Woman Suffocated in Fire at Memphis

Number of Persons Also Badly Injured in Blaze Which Destroyed Lodging House.

MEMPHIS. Tenn., April 28.-One woman was suffocated, half a dozen other perons were overcome by smoke and several were injured in a fire that wrecked the lower floor of the Waldran block, a fourstory building occupied on the three upper Boors by the Palmer hotel, a lodging house, early today.

The fire originated in the basemer among a pile of mattresses. The building was quickly enveloped in dense smoke and the usual means of exit from the upper joining buildings. Others were lowered in blankets or were carried down ladders. The body of Mrs. Hughes, an aged woman who occupied a room to the rear of the third floor, was found lying across a bed after the fire had been extinguished. She was partially clothed and evidently tarried too long in an endeavor to gather her belongings.

The property loss will not exceed $15,000.

Mr. Balfour warned his hearers, than Mr. Balfour warned his hearers, than MONEY TO GET TESTIMON the burden of preparing for war, that the treaty would not mean the immediate reuction of armaments.

The meeting represented the democracy of England rather than the aristocracy. Among those on the platform were the bishop of Hereford, the earl of Aberdeen lord lieutenant of Ireland; Sir Geoge H. Reid, high commissioner of Australia; agents of all the other British colonies. along with representatives of the banks, the railways and the steamship companies of England.

Premier Asquith said in part:

"The unique situation which we have met to recognize and welcome has not been organized or engineered by the apparatus of diplomacy. The seed which the president of the United States cast fell on ground prepared to receive it. That of a few years, even of a few months ago, might have been regarded as the dream of idealists, has not only passed into the domain of practical statemanship, but has become the settled purpose of two great democracies. The profound significance of the new departure is that between Great Britain and the United States, whatever the gravity of the issue and the magnitude of the interests involved, whatever the poignancy foreign loans is assuming a serious phase. of the feelings it aroused, there will be a definite abandonment of war as a possible solution and substitution of argument for force; and the supression by judicial methods of the old ordeal of battle."

After declaring that the agreement imand did not provide for an Anglo-American alliance, aggressive or defensive, the premier continued:
