

CAPTAINS AND SPONSORS

REGIMENTAL OFFICERS AND SPONSORS

Various honors come to a girl through-out her high school course, but none of the positions a maiden in the Omaha High School can reach mean more to her than the being a sponsor. Sponsorship carries with it certain responsibilities, but the thought that she has been the chosen one by one of the officers in command outweighs by far any drawbacks the job may bring.

This year, always a brilliant spectacle, Captain Edwin Carson of Company B surprised all the regiment, for it had been rumored that he had refused to choose any young woman to represent Company B, and at the last moment he suddenly came out in company with Miss Lea Howard and presented her as the young woman of his choice.

Sponsors for the year 1911 are as follows: Lieutenant Colonel Voyte Rector, Miss Harriet Parmalee; Major Mas Parkinson First battalion, Miss Helen King; Lieutenant Adjutant John Loomis, Second battalion, Miss Marjorie Foote; Major Ned Alderson, Third battalion, Miss Margheretta Burke.

Company I, Captain Moon, Miss Dorothy Carlyle; Company G, Captain Lannon, Miss Nell Ryan; Company D, Captain Cahm, Miss Elizabeth Alderson; Company B, Captain Carson, Miss Lea Howard; Company E, Captain Howes, Miss Louise Bedwell; Company C, Captain Engleman, Miss Isabelle Jones; Band, Captain Waverin, Miss Lillian Parsons; Company A, Captain Lindberg, Miss Elizabeth Race; Company F, Captain Willrodt, Miss Alice Vanburgh; Company H, Captain Wade, Miss Alice West.

MUSCATINE SUFFERS BIG LOSS

Strike Has Cost Nearly Third of Million in Wages Alone.

BUTTON BARONS GROW WEALTHY

Muscantine is Button Center of World, with Ramifications Extending into Several States Along the Mississippi.

MUSCATINE, Ia., April 22.—Calculated on a per capita basis, with reference to the size of the town, Muscatine has suffered a greater financial loss through the strike of the button workers than any western city that ever went through the ordeal of a controversy between craftsman and employer. The loss in wages during the eight weeks of the strike has amounted to nearly $300,000.

tricts in New England and the mining regions of Pennsylvania. To the average person these figures are rather startling, but not so much so when the magnitude of the button industry in Muscatine is given full consideration. A compilation of statistics shows that a total of 3,575 hands are employed in the mechanical departments of the factories alone, when they are in full operation. This by no means represents the actual number of persons at work in the various branches of the craft, for it does not take into account the great army of women and girls employed at the lighter tasks of the business.

spent nearly $1,500,000 for shells during the twelvemonth. Shells are soaring in price all the time, and they never will be as low as they have been in the past, despite the efforts of the government to propogate the clam, at which many thousands of dollars have been spent at the experiment station at Fairport, a few miles above Muscatine.

Manufacturers Store Shells. In anticipation of the depletion of the clam beds along nearly the full length of the Mississippi and its tributaries, as well as in the smaller streams of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and other states, by reason of the vast amount of buttons out in Muscatine, the biological station was established at Fairport. Likewise the shrewd Muscatine manufacturers began more than a year ago to store away shells for emergencies that might arise, and it is estimated that there are now $5,000,000 worth of shells in the bulging warehouses along the river.

ther south. Nearly $2,000,000 are spent annually on blanks shipped in from the outside. The scope of the button industry in Muscatine is tremendous, encompassed only by the wealth it has produced for those who have gone into the business. There is a standing caution whispered to visitors who come here: "If you see anyone whistling by in a big, red automobile, don't ask who he is; he is a button manufacturer. In a dozen years the business has made nearly that many millionaires, and many others have become independently rich. There is an example of one man who a few years ago was a worthless fellow about town, cast off from society, who braced himself and concluded to be a man. He borrowed a few dollars, bought up a small amount of shells and sold them for a commission. Today he is reputed to be worth $50,000, all made by his shrewdness as a buyer.

MORE GRATEFUL WOMEN

Thank Pe-ru-na. Mrs. W. Pray, 260 12th St., Brooklyn, N. Y., writes: "I was afflicted for two years with catarrh of the throat. At first it was very slight, but every cold I took made it worse. I followed your directions, and in a very short time I began to improve. I took one bottle and am now taking my second. I can safely say that my throat and head are cleared from catarrh at the present time, but I still continue to take my usual dose for a spring tonic and I find there is nothing better. Words cannot express how thankful I feel for my cure, as I did not know the comfort of a good night's sleep till now. I was continually bothered with my breathing. I could scarcely breathe through my nose at all, but now I go to bed and sleep the whole night through without any trouble. I hope my letter will convince some one of the great good Pe-ru-na has done me."

A Rug Hint for Monday Morning

We invite you to come in Monday morning and see the splendid Oriental rug display on our second floor. It will be well worth your time and effort to make a trip down town just to see this magnificent collection of floor fabrics from the Old World.

We want to assure you that showing these rugs is a real pleasure. Being numbered among the largest dealers in Oriental rugs in the country, and the only importers of such rugs in Omaha, we are naturally proud of what we have and want discerning women and men to enjoy the rare assortment with us.

Please consider, then, that you have an engagement for Monday morning, at this store.
