

MANN WINS IN HIS LONG FILIBUSTER

House Bill Substituted for Senate Measure and Has Slight Chance to Pass.

SPOILIATION CLAIMS ARE LOST
They Go Down with War Claims of the Democrats.

HOUSE ADJOURNS IN AFTERNOON
Continuous Session Lasting for Forty-Eight Hours.

FIGHT TO BE RESUMED TODAY
Possibility Lower Body Will Rush Bills Through Under Suspended Rules, Throwing Extra Session Burden on Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—A truce entered into shortly before 4 o'clock this afternoon brought the long filibuster in the house against the omnibus war claims bill temporarily to an end. The agreement was reached following an intermission of three hours devoted to memorial services and eulogies to the late Senator Clay of Georgia and the late Representative Brownlow of Tennessee.

These services, occurring at midday Sunday, seemed to put the house on a par with a more peaceful frame of mind. A recess was ordered until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning, when the fighting will be resumed.

When the house convenes tomorrow an effort will be made to adopt a rule substituting further delay. It will be bitterly fought by a new band of filibusters, made up of former advocates of the measure as it came from the senate.

Representative Mann of Illinois, who conducted the original filibuster, ended his fight when he succeeded in having the old French spoliation and the navy yard overtime claims stricken out. This was accomplished when the house voted to substitute a house bill for the senate bill. The house bill carries only war claims which have been adjudicated in the court of claims.

Where Democrats Failed.
The democrats who were particularly interested in the war claims affecting southern persons were opposed to the spoliation claims. When they voted to strike out the latter, however, they lost the support of the republican members who favored the omnibus bill because it included the French claims. Realizing that the new house bill probably had not the slightest chance of passing the senate, Mr. Mann ceased his filibuster.

It was immediately taken up however by Representative Gardner of Massachusetts, Bennett and Warren of New York and several New England members. The New Englanders said unless the bill contained the spoliation claims it should not pass. They will offer long amendments to the house bill tomorrow unless the rule excludes them.

There was talk tonight that a general rule would be adopted providing for the consideration of all bills in the remainder of the session under suspension of the rules. This was met with a cold reception and that measure will be crushed through as fast as possible.

House Skirts Clear.
This action would dispose effectually of the rumors that some of the house leaders were planning to bring about an extra session. If an extra session is called, as now seems probable, it is believed the house will be in a position to throw the entire blame for it on the senate.

The house remained in session all last night and until a few minutes before 4 o'clock this afternoon. Practically nothing was accomplished in the last two or three hours of the sitting, except the pronouncement of the eulogies, which were permitted by unanimous consent.

The remainder of the day was passed in waiting for a quorum. Sergeants-at-arms were sent through the city at 8 o'clock this morning.

Generally speaking they did not serve their warrants on members until about 10 o'clock. Even then there were no physical arrests, the members being quite willing to return. Half of the democrats had been sent home to sleep, so as to relieve at noon their fatigued comrades, who were "holding the fort."

Snow Covers Ground Down in Missouri and More Following

Fall Begins Saturday and Continued Sunday Following Two Days of Rain.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Feb. 19.—More than ten inches of snow covers the greater part of western Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma tonight. Almost five inches has fallen today and, according to the weather bureau, there will be no cessation during the night. The snow began to fall yesterday morning about five inches being on the ground at daylight this morning. Little snow is melting. The lowest temperature here today was 25 degrees above zero. The weather will be colder by morning. It is officially predicted by Patrick Connor, the local weather forecaster. The snow came after a rain of two days. Farmers are overjoyed, because their ground was badly in need of the moisture.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The coming week will be one of low temperatures in practically all districts east of the Rocky mountains and generally fair weather preceded, however, by snows in northern and central and rains in southern states east of the Mississippi river Monday and Tuesday night, according to the prediction of the weather bureau.

An extensive area of cold weather that covers the plains states and the northwest will advance eastward and southward and cause frosts and freezing temperatures Sunday and Tuesday in the golf states and Monday and Wednesday in the south Atlantic states, except southern Florida.

Denny Lynch Makes Stir Aboard Liner

Passenger on Board the Laurentine Runs Amuck Shooting His Revolver.

NEW YORK, Feb. 19.—For the second time within a week a trans-Atlantic liner arrived today with a crazed passenger aboard. Denny Lynch, a second cabin passenger on the Laurentine, which came in today from Liverpool, created great excitement among the 322 passengers on the high seas by running amuck with a revolver. The America, an Italian line steamer, arrived but two days ago with Natali Di Tompore, a musician in iron. He went mad in the dining saloon when the ship was two days out of Naples and wounded two passengers by the reckless discharge of a revolver.

Lynch bolted from his cabin on the Laurentine last Friday night and fired wildly along the length of the port corridor of the stateroom deck. Men and women darted in their cabins narrowly escaping the seven shots fired. One bullet entered the barber's cabin and the others lodged in the wood work of the ship. Several officers rushed at the mad while he was reloading the weapon and disarmed him. He was locked up until the arrival of the ship here and turned over to the immigration authorities.

