

Y.W.C.A.'s Service to Public and Claim for Its Support

By Ida V. Tilden, President.

The Young Women's Christian association was organized "to promote the spiritual, mental, physical and social welfare of young women" and its growth and development have exceeded the most sanguine expectations. April, 1883, showed a membership of eighty-seven, while April, 1911, the record was 1,552. The day the association first opened its doors one young woman called, today more than 1,500 came to the association building for various purposes. Eighteen years ago the association was formed, in the shadow of a great financial panic with only money enough for three months' rent, but with great faith, that time has shown we were well founded, that the citizens of Omaha were ready to do for its young women what was being done in almost every city of the U. S. of over 25,000 population.

The association owns the only woman's building in the city at a cost for the entire property of $164,000. The raising of this large sum of money by a comparatively small number of women was a great achievement. The money came in over 5,000 subscriptions and the task of collecting these pledges was no small one.

Now these women are asking that the citizens come to their aid and finish what has been so well begun, by clearing the association of $30,000 indebtedness. While there have been many demands upon the public the past few years, to which it has generously responded, still the years have been prosperous ones. The association appreciates its liberal treatment, but the interest on the debt with the current expenses is too heavy a burden and greatly embarrasses the work. Let the women give their time and strength to advancing the work while the men support it with their means. It is a work in which the public is deeply concerned and thousands of young women in Omaha can bear witness to its great benefits.

WOMEN START ON CAMPAIGN

Effort to Raise Fifty Thousand Dollars to Pay Y. W. C. A. Debt.

SEVEN THOUSAND FOR STARTER

Receives This, G. A. Joslyn Says He Will Give the Last Five Thousand Needed to Complete the Fund.

The campaign to raise $50,000 to lift the indebtedness of the Young Women's Christian association started auspiciously Wednesday morning. Subscriptions amounting to $7,000 were given voluntarily before the start of the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Joslyn have promised to give the last $5,000 of the $50,000. This is in addition to the $7,000 already promised.

Eight companies of women started at 9:30 o'clock this morning to canvass the business section of the city. The leaders for the eight companies are Mrs. John Flack, Mrs. J. M. Aldin, Mrs. W. E. Rhoades, Mrs. E. G. McGilton, Mrs. Philip Potter, Mrs. Clement Chase, Mrs. C. M. Wilhelm and Mrs. Charles Tracy. Each leader will have several assistants.

Those who will be the leaders in the work among the association members are Mrs. E. W. Merrow, Mrs. J. Burns, Mrs. W. O. Pansley and Mrs. G. W. Wickersham.

The campaign for funds for the Young Women's Christian association proceeded with vigor Wednesday. Young women of the city wearing green and white badges were detailed over the town with orders to solicit from everyone, high and low.

The first bus on the amount raised will be given out Thursday afternoon. Indications Wednesday were that the treasury will be boosted well by the sum being collected, but no figures as to the amount were available.

Crawford Orders

All to Wear Coats in the Police Court

Tells Those Who Must Go Without Their Coats to Stay Out of Court Room.

All ye persons who think that the present weather is too warm to warrant the wearing of a coat had best stay away from police court, for Judge Crawford demands that all who must go without their coats in the court room and men in their shirt sleeves are tabooed in said room.

Wednesday morning the sun was beating down with all its warming power and the everyday coat became a burden on the shoulders of pedestrians and others. Consequently the removal of the coat, in such a manner several persons entered police court; some out of curiosity to see what was going on and others, on subpoena.

As usual the judge entered the room and sat at his desk. Before beginning his daily grind he looked up and saw a beautiful variety of shirts, all of which were uncovered, except in some cases with a vest. With a glance around the room he stood up and delivered a lecture on court etiquette, saying all those who were in shirt sleeves, finding the court room too warm warrant the wearing of a coat, could find plenty of space in the street. The result was the leaving of a few and in most cases the donning of the outer jacket.

Georgia Mayor Sends Regulars to Church

Asks Judge Crawford to Adopt the Same Plan in the Omaha Court.

