

NEW CHILDREN'S HOME OPENS

Reception is Held at Child Saving Institute.

ROME MILLER MAKES ADDRESS

President of Association Reviews Work in Past and Outlines the Needs for Future—Appeal for Support.

A reception to the public to show the splendid quarters which have just been opened at Forty-second and Howard for the Child Saving Institute was held in the new building all afternoon Thursday and continued until 10 o'clock in the evening.

The institution has, after twenty years of service, reached a condition of prosperity, which has enabled it to build a magnificent brick building modern and commodious and especially adapted to the need of the work.

The principal address of the afternoon was by Rome Miller, president of the association. He told something of the history of the work and the plans for the future. Following Mr. Miller, short addresses were made by John C. Wharton and others.

City's Institution's Work

"Let us look at the record for the first month since this institution was installed in its new building. The policy of the institution is to get the children into good homes as soon as possible. We do not keep children one day longer than is really necessary to find a good home. When such a home is found the institute has performed the hardest part of its mission, but its responsibility has not ceased altogether, as the children are watched for a long time. But the work we have to do is to take care of the child until a home is found, and then, by vigilance, know that the child is really 'saved' in such a home."

"The first day of April we had on hand sixty-five children and during the month we received thirty-four, making a total of ninety-nine children. We have in permanent homes where the children have been taken with a view of legally adopting them for sixteen; we restored to parents and guardians eighteen more during April, which means that during the month we placed thirty-four children where we believe that they will be safe for life. There is more than one little soul a day. It is the best record of our institution for a month and we know of no record in any child saving agency of the west which equals this record. Thus we have already shown that the statements made during the money raising campaign are true. We are able to do as we wish and to increase the efficiency of the Child Saving Institute."

"The record of the last year shows how practical and human this work is. Three hundred and sixteen Nebraska children of all ages and in all conditions, deserted, orphaned and left to die because of their physical helplessness, were given food, shelter, medical attention and expert nurses' care, really brought back to life, and all but thirty-nine of them placed in good homes during the year, and it cost on the average $46.05.

Fifty Dollars Saves Child

"This means that for less than $50 children of Nebraska may be saved from starvation and misery, placed in permanent homes where they will receive at least the average advantages given children living with their natural parents. It means that for $50 or less a deserted or orphaned child is insured of health, schooling and a start in life as good as any other child has."

Twenty Years Ago the Boys and Girls Aid Society was Organized and out of it grew this institution. Rev. A. W. Clark was superintendent of that society and he is our superintendent today, which shows he has been doing his work faithfully and well. The Child Saving Institute came into existence in October, 1904. George F. Howell was then president, with Guy C. Barton as vice president, C. W. Lyman as treasurer and E. A. Cudahy and H. J. Fehlfold as trustees.

"The institution was at Eighteenth and St. Mary's avenue then. It quickly outgrew its home. The property at Eighteenth and Ohio streets was bought ten years ago and the brick wings added by Mr. Barton and some of his personal friends without calling on the public. Here the institution did good work, but there was still a need of room."

"When the present building enterprise was undertaken George A. Joslyn offered to give the trustees $3,000 toward the building if they would secure $50,000 more."

"Headquarters were opened at Hotel Rome and the trustees began their work. Much credit is due the women of the nursery committee and to the various organizations which gave benefits to assist the fund. The number of subscribers reached the thousands because of the part taken by the school children and the working people about the city. Children's donations made by selling their bricks amounted to a considerable sum, and the name of every one paying 10 cents for a brick was secured if possible. The large number of subscriptions of from $1 to $10 each also increased the number of partners in this institution until almost 20,000 people had participated."

"Having one child a day in this city is a great opportunity for Christian and non-Christian people who simply have a little humanity and love in their hearts. Saving one child a day costs about $50, hence we need about $15,000 per annum. This must come from people of Omaha and Nebraska and western Iowa."

"Now that we have this institution the people of Nebraska and Omaha must support it and we want to appeal to everyone to give something to carry on this work, be the donation ever so small."

City Would Get Big Revenue from the Many Squatters

Ed Peterson of the Engineering Department Says He Has a Complete List of All Land.

"If the city will force squatters and others who are using city property to pay rentals the revenues for municipal purposes will be increased fully $100,000 a year," declares E. T. Peterson of the city engineering department.

"I have a complete record of the property owned by the city and by whom it is being used and for what purpose," continued Peterson. "The city comptroller is welcome to the data at any time to further his investigation, which has been ordered by the city council."

"It will be an easy matter to force the tenants to come across. I would suggest that an appraisement of this property be made and the ground rented on its value, instead of a lump sum, fixed with no regard to value."

"The present abuse of city property right now is the practice of wholesale and retail merchants in using property under the sidewalks gratis. By the existing ordinances subways are subject to rentals on curb to curb, which eliminates that part of the ground under the sidewalks. In my opinion a rental should be charged for this, the same as for subways under the streets."

