

Hemorrhage Awakens Messenger Boy
in Midst of Flames.

FREIGHT DEPOT IS DESTROYED

Rock Island Structure in Council
Bluffs Which Escaped Destruction
by Dynamite Burns
Down.

Nosebleed saved the life of James Hicks, messenger boy employed by the Rock Island, when he was awakened in the midst of a fire which destroyed the freight depot in Council Bluffs at 1 o'clock Thursday morning.

Hicks, a clerk, known only as "Pug," was asleep in the freight depot when the fire broke out. The messenger boy was awakened by the nosebleed, when he discovered the flames invading even the room in which he was sleeping.

The freight depot and sixteen freight cars belonging to the Rock Island are a total loss. The loss on the building is estimated at $250,000.

The burned building was one of the most historic in Council Bluffs. It has occupied three sites in the last fifty years. In 1882, when a car of dynamite was exploded in the yards at Council Bluffs, wrecking buildings and glass for miles around, the depot was thrown into a snarl of wreckage. It was rebuilt out of the same material and moved to another site, that on which it burned.

The fire department prevented the explosion of a gasoline tank in the freight office. There will be no survivors. The cause of the fire has not been ascertained. The Rock Island officials announce that all freight handling through Omaha Wednesday was delayed in traffic.

University Club is Seeking for a Home

New Organization Expects to Be Housed in Downtown District in Short Time.

The University club will be installed in downtown quarters soon. Just where these quarters will be has not yet been decided. A site committee is at work. At the Tuesday meeting, a constitution and by-laws were adopted.

The club will start with 300 charter members. A few associates, members will be taken into the organization. Nonresident members also will be admitted at reduced fees. It is desired to make the club a strong force in the state. It will be largely a social organization, but will go in for athletics, and when prominent men visit the city will entertain them in befitting style. It will be headquarters for college men and strive to foster college spirit.

R. C. Peters, president of the Peters Trust company, returned this week from a several days' visit in Chicago, where he looked thoroughly into university club matters there. He is president of the new club.

PUBLIC INTERESTED IN EXHIBIT OF PICTURES

Flattering Attendance at the Art Display at the Public Library—
Closes Sunday.

By studying and commenting on the pictures the public is expressing its appreciation of the Art Loan exhibit of the Omaha Society of Fine Arts. Each afternoon and evening the attendance has been especially gratifying to those in charge. The supply of pictures has been exhausted and another supply ordered.

Special invitations have been issued for some of the days, but this does not mean that the exhibit is on these days closed to the public. Each afternoon and evening is open day. The hours of the exhibit, however, have been changed and are now from 2 to 5 o'clock in the afternoon, and from 7 to 10 o'clock in the evening. For the benefit of the students from the high school, the exhibit will be open Saturday morning. Saturday afternoon the teachers are, especially invited to visit the exhibit. For Sunday the same hours will be observed and the exhibit will close with the evening. The work of removing the paintings will be begun Monday.

The president of the society, Mrs. C. Lowrie Childs, expressed herself as greatly pleased with the interest shown in the exhibit.

Mrs. Arthur Crittenden Smith, who is in general charge of the exhibit, is related each day by some member of the society, who names her committee of assistants. Mrs. Osgood Eastman was chairman of the committee for Thursday.

IMPROVEMENT CLUB HOLDS
MOST ROUSING MEETING

Southeastern Improvers Make a Move to Better the Condition in That Section.

The organization of the South East Improvement club was completed Wednesday evening when in addition to James P. Connolly, president, and J. R. Brandt, secretary, the following officers were elected: P. F. Naughtin, treasurer; E. W. Clausen, first vice-president; and H. O. Behnke, second vice-president. Executive Committee: P. A. Waldeman, J. P. Ford, James P. Connolly, J. R. Brandt and P. H. Naughtin. Committee on Publicity: O. H. Seal, J. R. Brandt and H. O. Behnke.

Councilman Berka spoke of needed improvements in the district and several others made suggestions for the improvement and beautifying of the city. The condition of the Hancock school also came in for discussion and it was the sense of the meeting that a new school should be built and that it should be called the Isaac Hascall school because in 1899 Mr. Hascall built the first school house in the south side of Omaha on his own property and boarded the teacher at his own home. The club will meet each Wednesday evening.

FEDERAL COURT CRIMINAL
DOCKET HAS CLEAN SLATE

For First Time in History of District
All Cases Are Completed—Up to Grand Jury.

For the first time since the establishment of a federal court in Omaha the criminal docket is wiped clean, and it remains for the April grand jury to say whether there will be any cases of such a nature to be tried at the coming term. Judging from the unusually large number of subpoenas being served out of the United States Marshal Warner's office, the jury is going to have plenty to do, and it is believed that some interesting cases will be investigated. At 4:45 present time, though, there are

A Talk to the Ladies
We've talked to the men along this same line and their response shows appreciation of our reminder. It's really spring. Spring means warmth—need of lighter weight clothes. Many of you, no doubt, have dresses, skirts, jackets, wraps, etc., you'd like to wear from now on. They need renovating—perhaps dry cleaning and pressing; perhaps slight alterations, relining and repairs.
