

Four Famous Designers

--a quartette of clever, inventive geniuses are engaged in creating the Browning, King & Co.'s fashions for men, young men and boys. The success of this store depends in a very great measure upon its ability to please the public. By submitting the creations of four designers instead of the "usual one," we are able to satisfy the most diversified and exacting clientele.

Spring Clothes

We are enthusiastic over our spring displays; the merchandise has never been so thoroughly likeable as this season; the styles are handsomer, the fabrics unusually attractive, and in both draping and tailoring the spirit of progress is manifest; the prices range from $15 to $40; as an example of superior value-giving we commend you to the lines of spring suits and overcoats at $20 and $25.

Mothers seeking the most up-to-date boys' department in Omaha will come here. Our prices positively cannot be duplicated on merchandise of similar style and quality. You are sure to find the hat of your choice in our exceptional hat department, at prices ranging from $3 to $12. Exclusive haberdashery distinguishes the Browning-King store; Spring Neckwear, beautiful color effects, 50c to $1.50; Exquisite Shirts, $1.50 to $6; Silk Hose, 50c to $2.50.

MASON WINS SPELLING BEE

Three Schools Have Competing Teams in Contest.

MANY STAND FOR LONG TIME

Verna Smith Holds the Fort After All the Best Fall on Words that are More or Less Difficult.

Forty-five ladies and misses from the Mason, Windsor and Long public schools engaged in an old-fashioned spelling bee at the Mason school Thursday afternoon. After five hours of tussle, the Mason school representatives carried off the pennant, little Verna Smith holding the fort, after all the others had gone down under the bombardment of words shot at them by Mrs. Frederique Loomis, who officiated as pronouncer.

All honors went to the Mason school contingent. Marguerite Childs, a classmate of the winner, was the last to go down, leaving little Miss Smith supreme.

One by one the aspirants from the rival schools succumbed to the words which grew bigger as the time progressed. The opening two hours' session was easy for the competitors. A list of 500 words, which had been studied previously, was soft for the aspirants; only eight fell by the wayside, four from Mason and two from each of the other schools. After this list was exhausted, the pronouncer looked around for others, finally resorting to words gleaned from the history of the French revolution. An hour's program resulted in little change in the delegations, though here and there one hoisted the white flag when a particularly hard word was offered.

For an hour Mrs. Leomis ransacked the history. Then she varied her tactics by going to a great big dictionary. It proved the undoing of all save little Miss Smith. Her classmates left her company, but finally went down and left little Verna with a clear field. The contestants were seventh and eighth grade students in the schools. Those who took part were:

- Mason School. Verna Smith, Nellie Anderson, Ellen Olson, Marguerite Childs, Clara Rohls, Myrtle Coulton, Mabel Oswald, Leslie Cronan.
- Windsor School. Hope Hutton, Laura Treiber, Elsie Cohen, Rena Cowen, Kathryn Hodges, Flossie Palmer, Pearl Boustier.
- Long School. Irene Cohen, Henry Petersen, Elsie Davidson, Charlotte Billings, May Lynch, Emelia Jensen.

WESTERN MILLIONAIRE INTERESTED IN TRIAL

Says Dynamiting Has Been Hitting the People Too Hard and Should Be Stopped.

James L. Flood, the San Francisco millionaire passed through Omaha Friday morning on his way to his home in San Francisco. From what Mr. Flood stated in Omaha he and some of the other western capitalists will be vitally interested in the trial of the alleged dynamiters, James McNamara and O. E. McManis. "All California is interested in this dynamiting case, and some of the San Francisco firms feel in a position to make any statements. He is the owner of the big Flood building in San Francisco in which the Southern Pacific offices are located.

Omaha Boy Who Has Won Honor at the Nebraska Uni

Major John Anderson is another Omaha boy who has won honors at the University of Nebraska. He graduated from the school of agriculture last week, having completed the three years' course in two years and secured a commission as major in the Second battalion of the cadet regiment of the university. This battalion is one of the largest in the regiment and consists of five companies and a range dating Major Anderson, who was popular with the cadets, was presented with a fine sword as parting token of the regard of the men in his ranks. Mr. Anderson, who is now 23 years old, left the high school six years ago to enter the engineering department of the Rock Island railroad. He remained there for four years, when he decided to return to school and qualify himself to become an expert farmer. He has secured a position on a large sheep and alfalfa ranch twenty miles south of Belvoir, Mont., and will leave for his new field of labor within a few days. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, 2216 Miami street.

Public Meeting to Discuss Pool Halls

City Council and Commercial Club Committee Invite Public to Attend

A public meeting of the city council will be held in the council chambers at the city hall Monday afternoon, beginning at 7:15, for another discussion of the proposed ordinance for regulating the pool halls of the city. The Commercial club's committee of five is expected to be present and set forth the wishes of the club as to the provisions that should be embodied in the ordinance. Other organizations and taxpayers over the city are planning to have representatives there and the council invites a general expression of feeling from the people. This may be the last meeting prior to passage of some sort of an ordinance. There is a strong desire on the part of many for a closing hour as early as 10:30 and for a Sunday closing clause in the ordinance.

ON TRIAL FOR PRACTICING LAW BEFORE ADMITTED

Judge Leslie Takes the Case of Charles Burdge Under Adversement.

Charged with practicing law without being duly admitted as an attorney, Charles C. Burdge, a collector, was tried before County Judge Leslie Friday morning. Judge Leslie has taken the decision under adversement until next week. The penalty in case of conviction is either a fine of $50 or thirty days in jail.