"Ten days in church." This is the by-word which the mayor of a small Georgia town is trying to inculcate into the police courts of the larger cities of the country, and Judge Crawford was the recipient of a letter this morning from Alonzo M. Brand, mayor of Lithonia, Ga., asking him to consider such sentence for drunks and to test it out.

It is said that these four words have wrought the reformation of the "town drunkards" at Lithonia and practically all of the other of Lithonia's bad citizens and it is the belief of Mayor Brand that the sentencing of such characters to church in other towns would bring about the same result.

If this method of punishing drunks should be instituted in Omaha the words, "Ten days in church" would mean the same as "Ten days on the rocks" means now. In other words, the usual plan of sentencing offenders to the workhouse, changing or rocks would be supplanted by the more charitable method of forcing them regularly to attend church services on Sunday.

"Ten days in church" is the creation of Hon. Alonzo M. Brand, a sturdy, round Georgian, who has been mayor of Lithonia for the last two years. He said in his letter to Crawford that when he took the oath of office he determined to do something new, and he did it. As the chief executive of the little town, it became his duty to preside over the municipal court, the tribunal in which breakers of the town laws pass in review. Instead of punishing offenders Mr. Brand set about to reform them.

In order to do this he evaded several plans in his mind, finally hitting upon one which he adopted, in order to know that the sentence is being carried out, Mayor Brand requires the offender to report to him every Monday morning, with a certificate signed by the minister or some other official of the church, certifying that the offender attended each of the Sunday services. In the event a service is missed and there is no reasonable excuse the offender is fined.

Judge Crawford believes the method would be of benefit to a small town, but to a place the size of Omaha the churches could be crowded every Sunday with a class of people which would soon destroy the membership roll so that nothing but offenders would be attending the divine service.

Noises Arouse the Federal Building

Investigation Finds a Black Cat Cornered by a Rat Terrier in the Basement.

Clerks and carriers in the postoffice were given a lively two minutes early Wednesday morning when their attention was attracted by unearthy yells and noises which floated up into the mailing room from the basement.

Murder, suicide or an accident filled the minds of the men as they dashed pell mell down the little hatchway. Their speculations as to what it was filled to the extreme after a search of two minutes for the origin of the cries, when they found seated up on top of the lockers a black cat and below a little rat terrier, who was making frantic efforts to scale the wooden barricade.

PACKERS' BANK CELEBRATES

Twentieth Anniversary of Opening of South Omaha Institution—Character is Extended.

Twenty years ago, May 11, the Packers' National bank of South Omaha was organized. On that day, marking the close of two decades of success, the officers of the bank displayed a charter extension, giving the institution the right to do business another twenty years.

Twenty years ago the Packers' National opened for business in its building on the corner of Twenty-sixth and N streets. At that time its capital stock was $100,000 and its deposits not much greater than its capital. Later the capital stock was increased to $100,000 and a short time ago another increase was made to $200,000, while its statement shows a surplus of $100,000 and undivided profits of $25,000.

About two years ago the bank was moved to its handsome building at the corner of Twenty-fourth and O streets and its deposits now amount to about $2,300,000.

The present officials of the bank are A. W. Trumbull, president; J. F. Coad, Jr., vice president; W. A. C. Johnson, cashier; Harry Trumbull and T. J. Shanahan, assistant cashiers.

BEST SHAMPOO FOR HOME USE

"For quick, easy shampooing and restoring the natural gloss to dull, streaky thin hair," writes Mae Martyn, famed beauty specialist, in the Philadelphia News, "there is nothing to compare with a shampoo made by dissolving a teaspoonful of canthrox in a cup of hot water. It makes a creamy, cleansing lather that removes every bit of dirt, dandruff and excess oil and stops itching. It rinses off easily and the hair dries in just a few minutes.

"This splendid shampoo gives the hair a most pleasing luster and suppleness and will have the commendation of every woman troubled with scanty, short, brittle or faded hair.

"The alkali in soaps and most ready-prepared shampoos is responsible for many scalp troubles such as dull, streaky, falling hair—often mistakenly attributed to wearing false hair."—Adv.
