SEND GINGER ELSEWHERE

Jamaicans Keep None for Home Use, Though an Occasional Dash is Needed.

Jamaica rum and Jamaica ginger are the two products most heard of in Jamaica. The people have neither of these in them. Nobody ever saw crowds with less ginger than these mild, almost sheepish folk, and as for rum, we rode more than 300 miles about the island in all directions and in several market days and in all that time never saw one obviously drunken person.

The good work of the year was further indicated in the treasurer's report, given by Mrs. E. R. Hume; the corresponding secretary's report, Mrs. George C. Bonner; the auditing committee, Mrs. F. R. Straight; the courtesies committee, Mrs. Edward Johnson; the house and home committee, Mrs. Marion Douglas; the dress committee, Mrs. G. W. Cherrington; the forestry committee, Mrs. William Berry.

Hancock, the art department; Mrs. Blanche Sorenson, the music department; Mrs. Mary Newton reported the work of the philosophy and ethics department; Mrs. W. E. Bingham, the social science department.

The luncheon, which is the real celebration of the seventeenth birthday of the Woman's club, is to be held late in May at one of the country clubs. The date is to be chosen to meet the convenience of the special guests, Mrs. T. J. Gist of Fall City, the president of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs; Mrs. H. L. Keefe of Walthill, director of the General Federation; Mrs. H. P. Whitmore of Valley, vice president of the First district, and Miss Marguerite Walker, who is the club's representative at Omaha university.

A former vice president of the Woman's club, Mrs. Stevenson of Salt Lake City, was a guest at the meeting Monday and gave a short talk of appreciation of the value of this club's work. She also spoke as a "woman who lives in Utah," and said: "Since I have left Omaha and seen the impositions on women in many of the larger cities I have come to believe in woman's suffrage and I have become an ardent suffragist. I live in Utah, a state where women can vote. And I vote. I have cast a vote at several state elections and I have voted for the president of the United States."

Engineer Company Receives Its Flag; Guard Gets Praise

Ex-Senator Randall, on Behalf of Governor Aldrich, Gives Colors to New Organization.

The flag which was bought for the engineer company of the Nebraska National Guard was presented to the company at the ceremonial ball held in the Auditorium Monday night by Frank L. Haller, Governor Aldrich, who had been expected to make the presentation, could not attend, but sent ex-Senator C. A. Randall as his personal representative.

Senator Randall assured the three companies of militia which were drawn up before him in honor of the presentation that Governor Aldrich would make his staff appointments this year from among the men who are and have been actually engaged in National Guard work. He carried this message from the governor: "If any necessity should ever arise for the governor to call upon you to uphold the majesty of the law he would expect you to arise at the first call to arms and do your duty. He will do anything that he can for you during his administration and if he should ever need you he will feel confident that you will respond."

The speakers were introduced by Colonel T. W. McCullough who endorsed the intention of the governor to name National Guard men as his colonels and told of his own life-long interest in the work of the guard. Mayor James C. Dahlman, Adjutant General Phelps and Rev. D. E. Jenkins of the University of Omaha spoke briefly. Dr. Jenkins referred to the help which the institution of which he is the head intends to give this company of engineers, which is the first to be formed in Nebraska, and which needs the support of extra educational advantages to be efficient.

Chaplain Hison of the Nebraska regiment made the closing remarks, admonishing the men to keep well the flag they had been given. The floor was cleared and George Green's band, which had been giving musical numbers upon the program, played for dancing.

$2,000 FOR CHARITY

THE LAST CALL

The Ladies' Home Journal and the Saturday Evening Post

For 97 more subscriptions to the Post or Journal, $1.50 each, whether new or renewals, to reach Philadelphia by April 30th, the publishers will deposit $2,000 in the Conservative Savings and Loan Association for the benefit of some charity to be decided by the vote of my subscribers.

I do not handle the money, nor will I ever see it, but the interest will bring me a regular income of $10 a month for life.

It is ten years since my accident. Few paralytics live longer than that and I may be stricken at any time, but with the assurance of fuel and light I can live.

97 SUBSCRIPTIONS

Must Reach Philadelphia By April 30th Or the $2,000 Prize Is Lost

Your Renewal Counts. Won't You Help? Only Two Days To Get Them In

Friend, if a man were drowning you would stretch forth your hand to save him; certainly you would. Whether you would provide him with dry clothing or cuss him for the trouble is another matter. Now there are a thousand subscriptions to the Post or Journal in this district which will expire within the next two months. A thousand copies of the Post are purchased weekly in Omaha alone by people who could save $1.10 a year; now in all earnestness I ask—won't you place your order or renewal now to save this $2,000, merely to allow me the interest?

From October 1st to Feb. 28th I have written 500 subscriptions each month for five months—no other private agent on the staff of 45,000 agents has ever accomplished that. But it was necessary to literally sacrifice half my working capital to get the required number in March, and I find it will be impossible to get 500 in May.

Now I'll Tell You What I'll Do

If the public will insure the 97 subscriptions required by April 28th to earn the $1,750 I will add my $100 season's prize, also my five cent rebate to make up the full $2,000.

As a matter of necessity I can afford to sacrifice everything I possess to accomplish this, for no invalid could succeed by magazine soliciting, but if $2,000 is earned this season the full $5,000 will follow next year and the interest will insure me a regular income of $200 a year for life.

By all means get in your order or renewal now to reach me by noon, April 28th. Make your order payable to the Curtis Publishing Co., if you wish. If time will not permit, then mail your order direct to the Publishers, but be sure to say credit this order to Agent John Gordon, 2423 So. 24th St., Omaha, Neb. Phone Douglas 7163, and remember I want your entire order, any publication whatever. Better mail your order direct to me—But DO IT NOW.
