

Suits that Will Please the Boys

Here is a showing of Boys' Suits that will appeal to every mother who sees them, as well as to the boys themselves. These suits are sure to please; in fact we insist on pleased customers and they are greatly responsible for our rapid growth.

This assortment of suits is made in both plain and double breasted garments. Especially popular is the Norfolk Suit with the snappy pleated jacket and belt. Both young men and older men are wearing it, too.

Belted suits are also much worn and are well to the front among popular styles. The popular colors for spring and summer are straws, tans, grays, browns and blues.

TAFT AT LIBRARY DEDICATION

BUILDING COST TEN MILLIONS

Executive Says Most Marvelous Thing About It is Its Circulation of Eight Millions Yearly.

NEW YORK, May 23.—The New York public library, the largest and most costly library building in the country, was dedicated here this afternoon by President Taft, Governor Dix and Mayor Gaynor.

The new library of white marble throughout has been twelve years in building and cost more than $10,000,000.

Mr. Taft said in part: "It is not in the treasures of the various collections that go to make up this library that its chief value consists, wonderful as they are and much as we are indebted to the Astors and James Lenox for the money, labor and pains expended in their gathering. It is not in the number of volumes or pamphlets or manuscripts that the library stands out first, but it is in the facility of circulation and in the immense number of books that are distributed each year for use to the citizens and residents of New York and vicinity that this library easily takes the first rank."

Story Hardly Credible. "When the story is told of how this great organization was effected it is hardly credible. The Astor library, founded in 1807 and begun and enriched by the generosity of three generations of the Astor family, was only a library of reference consisting of rare historical books, pamphlets and manuscripts. The Lenox library, made possible through the generosity and infinite pains and labor and love of James Lenox, gave this foundation a precious Biblical collection and a wonderful library of American history. The Tilden foundation brought 16,000 volumes of a political library and a foundation of $2,000,000.

"The generosity of these founders of course is much to be praised. So, too, the generosity of those who contributed to the New York public circulating library and to the various circulating libraries that are now made a part of this, and so must we applaud the generosity of Mr. Andrew Carnegie, who munificence will provide for sixty branches in all parts of this great city. But after reading the history of these various collections and circulating libraries, the fact that impresses itself most upon me is that since 1867 master minds have conceived the union of all these agencies into one.

Circulation Eight Millions. "A library which affords constant reference and reading room facilities to 1,700 people and which circulates through sixty branches its books at a rate of 8,000,000 a year accomplishes so much more in the popular dissemination of knowledge than any other library in the world that had the energy, tact, patience and knowledge with which to execute it are those whom I would congratulate today.

"To have secured the consent of all the trustees of the various foundations, to have obtained the necessary legislation authorizing the union, to have secured from the city authorities the use of this magnificent site and the appropriation of the money for this magnificent structure required genius and statesmanship and marks this day as noteworthy, not only because of the expanding usefulness to the people of this library, but also as commemorating a most remarkable success of disinterested human effort in the cause of philanthropy."

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., May 23.—E. H. Steiman of Pittsburg, Pa., formerly vice president of the First National bank of McKeesport, arrived at the federal prison here today to join the "bankers' colony."

Pittsburg Banker Joins Prison Colony

American paper makers, said Mr. Norris, own over 12,000 square miles of timber rights on the crown lands of Quebec for which they cannot now ship wood pulp because of the prohibition of May 1, 1910.

Mr. Norris referred to Clifford Pincho's estimate three years ago of the available supply of wood pulp timber in the United States which would last as follows:

- New York state, eight and one-half years;
- Maine, seven years;
- Minnesota, nine years;
- Vermont, eleven years;
- New Hampshire, twelve years;
- Maine, twenty-eight and one-half years.

Mr. Norris was questioned by various members of the committee as to the purposes of the American newspapers publishing association. He declared that his work as chairman of the paper committee had to do "missionary work among senators and in other places."

The work all had been in the open, he added, no effort having been made to conceal anything.