"The council has been requested to amend the ordinance at different times, but so far nothing has been done."

"Nine years ago an investigation was started regarding the property owned by the city. But after it had progressed to a point where it was getting interesting the movement was stopped by the council, which passed a resolution curtailing the work of the committee on investigation."

Stranger Gets an Automobile with a Check Which is Returned for Lack of Funds.

R. W. Cobb, Jr., alias C. J. Hoffman, formerly Salvation Army captain, and former minister of the gospel, is sought by the police because he purchased an automobile in Omaha without any money. Cobb is believed to be the man who was chased out of Lynch, Neb., ahead of a crowd bearing decayed eggs.

SPECIAL OFFICERS IN BEATRICE

Mayor Griffin's Appointees in Place, Old Ones Yielding Up Their Stars.

BEATRICE, Neb., May 11.—(Special Telegram)—The trouble between the old police force of this city and W. E. Griffin, the socialist mayor, came to an end today when Chief McGill and Officers Bales and Dillow turned in their stars. The mayor appointed three new officers three weeks ago, but the council refused to confirm them. The old officers refused to quit until their successors were confirmed. Their resignations came as a surprise to the members of the council and the citizens in general. As the matter now stands the police force is composed of special officers because the council refused to confirm them.

If you have trouble in getting rid of your cold you may know that you are not treating it properly. The reason why a cold should hang on for weeks is that it will not if you take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Summer Furniture That is Summery

WHERE birds chirp their lingering notes---where a bower of light, warm weather furniture gives off a breath of cool woods---that is Summerland. Here is every article to answer the demand in summer furniture--reed, fibre-rush, willow and prairie grass. All have a refreshing and comforting air, but the prairie-grass pieces attract first attention. Of that famous Crex make, they are what the French call gai---cheerful, inviting, pretty, refreshing and pleasing. Grouped in one section of Summerland, both in nature-green and baronial brown coloring, they form a helpful picture of delightful bedrooms, sitting rooms and verandas furnished for the summer. All were made with the idea of being cool, cheery and restful. They possess that kind of durability which suffers every degree of indignity, such as extreme exposure and rough handling. They combine solidity of construction, pleasing design, richness of nature's coloring and beauty of finish. Suited to any season, their subtle tones harmonize with decorations of any style or period. Crex is the highest style of summer furniture---every detail is perfect and one can depend upon making a satisfactory choice.

In Summerland we are showing an extensive line of Imported Porch Shades. They are better than American makes because of their numerous ties, extra heavy cords, durable wood, and strong, responsive rollers.

Good furniture may be cheap, but "cheap" furniture cannot be good.

PRISONER DIGS HOLE IN JAIL AND FEARS TO COME OUT

Sheriff of Box Butte County Hunts High and Low and Finds Man Waiting Inside.

ALLIANCE, Neb., May 11.—(Special Telegram)—An unsuccessful, but daring attempt at escape was made by James Williams, a prisoner awaiting trial for burglary, in the county jail here. With the assistance of a store keeper he managed to break a fifteen-inch hole out of the outside wall of the jail about 5 o'clock and in attempting to crawl through was seen by some boys who reported his escape. The sheriff and deputies immediately went over the surrounding country, but in the meantime the news brought a curious crowd to the county jail which frustrated further attempts at escape on the part of the prisoner, who hid himself inside where he could not be seen through any of the windows.

Under the impression that he had actually made good his escape the surrounding country and railway yards were patrolled for four hours, and it was only after it was thought that further search would be useless that Sheriff Cox entered the jail to investigate, when he found the prisoner inside, afraid to go away.

WOULD LIE AWAKE ALL NIGHT WITH ITCHING ECZEMA

Terrible Sufferer Ever Since He Can Remember. Utterly Intolerable. Seemed Beyond Medical Power to Cure. "My Disease Was Routted by Cuticura Soap and Ointment."

"I take great pleasure in praising the wonderful Cuticura Cures. Ever since I can remember I was a terrible sufferer of eczema, and other itching skin diseases. I would lie awake all night, and my suffering was intolerable. A sooty humor settled on my back, and being but a child, I naturally scratched it. It was a burning, itching sensation, and utterly intolerable. In fact, it was so bad that I could not possibly forget about it. It did not take long before it spread to my shoulders and arms, and I was almost covered with a mass of raw flesh on account of my scratching it. I was in such a condition that my hands were raw."

"A number of physicians were called, but it seemed beyond their medical power and knowledge to cure me. Having tried numerous treatments without deriving any benefit from them, I had given myself up to the mercy of my fate. I suddenly thought I would take the Cuticura treatment as a last resort. Words cannot express my gratification to the one who created the Cuticura Miraculous, as I have named them. For thank heaven there was such a miracle as the Cuticura Remedies sent to the suffering world, and now I feel as if I never suffered from even a pimple. My disease was routed by Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and I shall never cease praising the wonderful Cuticura Remedies to the world. (Signed) C.
