

Pa's Colts Get Another Fling at White Sox; Rain Prevents the Detroit Game

WHITE SOX COME BACK TODAY

Fans Anxious to See if the Bourkes Can Do It Again.

RAIN PREVENTS DETROIT GAME

Pa's Colts to Be Put at Batting Practice as Soon as Weather Conditions Permit Work on Field.

The game scheduled for Tuesday afternoon with the Tigers was again called off on account of rain. Perhaps the Jennings' crew will leave the city in better spirits than they arrived with. It is not only humiliating to a major league team to be trimmed by a minor, but it is also shameful. Who knows but what the Colts would have duplicated Lincoln's stunt.

The fans are anxious to see if the Bourkes can repeat on the splendid performance they put up Sunday in the game with the Chicago White Sox No. 11, when the team returns for another game Wednesday afternoon. Nothing but the splendid performance shown by Scott saved the day for the Chicago Yankins, as he was pitching just as good as he will later in the season.

Rain has kept the teams from playing since Sunday, but each is eager for the fray. Pa wants to continue his splendid record of the exhibition games and the team is just as anxious to back him up.

Tuesday the Bourkes spent the morning in raising the level of home plate at the new park. Captain Schlipke and his assistants wheeled many a barrel full of dirt and work is continuing at a rapid pace. The new park is not anywhere near as good for the pitchers as throwing the sphere, and this was the afternoon practice, carried out under Pa's big new grandstand.

The Omaha squad is behind in batting practice and as soon as the weather improves up enough to allow the players to be seen, they will be put in the field.

The game will be called at 2:30 today with the following lineup:

Kansas City Gets Big Balloon Race

Omaha is Strong Contender for Honor and Claims of St. Louis Also Are Considered.

NEW YORK, April 4.—Kansas City was today selected by the National Council of the Aero Club of America as the city from which the international balloon race of this season will be started. Omaha was a strong contender for the honor and the claims of San Francisco and St. Louis were also considered.

The competition between Kansas City and Omaha was especially strong. The special committee which had examined the advantages of the various cities expressed the view that those offered by Kansas City and Omaha were almost equal. The committee, however, decided in favor of Kansas City as the grounds there were larger and more accessible and that a supply of gas was nearer at hand. The executive committee of the council, which took final action today confirmed that decision. No date has been set for the meeting, which probably will take place some time in October.

McFARLAND OUTPOINTS KOHLER

Chicago Fighter Gets Best of Cleveland Man on Points.

CANTON, O., April 4.—Peggy McFarland failed to stop Paul Kohler of Cleveland in their ten-round bout here tonight, but the Chicago fighter earned a decision on points, though none was given.

McFarland had the upper hand in nearly every round. The Cleveland put up a game fight to the end, but had little show against McFarland. He was satisfied, however, with his showing, for after the first round he realized that the stock yards fighter had him outclassed.

Kohler surprised McFarland several times by landing clean blows to the face when the Chicago man thought he had Kohler at his mercy.

strip of seats on the republican side. Post of these are committee chairmen while four others are members of the all powerful committee on ways and means and committee on commerce.

When the republicans found it necessary to invade the democratic side their section was known as the "Cherokee strip." Representative Burleson of Texas today christened the democratic section on the republican side the "Panhandle."

The minority leaders, Cannon, Illinois; Payne, New York, and Daisell, Pennsylvania are seated in a group, with Floor Leader Mann has a short distance away.

Representative Murdock of Kansas, said that he had chosen a seat under removed from Mr. Daisell and just back of Mr. Payne, much to the amusement of the house members.

Delay Has No Terrors for Senate.

The threat of the democrats to hold back the reciprocity agreement in the hope of forcing the senate to act on tariff bills, holds no terror for the senate, as many senators opposed to reciprocity have stated that they do not care how long the agreement is held up in the house.

The scenes in the house were filled with unusual interest. The house galleries, as usual those of the senate, were crowded to overflowing early in the day.

