BOYLES URGING PUBLICITY Omaha Business College Head Wants Schools to Have Bureau. WOULD EDUCATE THE PEOPLE

DES MOINES, May 19.—(Special Telegram.) Plans for an advertising and public educational campaign for the fostering of business college interests were urged before the Central Commercial Teachers' association here today by H. B. Boyles of Omaha in his presidential address.

Mr. Boyles spoke of the necessity of optimism for the teacher who would succeed in the class room. He condemned the practice of "forcing" bright students to be used for advertising purposes and pointed to the possibilities of success to be gained on a reputation based on the performance of the average pupil.

For Publication Bureau. "My suggestion is this: We, the Central Commercial Teachers' Association and Western School Managers' association, organize a bureau of public education," said Mr. Boyles.

The purpose of this bureau shall be to conduct a campaign of broad publicity, a view of creating sentiment in favor of business college training. The campaign would be waged in the columns of the newspapers located in the cities in which our members' colleges are located.

Lessons from Corporations. The value of this kind of a general publicity campaign is shown by the fact that scores of large corporations and associations in other lines have established similar bureaus of education for the purpose of creating sentiment, disseminating facts, correcting erroneous ideas and generally educating the public.

the public of facts about the importance, the necessity of a technical business college training. This information would be brought home forcibly to the thousands of people who do not realize the importance of business college training.

BIGGER BATTLESHIPS COMING

Authority Says Limit Has Not Been Reached in Vessels of Thirty Thousand Tons.

The British Society of Naval Architects has been discussing the size of battleships and inclines to the opinion that the limit has by no means been reached. The discussion brought out the ratio of growth in England. Battleships have increased in the last ten years 50 per cent in displacement, 25 per cent in length, 27 per cent in breadth.

Considering the matter of cost, it was said that two of the newest vessels could be built for about the price of three of the earlier and smaller pre-dreadnaught type. The two modern vessels would, however, take into action a main armament one-third greater than that of the three small vessels combined, and their working cost and expenditures in maintenance and repairs would be less.

MAN WHO BUILT PYRAMIDS

Actually, He Would Be Entertained by Booklovers' Contest.

REST FOR WORKERS AFTER LABOR

Those Who Sweat and Toil Enjoy Puzzles Equally as Well as Those Who Have All Time for Fun and Diversion.

So many questions have come into the contest editor's desk in connection with the Booklovers' game that it seems necessary to reiterate many things that have been said several times in these columns.

Contestants wish to know whether they will have sufficient time after all the pictures have been published, in which to prepare their answers and send them in. Most certainly, there is nothing unfair about this great game.

Letters are still coming in asking how coupons and catalogue can be obtained. These articles are on sale at The Bee business office. The puzzles sell for 1 cent each and the catalogue is priced at 25 cents.

Much comment has been made about the four grand prizes in the contest. The magnificent Apperson "Jack Rabbit" touring car, which is exhibited at the Apperson company's salesrooms, 110-94 Farnam street, is valued at $2,900. It is one of the best cars made and is good for both road and speed work.