Peace of Twenty-Nine Expected to Overtake Slayers and Avenger Killing of Stockman.

RENO, Nev., Feb. 19.—That the murderers of Camborn, Lavigne, Ermoups and Indians, Washoe county stockmen, were Indians, is definitely established, according to the report made today by County Physician E. K. Morrison, who conducted the investigation. The pursuing posse numbers twenty, including two Indian traitors, and left Reno on Thursday. They expect to overtake the Indians in 40 miles and anticipate a fight.

Roosevelt Buys Wife and Baby For Two Bits of Dick Watson

For one quarter of a dollar Charles Roosevelt of Omaha got himself a wife and a baby. And what is more he is keeping them. Charles got his wife and a baby, which was thrown in, in a most unique way.

Dick Watson, who is a testifier, had a wife but he didn't want to keep her. In fact it was because Mrs. Watson wouldn't let Dick run her like he did his wagon that the trouble, which finally culminated in the sale, began.

IF SENATE FAILS CALL TO FOLLOW

President Taft Lets it Be Understood Will Not Halt on Extra Session of Congress.

HIS DUTY TO PUSH RECIPROCITY
Representative McCall Gives Statement After White House Visit.

SENATORS DIVIDED ON OUTCOME
Few Members of Upper House Expect Vote This Session.

OPPOSITIONS LIKE THE SITUATION
Think Demands of Public Business Such It Will Be Easy to Filibuster Until Defeat of Proposition Is Accomplished.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 19.—The first authoritative announcement that President Taft will call an extra session of congress if the senate fails to act on the McCall bill, carrying into effect the Canadian reciprocity agreement, came today from Mr. Call himself following a visit at the White House.

According to Mr. Call, the president feels he is under an international obligation to summon an extra session, if necessary, to secure a ratification of the reciprocity agreement. That session would be called immediately following the adjournment of congress at noon on March 4.

While it is the evident purpose of the president to avoid an extra session by inducing senators to act upon the agreement, it is the opinion of many that the statement has been made. Few senators predict that action will be taken on the agreement in the senate at this session, while some insist there will be a vote.

With appropriation bills in a congested condition with the Lorimer case pending, the permanent tariff board bill pending for consideration, the general session bill being urged by many senators, and the resolution for the popular election of senators coming up daily as the unfinished business, it seems the chances for action on the reciprocity agreement are slight.

Vote in Lorimer Case.
There is some prospect that the Lorimer case may be disposed of Wednesday, following a speech which Senator Lorimer will make in his own behalf, but there is no apparent likelihood of early votes on any of the other important measures.

Oppositions to the reciprocity agreement in the senate are viewed with complacency, not to say satisfaction, the congested conditions. The demands of the public business are such that a vote on reciprocity can be avoided easily without the appearance of a filibuster.

The bill probably will not be reported out of the finance committee before Thursday afternoon, and it is probable that it will remain only seven and a half legislative days of the present session.

Mr. McCall also made the announcement that the president would veto any tariff legislation passed by the democratic house and approved by the nearly democratic senate if that should be necessary to maintain the republican party's protective principles.

Views of President.
Mr. McCall's statement, which is generally understood to have been approved by the president, is:

"I believe republican senators are gradually coming to recognize, that with the certain prospects of an extra session unless they bring the reciprocity bill to a vote, there will be very serious inconvenience and embarrassment if not danger to the business and industrial enterprises that are really entitled to protection.

Pinchot Tells of the Battle

Former Forester Says Conservation Has Won Many Victories.

SUCCESS IN PROGRESSIVE MOVE
Attributes Notable Achievements in Warfare for Rights of People to Work Done During Last Few Years.

NEW ROCHELLE, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Gifford Pinchot, president of the National Conservation Association, whom President Taft removed from the office of chief forester of the United States today before the People's Forum of New Rochelle delivered what he entitled "A Report of Progress."

In the course of his remarks he summarized the achievements in the conservation of natural resources, which he attributed to the "progressive movement," paid tribute to the Roosevelt administration, crediting it with enormous influence in awakening the people to their rights and opportunities, and said the Payne-Aldrich tariff was the most powerful single factor in breeding popular distrust of the old line politicians and their methods.

To that more than all else, he said, was responsible for making the "last two years" "the most formative since the civil war."

In his summary of achievement, Mr. Pinchot placed first, "the great doctrine of the conservation of natural resources," which he said, "has been adopted by the people of the United States once for all as the rule for their judgment and action."

"We have checked the Guggenheims in their efforts to absorb Alaska and have opened the way for the use of the vast resources in that territory mainly for the benefit of the people of Alaska and the United States." In that connection, the speaker lauded the services of that "soldier of the common good, young Elbert D. Clark, who has shown that we shall yet save the coal and all the rest."

How to Water Monopoly.
"Within the last two years," Mr. Pinchot continued, "an effort of the water power monopolies to turn the water powers of the nation over to the control of the states, whence they might more easily pass into the hands of the men who always know exactly what they want, was born, flourished and has disappeared."