When Senator Smoot asked him if his bureau had sent out various copies of the proposed passage of the reciprocity bill, Senator Williams interrupted by asking:

"You did not consider it any crime, did you, Mr. Norris, to send out literature in favor of placing things on the free list?" "On the contrary," replied Mr. Norris.

Mr. Norris declared that the American senate undertook to build the Canadian provinces Senators Bailey and Heyburn objected to the word "bull-dozed" and had it stricken from the record.

Mr. Norris sought to show that the international paper company is a "combination in restraint of trade."

He declared that he had been unable to procure paper at market prices at any paper mill east of the Rocky Mountains.

REPORT ON LIQUOR TRAFFIC

Presbyterian Committee Condemns Figures that Mislead Public.

USE OF ALCOHOL IS INCREASING

Bright Spots of Year Are Election of Reform Governor in Tennessee and Retention of Prohibition in Oklahoma.

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., May 23.—While interest in the trial of Rev. William D. Grant of Northumberland, Pa., who is accused of heresy, is intense, the trial is not interfering with the proceedings of the Presbyterian general assembly, and today the reports of three important committees were taken up for discussion.

When allowances are made for false and garbled statements, deliberate falsehoods and misleading charges the fact remains that there is an alarming increase in the use of alcoholic liquors in the United States as a whole. Only harm can result from deceiving the public by charges which indicate a rapid advance in temperance legislation and by boastful statements about making "the map all white," while we are doing nothing of the kind.

The bright spots of the year are the election of a reform governor in Tennessee against the efforts of the liquor interests and the vote by an increased majority to retain prohibition in the constitution in Oklahoma.

This report says: "The per capita drink bill in the year 1910 was $24.17. Multiplying this by 4.4, the size of the American private family according to the census of 1900 (the estimate for the census of 1910 is not yet available), we have $111.15, the annual drink bill of the average American family."

The Rev. Dr. Grant, who is accused of heresy, today appeared before the judicial commission of the Presbyterian assembly and denied that he is unorthodox in his views. He attempted to justify his broad conception of God, Christ and the miracles by quoting from sermons preached by Rev. Charles Little of Wabash, Ind., moderator of last year's assembly and from sermons of Rev. Dr. Jowett, the minister, who was brought from England to fill the pulpit of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church, New York.

"The apostles all his life has been a Presbyterian and his ancestors for generations back in Scotland have also held to this faith. "So far as he is aware, the apostles have never knowingly violated his ordination and departed from holy scripture as the inflexible rule for faith and life."

The church is certainly broad enough to permit diversity of opinion on matters not essential to salvation. The Rev. Dr. Little himself said as much as this. "The conception of God in the earlier part of the old testament," Dr. Grant added, "was of an entirely different being than the conception in the latter part and the new testament."

In proof of this he adduced the incident of the slaughter of the Shulamites by the Children of Israel, and said he did not believe "God deliberately handed over 10,000 people to death."

the trade excursion has passed through the big ranches and then, taking the Oregon trail into Garden county, has reached the irrigated section, where Nebraska has had her greatest growth during the last ten years.

Okosh, where the excursionists spent the first evening, was scarcely on the map five years ago. It then had a population of thirty. Last night three times that many school children lined up for copper bells to ring for Omaha. This is the "valley of the Nile" made famous by Omaha owners and land agents, who threw the vast tract on the market and assisted in building the irrigation ditches, which have made the North Platte valley one of the richest in the west.

New Towns on the Map. Many of the towns visited Monday were not on the map when the Omahans passed through this section, before. Lowellville had thirteen people when the trade excursionists arrived in Bridgeton four years ago. It was not worth whistling for and the trail did not run down the Union Pacific. This evening 181 school children with their teachers were lined along the sidewalks to greet the Omahans.

Garden county has been born and has a population of over 1,000 people. Keystone, where the spuds come from, De Lamar, Garden and Okosh have become among the most thriving towns on the Union Pacific. Where prairie dogs, coyotes and sheep made up the population ten years ago, sixteen hundred and sixty school children received every bell today.

Along the line the Omahans are receiving the warmest possible welcome from the people of Nebraska, many of whom have come out in the last few years from towns or counties near Omaha. For about an hour the train was in Colorado, visiting Julesburg merchants, but returned almost at once to Nebraska, where the sunshine was just as bright.

