JUDGMENTS

ROURKE is as deeply inbued as any of his friends with the necessity of strengthening his team, as is shown by his signing during the week of Third Baseman Niehoff from Indianapolis and Outfielder William from the St. Louis Browns. It will be very strange if these two men fall to add material strength. Both have shown good before and both are young and coming. It Percentage of 294 for sixty-six times at bat. is always difficult for a team to get back in the swing after such a long losing streak as the Rourkes have had, but they have been fighting all the way and that, of itself is a good indication. It is entirely too early in the season to quit. Nobody should think of giving up, especially just as we are importing new stock. It is true our Kaufman of St. Joseph is tied with Barber, Not one has done as well as he was expected to. Yet the pitchers alone are not to blame for the train of defeats. They have done some excellent work. Most of the games lost were by close margins, showing that Omaha, while beaten, was not easily beaten. When Keeley, Durbin, Rhodes and the others get down to normal condition we believe the team will very readily jump back into the thick of the fight. This must be remembered: Omaha has its hardest row to hee prior to July 4. Here Most of its tough games abroad come in Fent Reco that period. After that the team spends most of its time at home. Its present trip away-fifteen games in all, is about the worst it will have this season. To be sure it has not done very well on this trip as yet, but with Nichoff anid Williams to help out should came back better than it went away. Niehoff was counted the best third baseman in the leagus when he was with Mide Des Moines and he should be even faster now. His presence will leave Schipke free with his duties as captain and give Rourke an excellent infield utility man in the Scrapper, who can work at short, second Weld or third. This change alone gives a very bright promise to the outlook.

We are not sure but the time has come for backing up a little on the leeway and protection accorded the umpire. In the effort to prevent umpire-baiting and to insure discipline, which the same requires, base ball law and those who uphold it. have unintentionally, it seems, given some ignorant and unworthy fellows the false impression that the umpire is a law unto himself, to do as he pleases, and amenable to none. That needs curbing. Some umpires in minor and major leagues need curbing. A thing happened in New York last week, which, if correctly reported by half a dozen sport writers who saw it, half a dezen sport with need for some Schr ought to emphasize the need for some Schr rational restraint upon umpires. In a game between the Cubs and Giants, the Giants needed one run to tie, two to win, It was not the minth inning, but there were two out and a man on third and second. The runner on third started for home. The pitcher whipped the ball to Kilng, who touched the runner out. Umpire Brennan Leal called him out, whereupon, the side being retired. Kling rolled the ball back into the diamond and started for the banch. But diamond and started for the banch. But denis Brennan reversed his decision, calling the man sefe. In the meantime the other runner, having come on at a gallop from second, crossed the plate, scoring two Ward. Omaha.

That proved a victory for the Giants. Of course, after Brennan reversed B. Reilly, St. Josenh. Miller, Mully, Sloux City, McGrath, Topeka.

Jackson, Wichita. they heard only his "out" and even had they heard the "safe" could not have got back into play in time to catch the second runner. It is such work as this and that runner. It is such work as this and that done by Kneeland which will, if not stopped, hurt base ball. Players need discipline and they get it very severely. The umpire needs discipline and should get it.

Company Signature Company City.

Three decisions in one Omaha-Sioux City game by Kneeland were enough to cost him his job.

There should not be much argument over the play at Lincoln in the eleven-inning game which furnishes Don Despain with his cause for protesting. The play is this cause for protesting. The play is this petiteres Wichita. his cause for protesting. The play is this:
Lincoln has a runner on third and he takes a big lead for home and starts a second before the Omaha pitcher delivers the ball. The Omaha catcher steps in front of the plate receives the ball and tags the his cause for protesting. The play is this: And the common of the plate receives the ball and tags the plate receives the ball and tags the r, who is called out by the umpire. Only question is whether or not the later was in the box when he made the livery. If he was and the catcher interested with the batter, who was about to bunt, the runner was safe; if the pitcher was not in the box when he threw the ball, the runner was out, for the batter has no right to bat at a ball delivered from any epot in the diamond except the pitcher's box. The same play has come up pitcher's box. The same play has come up wright. Wichita.

S team in the field has a right to avail itself of every facility to put a runner out, just as the team at but has every right to score when it has a chance. But this line of argument leads only to endless confusion. The ruling we have quoted in neceshary to protect the pinch play. Otherwise catchers might be stepping in front of batters on any occasion where the binch is attempted. Now, if Omaha can show that Surbin was not in the box when he threw the ball, or if Lincoln cannot show that he was, the decision should, and probably will, stand. At any rate that decision alone would not decide the game. But in the meantime this is the second protest to go in against this fellow Kneeland within a week. Other teams besides Omaha will find him out if he stays in the league long

If Murphy has to let go of Ruelbach and Pfeister, it would be more decent to reease them outright and let them do the best they can for themselves. That is what most people thought he should have done with Steinfeldt, but it is not the Murphy way of doing. What are men who have helped give him four pennants, two world's flags and codies of money, when they start down?

It is too bad that Wichita, the vaunted "Metropolis of western Kansas," cannot find time to support as good a ball team as Manager Isbell has given it. It speaks hadly for a city to pass up such a chance. isbell, we hope, will leave the town unless it comes across with patronage, but why he should go to Pueblo instead of Colorado Springs is beyond our ken.

With half of the present trip over, the Rourkes have been playing a loose sort of ball, due probably to the inability of the players to get together on team work. The pitching staff has not been able to get going, but Rourke is now out after new men for this branch of the line up. and will in all probability have a couple of new pitchers on his staff inside of two weeks' time.

Two new men have been acquired for he field. Czar Nelhoff, the heavy hitting third sacker who was seen with the Dea Moines aggregation last year, and who went to Pittsburg and later to Indianapolis, will join the Rourkes at Topeka to morrow morning.

On Tuesday morning Gus Williams, a former South Omaha boy and recently of the Monmouth team of the Central association, is the other player acquired by Pa Rourke. This youngster was a sensation in the Central Essociation last year. and will be seen in the right garden when the team appears at home.

With these two new men it is thought that the team will be strengthened about 50 per cent. Manager Schipke, who has a bum knee, win be able to get out of the game in favor of Nelhoff. This move vill make Kneaves' position much easier for What the change in the outfield will be is still undecided.

The Omaha fans have not given up hope and attribute the numerous losses on the trip to an early season slump. It is predicted by those who know that Omaha will pick up on the second wing of the present trip and come back home with a place in the first division. Rourke is doing everything possible to bring the boys together and get them started again He has given all the youngsters who have been on the sick list all the freedom they needed, but has not had enough men to substitute in their places and unsatisfactory changes in the line up have been the

All the pitchers on the team have taken a slump with the exception of Lotz, who appears to be right this year, and at the present time is the mainstay of the pitch ing staff. He pitched a remarkable game at home against Sloux City and held them to two hits and no runs in six innings. after Rhodes had been batted for four hits and five runs in three innings. Thursday he made a great showing against the Lincoln team, and it was his pitching that won the game. He, however, weakened in the eighth inning after holding the team to two scores and one hit.