Alexander McDowell, for sixteen years clerk of the house, and about to retire in favor of Former Representative South Trimble of Kentucky, called the body to order and made a valedictory speech in which he thanked the members of past congresses for favors and thanked the members of the new congress "for what they were about to do him."

Bryan and Harmon Present.

William Jennings Bryan and Governor Judson Harmon of Ohio were interested spectators of the organization of the house and were greeted with cheers as they appeared on the floor.

Former Speaker Cannon's appearance was not audibly noticed, but when his name was called as a member of the Illinois delegation there was a round of applause.

After Clerk McDowell had called the house to order, Charles C. Johnson, of Indiana, called the roll of the states to ascertain the presence of a quorum. Mr. Clark all the while was waiting in his office to be notified that he had been chosen to preside over the house for the next two years. The roll call disclosed the presence of 85 members out of a total membership of 301.

Nominations for speaker then were in order. Mr. Clark was nominated by Representative Burleson of Texas, chairman of the democratic caucus. Mr. Mann was nominated by Representative Currier of New Hampshire, chairman of the republican caucus. The insurgents did not go through the formality of nominating their candidate, Mr. Cooper. Neither Mr. Clark nor Mr. Mann voted. Mr. Cooper voted for Norris of Nebraska.

Insurgents Vote for Cooper. The insurgents who voted for Mr. Cooper in addition to Alkin of New York were Anderson of Minnesota, Davidson of Wisconsin, Davis of Minnesota, French of Idaho, Kopp of Wisconsin, La Follette of Washington, Lafayette of Oregon, Jackson of Kansas, Kent of California, Lenroot of Wisconsin, Nelson of Wisconsin, Warburton of Washington.

When Clerk McDowell announced the vote by which Mr. Clark was elected the house broke into cheers. When Mr. Clark appeared at the main door on the arm of Mr. Mann there was renewed cheering.

Mr. Mann rapped for order. "It is a great office," he said slowly, "and filled by a great man. Gentlemen, I present to you your speaker, the Hon. Champ Clark of Missouri."

Mr. Clark himself rapped for order, this time to stop the applause, and then launched into his speech. He frequently was interrupted by applause.

Mrs. Taft, wife of the president, with Miss Helen Taft, Master Charles Taft and Horace D. Taft, brother of the president, occupied the presidential gallery in the house.

Speech of Speaker Clark.

Speaker Clark said in part: "My democratic brethren, coupled with the joy of once more seeing a house, a large majority of which is of my own political faith, is a keen sense of our responsibility to our country and our kind. It is an adage worthy of acceptance that where much is given, much is required."

"After sixteen years of exclusion from power in the house and fourteen years of exclusion from power in every department of government we are restored to power in the house of representatives and in that alone. We are this day put upon trial. The duty devolves upon us to demonstrate not so much by fine phrases as by doing works that are worthy of the confidence imposed in us by the voters of the land and that we are worthy of their wider confidence. We could not if we would and we would not if we could, escape this severe test. We will not shirk our duty. We shrink not from the responsibility."

emergency in which we find ourselves placed through our own efforts and through our own desires, there can be no doubt and the way to accomplish that is to fulfill with courage, intelligence and patriotism the promises made before the election in order to win the election. By discharging our duty thoroughly and well, subordinating personal desires to principle and personal ambition to an exalted love of country, we will prove ourselves the endorsement of the people, but what is far better—we will deserve their endorsement.

Campaign Contributions.

"The publication of campaign contributions and disbursements before the election. The bill to accomplish that desired reform has been prepared and introduced. It will be speedily passed by the house. The average citizen, whatever his politics, is absolutely honest. He demands honesty and cleanliness in politics. He believes that too much money is spent in election matters and he proposes to put an end to it."

Party Reminded of Promises.

"Chief among these promises were: '1.—An honest and intelligent revision of the tariff downward in order to give every American citizen an equal chance in the race of life and to hamper none unduly by special favor or privilege. To reduce the cost of living by eradicating the enormities and cruelties of the present tariff bill and to raise the necessary revenue to support the government. Bills are already far advanced in preparation looking to the accomplishment of these beneficent ends."

