the city comptroller by the second or third of the month, but so far this month, no bill has been filed.

City officials are wondering what the delay means. They contend it may be an oversight and again that there may be method in the apparent oversight of the company.

In some of the delay is taken to mean that the company has decided on a plan of action regarding the bills which it has presented to the city council for street lighting for the past five years. Recently both bills were rejected by the city council.

Manager Clabaugh of the gas company stated Wednesday morning that the company had decided on no plan of action. "But to protect our rights, we have filed an appeal bond in the district court and if we are forced to institute proceedings against the city, we will ask judgment for the amount contained in the second bill presented," said Mr. Clabaugh.

"We would rather settle the differences without going to court," continued Clabaugh. "If the council and the company cannot get together, then there is only one way to settle the trouble and that is in the courts."

In the opinion of Mr. Clabaugh the resolution passed by the city council Tuesday night, tending the gas company not more than $2 a lamp per year for street light from January 1 means nothing.

"If we do not accept these terms, which can only date from the time of presentation to us, we can furnish gas under protest against the bill," said Mr. Clabaugh. "What resolution means absolutely nothing."

Mr. Clabaugh's views are shared by many city hall officials, which includes Assistant City Attorney Dunn. The assistant city attorney told the council Monday afternoon that the resolution meant little if anything. "Despite this advice the council passed the resolution Tuesday night."

"The resolution passed Tuesday night was a compromise measure and was a neat way of ducking the issue," said a city hall official Wednesday morning.

Council to Inspect Productions Put On at Omaha Theaters

Judiciary Committee Will Take a Look at Plays Before Framing Ordinance.

A tour of inspection of the theaters and moving picture shows of Omaha is planned by the judiciary committee of the city council. This junket will be made the latter part of the week and early next week in order to give the members of the committee a chance to see the class of shows that are produced in the city, if present plans do not miscarry.

A resolution regarding moving picture shows was introduced into the city council last week at the instance of the Baraca union. At the meeting of the committee of the whole the proposed ordinance was referred to the judiciary committee with instructions to bring in a new ordinance which would cover all points objected by the Baraca union.

On motion of Councilman McGovern a resolution was adopted which may include the censorship of theaters if the city fathers see fit to pass an ordinance.

"In order that we may know what we are doing we will visit the theaters and picture shows," said Councilman Hummel, who is a member of the judiciary committee. "Objections have been raised in some quarters as to the kind of shows that are being produced in Omaha, so the committee will do some quiet investigating on its own account. It will probably be two weeks before we will be able to bring in the new ordinance. By that time we have hopes of having made a thorough investigation of the theaters and moving picture shows."

Councilman Berka, another member of the committee, stated that he favored the proposed junket.

Managers of the various theaters in the city say they will welcome any visits which the city dads propose to make and that the doors of the theaters will be thrown open.

CRAIG HAS A NEW CITY MAP

Can Tell at a Glance Where Repairs Are Being Made on City Streets.

A new plan for keeping tabs on street repairs has been instituted by City Engineer Craig. A map system has been installed by which it will be possible for the city engineer to tell at any time where the streets have been torn up for any sort of improvements or repairs.

The plan adopted, which is used in New York City, is that when a permit is issued for the tearing up of a street, the district affected must be indicated on the map. When the contractor who was given the permit finishes his work he will report to the city engineer, who, upon investigation, will order the district eliminated from the repair map. In this manner it will be possible for Mr. Craig to tell the condition of the streets at any time.

OMAHA BECOMES LAND MART

Real Estate Men Hear of Land Show's Results.

ADDRESS BY C. C. ROSEWATER

Map Back of Products Exhibit Tells Exchange of Vast Possibilities Presented by the Western Acres.

With the announcement that seven big land agencies of the west had established each a branch in Omaha as a result of the Land show, C. C. Rosewater, general manager of The Bee Publishing company, moved the Real Estate exchange to enthusiasm at the weekly luncheon Wednesday over the prospect of making this city a leading land market. Mr. Rosewater told the exchange that vast areas of land in the western states were to be had by dealers in this city for service in making sales.

The appearance by Mr. Rosewater, on invitation from C. C. George, president of the exchange, served to give the members a revelation as to the possibilities which were at their hand for extended business. The representative of the Land show explained that the opening up of Omaha as a central land selling point for the unlimited territory of the west had been the greatest definite result of the show. General results had been to interest the public in the western direction in opposition to the unnatural drift of migration north into Canada and south into Mexico.

"There is an excellent chance for real estate men of this city to make business connections with the great irrigation and agencies he referred to, and to assist them Mr. Rosewater. 'I have received numerous inquiries from the firms in the western states as to the facilities for transacting business in this city.'"

The speaker then offered to personally get the local dealers in touch with the agencies he referred to, and to assist them in making Omaha the future land market for the territory west of the Missouri valley.

Several members of the exchange brought up the complaint that Nebraska had failed to make any sort of proportionate showing in the Land show. Mr. Rosewater explained that this state had suffered that disadvantage through not possessing an organized system of exploiting its resources. Mr. George bore out this statement with the remark that the state is far behind all others of the central and west section in the advertising idea.
