

GREAT WEST FAVORS OMAHA

Settlement for Gate City is Strong Among the Really Big Men.

OUTCOME OF OMAHA LAND SHOW

States that Made Exhibits Feel the Efforts and Business Men See Talking of Closer Trade Relations.

"That the western states which joined in the Omaha Land show got more business and are still getting than from any similar exhibition or fair they have ever attended and that the efforts of Omaha to develop the west are making friends for the market in greater numbers than any other influence, was the statement of W. H. Campbell of the publisher of the States, who returned from the Fair City Friday."

"W. W. Armstrong of the National Copper bank of Salt Lake City told us at dinner where a dozen big Utah and Idaho business men and bankers were in attendance," said Mr. Campbell, "that all Omaha had to do was to send more traveling men into those states and ask for the business. 'It's waiting for you,' said Mr. Armstrong. 'Omaha has been showing the proper spirit and we are with you to help you get all the trade which Salt Lake City cannot get—we are with you to help get all the trade which is going further east—did it your work in making the contact for the business year they can double their business in our state.'"

"Mr. Armstrong's statement was seconded by Secretary Chase of the Salt Lake City Commercial club, who is familiar with commercial conditions in the state."

Core Goes to Front to Be Bee's War Correspondent

GUY C. CORE

Guy C. Core, member of the staff of The Omaha Bee, is off to the war. As staff correspondent of The Bee, Mr. Core will cover the Mexican hostilities. He departs Saturday evening for El Paso, and, if possible, will make his way across the border to the scene of activities.

At 21 years of age, but with in the way of experience, Mr. Core will be perhaps the youngest of the army of war correspondents on the Mexican border.

Mr. Core began his newspaper career in Des Moines as a police reporter. He has worked on the leading papers of this section of the country. He has been connected with papers at Des Moines, Sioux City and West Plains, Mo. He joined The Bee's staff two months ago.

Newsroom service has found a firm in various capacities, usually in the handling of crime and police news on general assignment.

He was born in Illinois and gained his education in the state universities of Illinois and Iowa.

As soon as conditions will permit, Mr. Core proposes a tour of the interior Mexican provinces, armed with typewriter and camera.

FROM THE FACTORY TO YOUR HOME

An unparalleled chance to place within your home a piano of exceptional merit at about 40 per cent of its actual worth January 1st, we had shipped to us 20 sample pianos from factories, which we did not regret. They hoped that by placing the pianos with us, we would recognize the merits of the instruments, and add their line of pianos to those we already carried.

As we are now carrying 24 of the leading makes of the world, we have no room on our floors for any other lines, and we were compelled to notify the factories that we could not use them, and asked where we were to ship them to. In reply we were told if we could sell the pianos at cost, that we would do them a favor.

SATURDAY MORNING WE ARE GOING TO DO THIS

Sell 20 pianos made up expressly as samples. Workmanship, materials and designs are as good as the best, and Saturday morning, if you are fortunate enough to take advantage of one of these offerings, you will secure a fine piano of high grade standard make at an extraordinary, exceptional and unparalleled bargain price.

PROTEST IS ON THE WAY

Forty-Seven Riverview Improvers Have a Grievance.

DON'T LIKE NEW SCHOOL NAME

Partisans to March from Chadak Saloon to the City Hall to Tell the School Board Where It Is At.

Because the school board named a new school "The Edward Rosewater school" without first asking consent of the Riverview Improvement club, forty-seven men, some of whom are members of the club met Thursday night at Frank Casey's post hall 128 Garfield avenue, to start a campaign to change the name of the old school, known as the Forest school.

A. F. Hansen, a letter carrier, living at 211 South Thirtieth street, secretary of the improvement club, called the meeting at the instigation of Julius G. Gaebel, a carpenter, living at 128 Van Cady street, president of the club. Gaebel was not present. His wife said she had gone to the office.

"When Gaebel read that the board was going to discontinue the name of the Forest school," Letter Carrier Hansen said, "he called me up and told me to write a letter of protest and to mail it right away. I wrote the following letter:

"To the honorable board of Education, City of Omaha: I have been distressed by the Riverview Improvement club to protest against changing the name of Forest school to any other name until the people shall have a chance to express themselves on same. Respectfully, A. F. HANSEN, secretary Riverview Improvement Club."

"I mailed the letter," Hansen said, "and Monday night called on Dr. Hildebrand, telling him of it. He said, 'All right, there's time enough.' Then the board went ahead that very night and today (Thursday) sent a man out here to check off the name 'Forest School.' I never saw such quick action."

