BELL TELEPHONE SERVICE

What It Means. The Blue Bell Emblem, the seal of the Bell Telephone System, stands for one of the greatest business instrumentalities in the country—a comprehensive association of affiliated companies co-operating to give universal communication over ten million miles of wire and by means of five million telephones.

NATION WIDE COMMUNICATION

The Bell Telephone System has increased the ability of the American business man one hundred per cent in the last decade, by bringing all of the world's greatest markets into instant calling distance.

A NEW PHONE EVERY MINUTE

As late as 1890, there were only 200,000 Bell telephones in this country; ten years later there were but 600,000, while today there are more than five million in use, or one to every twenty persons in the United States.

Hat Display

We are making a display of hats this week in our 15th street windows which is the largest display of men's, boys' and children's hats ever shown in Omaha. In this display, we are devoting two windows to showing the different stages of process that the hat goes through from the time the fur leaves the hide of the animal until it reaches you in the finished hat.

Our hat department is not merely a department, but is a completely equipped hat store. We have a shape and a style for every face in a complete range of proportions, and the range of prices is equally comprehensive.
