Whereas, Brother J. J. McNamara, personally known to the majority of the members of local No. 21 to be a gentleman of the highest integrity and one who believes in justice and equality, and,

Whereas, He was taken and railroaded out of his own state without due process of law, and,

Whereas, Knowing him as we do, through correspondence and as secretary of our association for several years, always commending his harmony and conducting our organization in the manner becoming union men, therefore be it resolved, that we, as a branch of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, in regular session assembled, condemn the methods used in taking Brother J. J. McNamara out of his home state, away from his family and friends, without granting to him the rights of a free and American citizen to protect himself from being railroaded to a city and held in an organized labor, and be it further

Resolved, that we, as union iron workers, pledge our support of one dollar per member monthly to help defend Brother J. J. McNamara of a crime too heinous to be recorded to him as a man, and be it further

Resolved, That we condemn the methods used by the State association in trying to get access to our union books and property in order to create evidence to convict our secretary, therefore be it

Resolved, That we, as an organization, call upon all organized labor throughout the country to render their financial and moral support to help down the enemy, the "trusts" and their allies, from forever tramping on and meddling with our rights as union men.

CITY ELECTRICIAN IS SUED

Star Says His Business Was Damaged by the Refusal to Grant Him a Permit.

As an aftermath of the fight made by C. H. Starr against Waldemar Michaelson, city electrician, to secure an electrician's permit, Starr filed suit against Michaelson Wednesday for $5,000 damages. He alleges that the city electrician made false statements concerning his incompetency, and that these remarks together with Michaelson's refusal to issue him a contractor's general permit, have greatly harmed his business.

Starr was without a permit from January 1 to March 19, when a writ of mandamus to compel the issuance of a license was granted him by Judge Kennedy.

This makes the third suit that has been started since the beginning of the trouble.

Jurors Find Mrs. Matussek Killed Children While Deranged.

FORM SEYMOUR LAKE CLUB

Business Men Meet and Decide to Utilize Site for New Organization—Knockels Takes Lament for Bitters.

That Rosie and Michael Matussek came to their deaths from carbolic acid administered by Anna Matussek, their mother, and that Anna Matussek came to her death from the same poison, taken with suicidal intent while suffering from temporary derangement, was the verdict of the coroner's jury which yesterday afternoon investigated the tragedy at Twenty-eighth and C streets, South Omaha, Monday.

The inquest, held in Larkin's undertaking rooms, was conducted by Coroner Willis C. Crosby.

The only new fact elicited was that Mrs. Mientus, the mother of Mrs. Matussek, was aware that her daughter, when they were downtown, had bought a bottle of something. She asked the young woman what she was doing in the drug store and her reply was that she was buying ice cream for the children. It was the circumstance of seeing this bottle, Mrs. Mientus admitted, that made her hurry back to her home, where she discovered Mrs. Matussek in the house or any of the neighbors.

Trouble Over Bills. The trouble which in all probability precipitated the tragedy was, according to the mother, a scolding she had given her daughter over a grocery bill of $90 on Sunday. It seems that Matussek had given his wife $5 to pay to reduce the bill and that when the man called Sunday this was not deducted.

Joseph Matussek, who looked a picture of grief and sorrow, told how some three weeks ago he had sold his wife for $200 and had to take charge of paying the bills himself.

"This was because," he said, "I was afraid of losing my job at the packing house as people were coming there after me with bills."

He said that until this he had given his wife all his earnings and that he cooked his own breakfast every morning and made up his own dinner pail before he left for work at 5:30. Monday morning at that hour he left his wife sleeping in bed. The night before she seemed to be of her usual disposition.

While Joseph Sandusky, the saloonkeeper to whom she sold some eggs on the way down town, and Mrs. Mientus agreed that on Monday morning the woman appeared to be quite natural, the latter confessed that for about a week her daughter appeared to be uneasy, unsettled, and she once heard her mutter to herself, "Oh, I wish I were dead," but she would not explain why.

No Previous Trouble. On the point of the relations between her daughter and her husband the old woman was emphatic. "They never had any trouble," she said, "until this arose about the bills. He was always good to her and he always worked."

The funeral of the mother and the two children will be held at 9 o'clock Thursday morning at the residence at Twenty-eighth and C streets. The interment will be in the German Catholic cemetery and each will be buried in a separate grave.

Seymour Lake Country Club. At a meeting of business men of Omaha and South Omaha, held in the Commercial club rooms last night, it was decided to organize a club to be known as the Seymour Lake Country club, which will have as its location the beautiful and picturesque tract west of the water which gives its name to the organization.

L. M. Lord, who presided, stated that they had obtained forty-one of the sixty subscribers for stock necessary to complete the purchase and he added that as these had been obtained in four days he anticipated no difficulty in securing the other nineteen.

It was pointed out that the organization would be neither South Omaha nor Omaha, but composed of business and professional men of both of the cities, combining together to provide a place for the recreation of its members, and that in addition to golfing there would be facilities for all sorts of outdoor pastimes as well as the pleasure of boating on the lake.

The trustees for the club have, it was announced, an option on seventy acres of land west of the lake. This option expires April 30. The purchase price is $19,360. They have also an option on a five years' lease of the lake, with an opportunity of renewing it for five years. The yearly rental of the lake is $500 and the club will have to maintain the banks in repair.

Each of the stockholders will have allowed him a lot for the purpose of building a bungalow, as it is the intention of making the place a summer home. The stockholders will be free from club dues. Each share of stock is $200.

After the club had been named and C. W. Sears directed to draw up the articles of association, it was decided that the directorate should be limited to nine.

To effect the permanent organization a meeting will be held in the same place Friday evening.
