sages which had been sent filed by Judge Corbitt.

It was feared that they had been lost through interruptions in the line south of Monterey.

Judge Carbajal denied the report that he had received today messages which in any way referred to the possibility of the Diaz resignation. He said he had received a message of three typewritten pages which referred only to points which he had communicated to Minister Limantour on Wednesday.

Dr. Vasquez Gomez, head of the rebel peace commission, addressed a letter to Judge Carbajal at 11 o'clock asking for a reply to the propositions submitted to him on Thursday, particularly that which related to the amendment of the Diaz resignation. Judge Carbajal was at Juarez during the morning with General Navarro. Senors Braniff and Obregon were at the Madero headquarters.

Diaz May Resign in Few Hours. MEXICO CITY, May 6.—The resignation of Porfirio Diaz as president of Mexico within a short time is regarded here today as a certainty. Should the announcement be made tomorrow or even tonight it would cause no surprise to his cabinet.

No authoritative confirmation could be obtained, but there appears little doubt that President Diaz, recognizing the seriousness of the situation and responding to the popular demand, will retire when order is restored.

At the president's office no statement could be had and the cabinet, realizing that he was the only man who could give a direct answer to the demands of Francisco I. Madero, Jr., the revolutionary leader, that Diaz should publish his intention to resign, were silent.

This afternoon Minister of Foreign Affairs de la Barra was peremptorily summoned to the office of the president. On arriving he found Senor Limantour, minister of finance, who likewise had been summoned. The three officials were in conference for hours.

Immediately afterwards typewritten statements were issued by the foreign office to all newspapers saying the reception to the Chilean minister tomorrow and the banquet to him had been postponed until May 12. The reason for this was given as "the slight illness of the president."

Since the statement was issued General Diaz is known to have been out riding in his automobile. This morning he apparently was in his usual health. This in connection with the fact that the conference held here this morning, in which the announcement of his intention to resign will not be made before tomorrow at the earliest.

In the event of his resignation there will be no opposition on the part of the present government officials to Senor de la Barra's incumbency of the presidency pending elections. The question of Vice President Carral's resignation is not so simple. It is known that before departing for Europe he refused to resign, and since arriving there he has reiterated this statement.

This is regarded as merely incidental. The officials consider the resignation of Diaz the only solution to the trouble. Reluctantly they admit the growing strength of the rebels and realize that peace is improbable should he antagonize them further.

In the capital the celebration of the anniversary of the taking of Puebla by Ignacio Zaragoza was characterized by dullness. For the first time in many years the usual military parade was omitted, because the nation's soldiers are otherwise occupied. President Diaz took almost no part in the civil functions, leaving to the governor, Landa Escandon, the task of distributing gold coins to survivors of the battle.

Most of the business offices and mercantile houses were closed and Sunday-like calm prevailed. Peons who wandered idly about the streets, furnished the only excitement. They gathered in the street in front of the national palace, and although laughing and chatting, indulged in a few cries of "Viva Madero."

The police took no measures to disperse the crowd which filed into the Garden of Soledad, the squares in front of the palace or poured aimlessly in and out of the principal streets of the neighborhood. In Isabella in Catholic street crowds banked themselves before a street car, stopped it and tore from it one of the little Madero flags which adorned all the Sunday-like police failed to interfere and it was only when the mob seized a soldier, lifted him to its shoulders and marched off with him, crying "Viva Madero," that the mounted police rode into its midst. The crowd was not looking for trouble, however, and dropped the soldier and fled. No body was injured.

Another crowd pushed down Calles street and in passing the president's house, let out a few shouts derogatory to the government and laudatory of Madero and the revolution. The police also dispersed this crowd again, without any one being hurt.

Railroad Traffic Demoralized. Railroad traffic continues demoralized. A train arriving from the north brought a story of a holdup by 600 rebels at Lulu, ninety miles south of Saltillo. The rebels searched the train but did not molest the passengers. From the express car they took some thousands of pesos, however. The rebels then held the passenger train until the arrival of a freight train, the box cars of which were loaded with rubber. This was unloaded and the rebels, with their horses, got into the box cars. The crew of the freight train was then told to get aboard the passenger train, which was permitted to proceed.

It developed then that the rebels had their own train crew and even telegraph operators. They told persons on the passenger train they were going north on a bridge burning expedition. The war department is silent on the subject at Torreon, Saltillo and Durango, which are reported to have been taken by the rebels.