George D. Ablon, against whom Burdge brought suit for some arrears in rent in justice court, which is not a "court of record," is the complaining witness. Burdge attempted to appeal the case to the county court in which only duly admitted attorneys may practice.

Burdge's attorney, M. O. Cunningham, has raised a point of constitutionality in the defense. He states that the act which governs the case is designated merely as an act to regulate the practice of law, while it goes on to designate the penalty. He holds that the act is unconstitutional because it does not designate in its title all the following provisions.

NEGRO IS HELD FOR ROBBERY

Coleman Identified by Four Chinamen as Man Who Took Their Money.

Identification by witnesses has caused the arrest of Alfred Coleman, 113 North Fourteenth street on charge of highway robbery. Coleman, with an accomplice, is charged with having beaten and robbed four Chinamen, including Jim Hong and Sam Lee, 301 Capital avenue, April 26. A total sum of $21.90 was taken from the four.

Raisin Day Will Be Observed in Omaha

Hotels Will Serve Dishes Made of Dried Grapes from Sunny California.

Saturday is raisin day. This day, April 29, has been set apart by the Chamber of Commerce of Fresno, Cal., for the glory and special consumption of the raisin.

California now produces the larger part of the world's supply of dried grapes. Omaha will have a share in the celebration of raisin day. Omaha bakeries, as a result of the efforts of the Fresno Chamber of Commerce at the land show, have now a regular business in the supplying of raisin bread.

Saturday the Loyal, the Paxton, Rome and Henshaw and Merchants hotels will serve special raisin dishes. The Merchants will serve raisin bread, raisin pie.

EXHIBITS FROM CANAL ZONE

Interesting Specimens Are on Exhibition in Cigar Store Window on Farnam Street.

In George Rogers' cigar store, 1506 Farnam, there is an exhibit of curios brought from the canal zone. A gavel made from cocoa-bola wood cut from an old railroad trestle laid forty years ago by the French government in the ill-fated first attempt to cut the canal. This is a gift made to William Kennedy of the local Aerie of Eagles. There are several cases made of cocoa-bola wood from railroad ties. A very interesting curio is a piece of wood known as lace wood, cut from an old tree in Culebra, canal zone. It has the appearance of fine lace being struck into a crude wooden vase, while actually it is one complete piece, the lace effect being secured merely by the disintegration of the bank. There is also shown a pair of teeth taken from the mouth of a young alligator caught in the Chagres river, canal zone. The articles were brought to Omaha by A. A. Schaefer of Gargon, and have created considerable attention.

OF COURSE SHE TAKES CHECKS TO CHECK ROOM

Little Miss from Papillion Starts the Lad with the Brass Buttons at Depot.

"Is this the check room?" asked a bewitching little maiden at Union station. "Oh, yes. What can I do for you?" asked the smiling clerk. "Oh, gee! You're a beaut," he signaled to his colleague. "Why, I would like to cash this check, please," came the answer.

The check was for $350 and she was from Papillion.

RAINMAKER IS ARRESTED

Man Who Wants Pay for Causing the Rain is Held on an Insanity Charge.

The rainmaker, Herman Drescher of Ottumwa, Ia., who has been making demands on the county officials for the last two days for the money that the county owes him for making it rain, was arrested Friday in the office of the county commissioners by Deputy Sheriff Flanagan on a charge of insanity and taken to a county jail.

Discussion of Strawberry Situation by Two Omaha Women.

CANNED GOODS GENERALLY FAIR

Looks as Though Business Would Equal That of Last Year, Which Was Record-Breaker, According to Figures.

"Well, this seems to be a great spring for strawberries. These were the words spoken in one of the local stores yesterday by an elderly woman who just met a friend from another section of the city. Both were on a shopping tour, getting ready for Sunday, as a great many other housewives were doing at that time. The strawberry situation had deeply impressed this woman, so she began talking the strawberry market to her friend.

"Yes, it is a great spring for strawberries, if you mean 'great' in the way I do," was the reply that came to her. "The thing that has impressed me," this from the first woman, "is the large quantity of strawberries that seem to be on the early market. We have never before at this time of year seen so many strawberries. We have had them every day, twice each day, and on some days we have eaten them for all three meals. That is the reason I said this had been a great year for strawberries."

All dealers in Omaha report that the sales of strawberries this week have exceeded those of any previous week. The supply, they declare, is large enough to supply the demand at very reasonable prices.

Business in all lines of canned goods and dried fruits is generally good, equaling that of last spring, which was a record breaker.

The market for spot canned asparagus is dull and unsettled on account of the outlook for an enormous crop and the large carryover.

During the week little change was noted in meat prices.

Hens Lay Scrambled Eggs

Tarrytown hens are hatching an unusual crop of deformed chickens this spring, and the heavy blasting across the river is responsible, according to well-known poultry men. The discovery was made by Irving W. Coates of Kendall avenue. Mr. Coates had fifty-two high-grade eggs in his incubator and hatched out only five chickens. These were particularly deformed and Mr. Coates was puzzled.

He happened to be home when the blasting was going on across the river, and as each report reached this side he noticed the chicks putting their legs against their ears. At first he thought the chicks were molting him. It being the fiftieth anniversary of the civil war, and the blasts sounded like cannon in the distance. But as they continued to hold their legs against their ears until the blasting was over he realized what the trouble was.

Mr. Coates believes that while they were in the shell they heard the noise of the constant raising of their legs to protect their ear drums was the cause of their deformity. Eggs that have been placed in incubators refuse to hatch, and there promises to be a big shortage in the chicken crop this spring.—New York Herald.