"Its death blow was an announcement from the White House that a new federal water power policy had been adopted by the administration. The position thus taken by the president along the lines already laid down by Gifford and Roosevelt, deserves, and I doubt not, will receive the approval of the people."

Thomas Reply is Not Final

Postmaster's Denial Fails to Convince Office Employees.

SEAL OF FEAR ON THEIR LIPS
Healists in Openly Express Views in the Matter for Fear They May Come Under Official's Displeasure.

Postmaster Thomas' flat denial of the charge that he had been shaking down postoffice employees for political contributions, and his explanation that his secretary transfer of Letter Carrier Tillison from the route he had served so satisfactorily for years to a cornfield district on the outskirts of the city, are not taken to be the real final word in the matter by the postoffice carriers and clerks.

All postoffice employees with few exceptions are intensely interested in the development of the charges that have been preferred against the postmaster, but they are also afraid to open their mouths to say a word unless with the strictest injunction that the source of information will be kept confidential, pointing, as they say to the fact that he has befallen Tillison as warning of what would happen if the postmaster should for any reason get it in for them.

Speaking with the assurance that his name would not be used, one of the best known carriers said: "It is notorious among all of us that Postmaster Thomas got his appointment for himself purely by political means, and he has been preferred against the postmaster, but they are also afraid to open their mouths to say a word unless with the strictest injunction that the source of information will be kept confidential, pointing, as they say to the fact that he has befallen Tillison as warning of what would happen if the postmaster should for any reason get it in for them."

Some Broken Promises.
"He started to play favorites at the outset and got into trouble by promising the same place or promotion to more than one person at the same time. I had a dollar for every broken promise the postmaster has made to clerks and carriers. I been content with only falling to keep his word as to promotions Postmaster Thomas might have skidded along on this ice, but when he undertook to wreak vengeance on a man like Dan Tillison because Tillison insisted on his own rights and refused to be a bidding in politics and to make Tillison an

Cornell Boys Have Mumps

Disease Spreading so Rapidly at University that Infirmary is Overlooked.

IITHACA, N. Y., Feb. 19.—Cornell students ill with the mumps have so overtaken the infirmary that the university will advertise for accommodations for the cases. Thirty-five are now seriously ill and the epidemic is still spreading.

"I have received a private telegram similar to the press dispatches from Idaho," he said, "but take no stock in that else. We have received dozens of such telegrams since Dorothy disappeared."

Mr. Arnold admitted today that he had a conference yesterday with District Attorney Whitman, but declined to discuss the report that they had any possible clue his daughter had met death by criminal means. The police made no further move today in the investigation.

Artists' Models Demand Same Rates for All Classes of Posing

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 19.—The latest class to cry out against the high cost of living is the artists' models of this city, men and women who have united in a demand upon the Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts for a uniform rate of pay for posing or they will organize a union to enforce their demands. They want a uniform scale of 30 cents an hour, with or without drapery.

A letter outlining the demands of the models, nearly all of whom are women, was sent to John E. D. Traak, secretary of the academy, this week. A reply was promptly sent. It says:

AUTO SHOW WILL BE OPEN TONIGHT

Sixth Annual Display of Motor Cars is Ready for Inspection of the Public.

KINGDOM OF FAIRY LIGHTS
Unique Decorative Scheme is Made Effective.

LAID IN SPEED WAY FORM
Vehicles Arranged in Great Eclipse on the Floor.

HEAVY TRUCKS IN BASEMENT
Machines for Commercial Use Given Department Review—Gates Open at 7:30 O'Clock—Work-ers Busy.

But a few more finishing touches and Omaha's sixth annual automobile show stands ready for the opening of the Auditorium doors and the admittance of the public to the exhibition. This afternoon will see the show in readiness for the grand opening at 7:30 o'clock Monday evening.

A fairland of color and light embraces cars to be shown. The color scheme is in green and white illumined by a complicated system of electric lighting.

A long promenade the shape of an auto speedway extends around the whole of the main floor of the building. On the right and left will be the exhibits of the present cars and running from the west entrance door straight down the center of the display is a wide promenade with two rows of cars on either side. On the stage will be the exhibits of six accessory forms. This display takes the main floor.

The basement is given up to commercial vehicle exhibits, here instead of the usual upholstered pleasure cars and motor shuttles brass finishes, will be the plain utility machines. There will be the heavy trucks, carrying two and three ton loads and the lighter delivery cars built for quick service in merchants' city traffic.

Heavy Sunday.
All day Saturday the mechanics were busy at it at the Auditorium and it was found necessary to take a part of the Sunday to complete the arrangements for the show. Each of the individual dealers has entered into a friendly rivalry that comes up each year—which booth will be the most attractive? Pennants, rugs and other decorative features are to be found in different parts of the show.

The usual contest is on to see which dealer can sell the first car soon as the Omaha Automobile show. Several of the local men assert that they are already entitled to the honor because the show is the first of the year.

There will be more than 136 different styles of automobiles shown this year. There will be more than sixty special representatives from the factories represented to demonstrate these machines to the visitors.

Orchestra programs will be given each afternoon and evening and it is probable that some special features will be put on during the latter part of the week.