John Chadak, who operates a saloon at 216 South Thirtieth street, declared the people in that vicinity were up in arms about the change. "We like that old name Forest school and want it to stick. It has held that name out here in Park Forest building for twenty-five years and we are against giving it up."

Chadak seemed to have had a few drinks, as did some of the others who did the talking.

J. P. Jackson, 331 Frederick street, as chairman, appointed the following committee to disseminate petitions of protest: Fritz Hansen, barometer, Twelfth and Douglas, living at 124 Atlas street; C. C. Larson, painter and paper hanger, 212 South Fifteenth street; Fritz Hansen, carpenter, 612 South Ninth street; and John Almoester, tinner at the Union Pacific shops, 124 Denison street. The petition reads:

"We, the undersigned citizens, living in the vicinity of the Forest school, do protest

City Must Protect Its Own Water Front

City Engineer Says There is No Hope of Aid from the Government.

"If Omaha wants the Missouri river banks stepped near the city it looks as if it will have to do it on its own hook," said City Engineer Craig Friday morning.

"Through the major corps of engineers of the United States has asked us to furnish money why the government should bear a part of the expense. I do not believe that we would get further consideration."

"I don't very much if the plan will be pushed at this time. The letters received by the members of the council and city officials from Major Edward Schmitz, chief of the corps, show where the government stands in the matter of expenditure."

"Schmitz says he does not deem it advisable for the government to stand even a half of the expense. The contemplated improvement is estimated in the neighborhood of $1,000,000. I can't see where such an amount of money is coming from, so it looks as if the river will be permitted to continue its unruly course."

"A situation, however, will face the people of Omaha before long, and they will have to make some provision for protection of the banks. The tendency now is for the river to cut away from the water works. Some bright day citizens of Omaha are liable to awake to the fact that they have a water works plant for which they paid about $200,000 a long distance from the river."

RAYMOND HITCHCOCK BUYS EGGS FROM BRANDEIS FARM

Canadian Visits the Farm and Places an Unusual Order with the Owners.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hitchcock, after visiting the Brandeis farm seven miles from Omaha, and after going over the entire farm most thoroughly, inspecting the 5,000 laying White Leghorns here on the place, placed one of the most unique orders ever given for one egg from every one of the hens on the farm, making an order of 5,000 eggs, which is the largest single order Mr. Brandeis has received up to the present time. These eggs are to be shipped to Mr. Hitchcock's country home to be used for hatching.

Not only were they pleased with the chickens, but Mr. Hitchcock requested a detailed plan of the poultry farm, as he wishes to reproduce it at his country home consisting of 70 acres at Pufferman, Putnam county, N. Y., which is just fifty miles from New York City.

WATER BOARD INCLUDED IN THE COMMISSION BILL

Members Much Excited Over the Report emanating from Lincoln.

Members of the Water board are much excited over a report from Lincoln that the senate committee to which the Ad club commission bill had been referred, has agreed to an amendment, making the Water board subject to the provisions of the bill.

A delegation from the board, composed of R. B. Howell, D. J. O'Brien, Charles T. Sherman and F. J. Heider, were callers at the city hall Friday morning, seeking information on the subject. The members were cheered with Mayor Dahlman for more than an hour. Dahlman told them he knew nothing about the amendment, although he had just returned from Lincoln.

City Engineer Craig was also interviewed by the delegation, through Howell, but the city engineer could offer no enlightenment.

According to city officials, who believe that if the Ad club bill is passed, it should include the Water board, this body thought it had things all sewed up when it got an amendment approved by the house committee eliminating it from the provisions. The rumor that the senate committee had included the board came like a thunder-bolt from a clear sky.

"The bill, as amended, will surely pass the senate," said Mayor Dahlman. "But there is a chance that it will be beaten in the house. The house may split on the amendment eliminating the Water board."

BUTCHERS RACE FOR LAMBS

Heavy Chase to South Omaha to Get Cheapest Slaughtered Fat on the Market.

Butchers of Omaha had a merry chase to South Omaha Friday when a heavy call was sent out that a car load of lambs was for sale cheap. This car was one of so-called dressed lambs for the Boston trade. Through some mistake in trafficking, the car did not get away in time and was refused, being landed back on the hands of the railroad company. The company was forced to sell. Martin Soren of Hayden street, market, secured an automobile and was first on the job. He secured the entire car load, all highly dressed lambs which he will try to sell in one day.