"2.—The passage of a resolution submitting to the states for ratification a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States senators by the popular vote. This resolution has already been introduced and will soon be passed by the house. Let us hope that we will send it to the senate by a unanimous vote."

"3.—Such changes in the rules of the house as are necessary for the thorough and intelligent consideration of measures for the public good, several of which have already been accomplished. If other changes are deemed wise, they will be promptly made."

Selection of Committees.

"I congratulate the house and the country and particularly do I congratulate the members of the committee on ways and means upon the success of the important and far reaching experiment of selecting committees through the instrumentality of a committee, as experiment touching which dire predictions were made and concerning the operation of which grave doubts were entertained, even by some honest reformers."

"4. Economy in the public expense that labor might be lightly burdened. The literal fulfillment of that promise which nearly affects the comfort and happiness of millions we have begun—and we began at the proper place—by cutting down the running expenses of the house by more than $15,000 a year. Economy, like charity, should begin at home. There where we began. We cannot with straight face and clear consciences reform expenses elsewhere unless we reform them here at the fountain head. The democratic caucus deserves well of the country for taking this long and important step in the direction of economy in all things."

"The constitution gives the house the practical control of the purse strings of the country, and the house should insist, resolutely and firmly, upon exercising that control to the end that appropriation bills be reduced to the needs of the government, effectively and economically administered. It is our duty to provide every dollar needed for the proper and economical conduct of the government, but it is equally our duty to prevent waste and extravagance in public expenditures, for we should know that it is a difficult task for millions of families to live now in decency and comfort."

"Surely it is the part of wisdom, statesmanship, humanitarianism and patriotism to legislate so as to reduce their burdens to the minimum. The reorganization of the Holman rule will help along this matter. No good citizen desires to cripple the government in any legitimate function, but no good citizen desires that the people be loaded down with unnecessary taxes."

Officers Are Elected.

The election of officers of the house followed. The veteran republican officials were proposed by Representative Currier of New Hampshire, but were defeated with the exception of the blind chaplain. The officers chosen were:

Clerk, South Trimble of Kentucky; sergeant-at-arms, U. S. Jackson of Indiana; doorkeeper, J. J. Smet of Virginia; postmaster, William M. Dunbar of Georgia; chaplain, Rev. Henry N. Couden of Michigan.

At 1:35 a messenger appeared from the senate to announce the organization of that body and request a committee to notify the president that congress was ready for business. Speaker Clark appointed Representative Underwood, Taft and Mann to act on this notification committee. Resolutions followed fast:

Drawing for Seats.

To fix the hour of meeting at 12 o'clock; to provide for the drawing of seats and to arrange other routine affairs. Before the drawing of seats began Representative Burleson presented a resolution giving to certain leaders of both parties the honor of selecting their own seats. These were former Speaker Cannon, James R. Mann, Bingham of Pennsylvania, Seneca E. Payne and John Daisell on the republican side and Oscar W. Underwood, William A. Jones, J. P. C. Taft, J. J. Fitzgerald and Isaac W. Sherwood on the democratic side.

Former Speaker Cannon took a seat across the aisle from Mr. Daisell and near Mr. Payne. Minority Leader Mann moved to a seat back of his former location, but kept close to the center aisle. Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee, who will be majority floor leader, chose a seat across the aisle from that formerly occupied by Champ Clark. Thomas J. Scully of New Jersey drew the first number and chose the most conspicuous democratic seat, that occupied at the last congress by Macon of Arkansas.

A Reliable Medicine—Not a Narcotic. Mrs. F. Marti, St. Joe, Mich., says: "Our little boy contracted a severe bronchial trouble and as the doctor's medicine did not cure him, I gave him Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in which I have great faith. It cured the cough, as well as the choking and gagging spells, and he got well in a short time. Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has many times saved us much trouble and we are never without it in the house. For sale by all druggists."
