

BOOSTERS IN NEED OF BARBER

Tonsorial Artist is Overlooked in the Rush of Preparation.

CLUB HAS MANY INVITATIONS

All Must Be Turned Down, However, Because of the Rigid Schedule Which Will Have to Be Carried Out.

A serious oversight has been discovered in the plans for the trade excursion to be run out of Omaha this month. In the hurry-burry of getting things ready for such a big undertaking, the engagement of a barber was overlooked, and a committee has been forthwith sent out on an expedition to round up a first-class, well-regulated tonsorial artist to take charge of the "trimming" department.

All plans looking toward the trade excursion are working out in fine shape. There is a general clamor all along the route by towns desirous of entertaining the Omaha boosters and all of them are asking for longer stops. There is at least a great pile of invitations from almost every one of the towns along the line of the Union Pacific to be visited by the Omaha party, in which requests were made for more time and invariably supplemented by a hearty invitation to luncheon, dinner or banquet with them. On account of the number and the impossibility of accepting all of them, the committee has of necessity, turned them all down.

Steward Pryor is always one of the club's employees who accompanies the train to look after the comforts of the club members and "Joe" Lane, the club porter, is the most indispensable man aboard. In order to properly look after the publicity en route Will A. Campbell, manager of the publicity bureau, is on deck every minute to see that the country editors are properly met and taken care of. In charge of the entire train from the time it leaves the Union depot Sunday afternoon until it reaches there again the following Saturday night is Commissioner Guild, who is responsible for the train being on its schedule and every other detail en tour.

"There is room for ten more people on the train," says Mr. Guild. That number and no more can be accommodated. The finance committee calls attention to the fact that all reservations must be made not later than Saturday, this week. All of the compartments are spoken for, even at the penalty price of $5 each, in addition to the $15, price of a ticket, which covers everything from railroad fare down to tips.

From the word received along the line and the newspaper items pouring into the club there is no doubt of the proposed visit of the Omaha boosters being well known, nor can there be any question of the cordiality of the reception and the royal treatment awaiting the Omaha business men.

PILANT HELD TO ANSWER WHITE SLAVERY CHARGE

Man Accused of Complicity in Holdup Taken to Jail on New Allegation.

Leaving the court house with a probability that the charges of highway robbery against him would be dropped with the acquittal of his alleged confederate, Alfred Pilant was rearrested Thursday morning and held to the grand jury on charges that implicate him in a white slave case. Pilant, who lives at 4815 Dodge street, is charged with placing a 16-year-old girl in a resort at 902 Capitol avenue, with taking her money from her and keeping her there against her will.

He was arrested on complaint of Mogy Bernstein, officer of the juvenile court. The girl, the keeper of the resort, Mogy Bernstein and numerous other witnesses were examined by the grand jury during the morning.

Pilant was out on $1,500 bonds in the highway robbery case, in which he was charged in company with George Morrissey and Harry Page, with holding up David Krental and relieving him of $25 at the point of a gun last fall. Morrissey was acquitted by a jury in district court Wednesday night and it is thought likely that the action against the other two will be dropped.

How to Avoid Street Car Accidents II.--Alighting From a Car

WAIT until the car stops. Step squarely down onto the step or running board, holding to upright hand-rod in front of you with your left hand, then step to the ground with your right foot first, facing direction car is headed, and release your hold as soon as your foot reaches the ground.

Always look out for passing vehicles before you step to the street, and it is also well to look where you are stepping, as a depression in the street, or irregularity in the paving, may cause a bad fall.
