Remember the Old Country Grocer and His Big Bags of Candy
That Always Were Given When Bills Were Paid
In those days the candy was given to show the grocer's appreciation for your trade, and a generous, whole-hearted way it was, too.
Today Green Trading Stamps have taken the place of the bag of candy. These days of increasing demands for necessities your stamps mean more than appreciation of trade. Competition has made it a "Profit sharing" plan, through which homes are furnished, wants are had, at no extra tax upon one's purse.
15,000 Omaha women are saving 25c Trading Stamps.
1,000,000 women in America are saving 25c Trading Stamps.
$1,000,000 of honest store profits are yearly divided among 25c stamp collectors.
Are you one of these "Profit Sharing" women—or do you cast aside your opportunities to replace worn-out pieces of furniture or to have things you've wanted—that you felt you couldn't afford.

IMPOSING CHURCH EVENT

Consecration of Portion of Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

CROWNS HEIGHTS OF NEW YORK

Largest Church Building in United States and Fourth in Size in the Entire World—The Completed Chapels.

Two chapels, the choir and crossing, representing eighteen years' labor and a little more than the main wing of the Protestant Episcopal Cathedral of St. John the Divine rise complete and imposing on the lofty MorningSide Heights of upper New York and will be consecrated next Wednesday.

The ceremony of consecration will be a religious event of the first magnitude. Every bishop of the denomination is expected to attend and invitations have been extended to distinguished churchmen, to President Taft, Governor Dix, Associate Justice Hughes and Mayor Casser. Bishop Crozer will preach the consecration sermon.

Majestic in location, size and cost, the cathedral, completed as planned, will rank first of the churches in the United States. The portion now complete represents an outlay of $3,000,000. The cost of the entire building has been estimated at $20,000,000 and over.

The cornerstone was laid on St. John the Evangelist's day, December 27, 1862, and the work has advanced since then as funds permitted, the entire amount expended up to the present time being $3,000,000. The first part of the cathedral to be finished was the crypt, in which for several years daily and Sunday services have been held. The striking feature of the crypt is the beautiful mosaic altar, containing more than 1,000,000 pieces of glass.

An imposing Chapel.

The choir and crossing now completed form a church of imposing dimensions, 240 feet long, 100 feet wide, with an interior height of 130 feet in the choir and 140 feet in the crossing. The most conspicuous features of the choir are the two north and south sections of handsome carved choir stalls of quartered oak, the magnificent white marble reredos and the great organ. These were provided for by a gift of $200,000 made by Mr. and Mrs. Levi P. Morton, a part of the $300,000 given by Mr. and Mrs. Morton to the cathedral building fund.

Among the interior decorations are the celebrated Barberini tapestries, made in Rome in 1433, and portraying important scenes in the life of Christ. They were the bequest of Mrs. William J. Coles and have been stored in the Metropolitan Museum of Art until needed. They are being hung behind the reredos and over the chapels.

The white reredos, made of the Pierre de Leno marble from France, is forty-five feet high by thirty-five feet wide. An unfinished mosaic panel, the subject not yet decided upon, is to be placed at the bottom. The three prominent sculptured figures are the Saviour in the center, Moses on the right and St. John on the left. The various apostles appear in the other niches, with angel statues on the sides.

Eight giant columns of granite surround the reredos. These tall pillars terminate at the capitals in carved flowers of stone and symbolic figures. One is almost too overgrown by these tremendous shafts that loom straight up nearly sixty feet from the base to the top of the capitals to think

TIMELY REAL ESTATE GOSSIP

Many Lots Being Bought by Persons Who Will Build Homes.

MANY COTTAGES BEING BUILT

During Summer Months Fine Class of Residences Will Go Up Both in Country and City.

Earlier predictions that the building season of 1911 would be marked by the erection of a larger number of homes than usual were given a pleasing dash of truth during the week. There has been more ordinary activity during the last few days in real estate. Some are buying for investment purposes, but most of the sales made have been of lots on which snug cottages and bungalows will be built. The individual seems to have more money than ever this year and he is not losing any time putting it into a small domestic habit he can call his own and save the rent he has been paying out for years.

While a number of more pretentious residences will be built during the year in the well-established districts, the general tendency at this time seems to run to suburban property. The man with a small amount to invest is beginning to see the realization of his dreams of an outskirts home, where there is plenty of fresh air and plenty of room to raise chickens and radishes.

Among the more pretentious country homes to be built is one for W. R. McKeen, president of the McKeen Motor Car company, and C. R. Tyler, director of the street railway company. Mr. McKeen has bought four acres from Ralph Kitchen at Fifty-fourth and Leavenworth and will build a $10,000 home. Six acres have been sold to Mr. Tyler at Fifty-seventh and Leavenworth and he likewise will build a fine home.

Scores of cottages are either in course of construction or will be started soon. Otto E. Kugler has paid $500 for half an acre on Forty-eighth street just north of Military avenue, intending to build a home. A lot of the same size and for the same purpose has been bought by Ed Weeks on North Forty-second street just north of Military road. He paid $500. Hastings A. Hayden reports that Nellie M. Shears has bought two half-acre lots in Florence, and she will build at once a Craftsman style bungalow for a home. These lots were purchased for $50. L. Turth has also bought two similar lots for the same price and purpose in Florence. In addition to these transfers there have been a number of others this week to persons who are buying for investment purposes.

A large number of the finer class of residences will be built during the summer, but none will be more handsome or complete than the home being erected for L. J. Nelson in the Field club district at Thirty-fifth and Woodworth avenue. The exterior, which is unusually attractive in design, will be of rough cast plaster. Every possible convenience is being installed by the builders, even to a vacuum cleaning plant, which will be operated by an electric motor in the basement. Among the twelve rooms will be an attractive billiard hall, 18x24. The architect has also provided a fine sleeping porch. The home, which will be ready for occupancy soon,

CITIZENS TO AID SCHOOL BOARD IN GETTING SITE

Residents Near Monmouth Park School to Try to Get Property Cheap.

Upon their promise to help secure additional ground contiguous to the Monmouth school site, residents in the neighborhood of the school were promised an annex on the west of the building by the building and grounds committees of the Board of Education Friday afternoon. The promise is made with the proviso that the school board is enabled to get the additional ground at a reasonable cost.

A delegation of citizens living in the Monmouth district, appeared before the committee yesterday afternoon and protested against the erection of a four-room annex on the north as planned. The protesters requested that the annex be built on the west and demanded that it be
