does not delegate to the county supervisors ners the power to regulate in any way the playing or prohibiting the play ing of base ball on Sunday. As the chief executive of this state it is incumbent upon me in recognize the rights and wishes of all communities in this state, and I have therefore presented to me a measure which legalise something which many of our mmunities are absolutely opposed to and which the majority thereof would have nothing to may but would have to submit to Sunday base ball whether a purt or all of the community want it or not. This is manifestly unjust and unfair and I cannot bring myself to sign a measure of this kind that prohibits those communities that may be opposed to Sunday base ball from obtaining any relief and because of those objections and reasons which I have pointed out, I veto this measure, towit:

Fourth Measure to Veto.

The Sunday base ball bill. S. P. 36, is the fourth measure which Governor Aldrich the Taylor-Dolesal stock yards bill, the raise in pay for Bouglas county deputy attorneys and Tanner's bill changing the terms of school board members in South Omaha. It has been usual heretofore to have about 100 bills in the hands of the governor by this stage of the session This session only fifty-four have been passed by both houses and sent down. Porty-nine have been signed and one, the Omaha charter, is still to be considered. Of the bills signed thirty-three were from the house and sixtgen from the senate. Real Estate License.

Balley's real estate dealers' license bill. was saved by the author in the afternoon and passed, 57 to 28. The bill met with determined opposition because it keeps persons from selling any real estate except their own without being a registered broker. The license fee if $5, and the organized real estate brokers assert that any man should be able to pay that much. University removal was defeated on third reading in the house this afternoon by a vote of 41 to 52. The action was not altogether unexpected although last week on a test vote removal was approved. GAME TO INTEREST EVERYBODY No Restrictions on Contestants in

Way of Money or Subscriptions, and All People Will Have Equal Chance.

You have heard about it by this time ome of your friends have told you of it It is going to start tomorrow morning in The Bee. Everybody is talking about The Bee's Booklovers' contest and everybody is interested in it. Prises-more than $3,600 worth-are going to be given away free to the enterprising people who simply name the titles to books that will be represented in pictures which will appear

The wonderfully interesting game starts tomorrow, too, and all will be looking for the first picture. With this Illustration will be published complete rules governing the contest. If you do not understand what the great game is now, read The Bee tomorrow morning.

The best feature of this Booklovers' competition is that it is a game which all can play-and it costs not a cent. No subscriptions, no money-and, indeed, nothing but industry and common intelligence are equired to make you eligible for this exciting and entertaining contest.

For seventy-five days, beginning tomorrow, it will run. During that time seventyfive pictures, representing titles of books. will appear in The Bee. One will be published each day. Beneath each picture will appear a coupon with blank spaces for filling in with the title of book, name of author and name and address of con-

Coupons Must Be Together. All coupons and all pictures must be kept together and not malled to the contest editor until all illustrations have appeared in The Bee. Coupons will not be accepted before the contest closes.

If you do not feel sure of one answer to a picture you may add four, making in all five, answers to each picture. No more than five answers, however, will be ically remarked that the preponderance of accepted. Incorrect answers will not count against contestants if the correct answer is given.

Each picture represents only one title to a book. The title of each picture will be deposited in a local bank, with a copy that while the delegation might be divided of the picture, before illustration appears subjects, they were a unit in favor of in The Bee.