Sidney has a live Commercial club, headed by J. L. McIntosh, as has also Osage, where E. M. Beattie, Jr., is the chief. Both of these towns show the visitors a good time. Just three hundred and fifty Sidney school children welcomed the "Boosters," while at Osage there were two hundred pairs of hands waiting for souvenirs.

In proportion to its size, Sutherland has the children. Half of the population is children, there being two hundred and twelve waiting for bells and the census says Sutherland has a population of five hundred and fifty.

Warm Welcome at Sidney. SIDNEY, Neb., May 23.—(Special Telegram.)—The special train of cars containing the Omaha Trade Boosters reached here at 3:10 this morning, remaining nearly one hour. They were cordially received by nearly 1,500 people, two brass bands and blowing of whistles on Union Pacific shops and locomotives. They visited among the trades people and made many friends, while the bands played popular selections on the different street corners. The "Boosters" were welcomed on every hand and their souvenirs were distributed with an open hand to everybody.

PULP, PAPER AND RECIPROCITY

Agent of Publishers Appears Before the Senate Committee.

COMBINE CONTROLS PRICES Only Hope of Keeping Industry in United States and Breaking Up Monopoly Lies in Paper Clause of Treaty.

WASHINGTON, May 23.—Only by the adoption of the paper clause of the reciprocity agreement with Canada can cheap paper and the retention of the print paper industry in the United States be secured, according to John Norris, representing the American Newspaper Publishers' association, who appeared before the senate finance committee today.

"The Canadian provinces which control the raw material of paper manufacture, Mr. Norris said, "are trying to force American paper mills to move to the other side of the boundary line. They have prohibited the exportation of pulp wood from provincial lands; they believe they can starve out the American paper makers, whose domestic supplies are nearly exhausted."

"In 1901 the American paper makers had a chance to consummate an arrangement with Canada, whereby the supply of wood from the province of Quebec would be continued indefinitely. But the American senate, at the instigation of former Senator Hale and of the extreme "standpatters" among the paper makers, upset that arrangement and undertook to bulldoze the Canadian provinces so that it could force them by the imposition of retaliatory duties to let their pulpwood into the United States without restriction. Instead of compensating the situation they provoked a costly complication, to which the paper clause of the reciprocity treaty offers the only immediate and promising solution."

American paper makers, said Mr. Norris, own over 12,000 square miles of timber rights on the crown lands of Quebec for which they cannot now ship wood pulp because of the prohibition of May 1, 1910.

Mr. Norris referred to Clifford Pincho's estimate three years ago of the available supply of wood pulp timber in the United States which would last as follows:

- New York state, eight and one-half years;
- Maine, seven years;
- Minnesota, nine years;
- Vermont, eleven years;
- New Hampshire, twelve years;
- Maine, twenty-eight and one-half years.

Concluding, Mr. Norris said that nearly 95 per cent of the wood and pulp which the United States now uses as the raw material of cheap paper comes from abroad. "The paper industry," he said, "paid $115,000,000 to foreigners in 1910 for pulp woods and for pulp to keep American paper mills going. The consumers paid penalties of $150,000 in retaliatory duty because there was an adequate supply of free wood in Canada available for the needs of this market."

Senators Ask Questions. Mr. Norris was questioned by various members of the committee as to the purposes of the American newspapers publishing association.

He declared that his work as chairman of the paper committee had to do "missionary work among senators and in other places."

The work all had been in the open, he added, no effort having been made to conceal anything.

When Senator Smoot asked him if his bureau had sent out various copies of the proposed passage of the reciprocity bill, Senator Williams interrupted by asking:

"You did not consider it any crime, did you, Mr. Norris, to send out literature in favor of placing things on the free list?" "On the contrary," replied Mr. Norris.

Mr. Norris declared that the American senate undertook to build the Canadian provinces Senators Bailey and Heyburn objected to the word "bull-dozed" and had it stricken from the record.

Mr. Norris sought to show that the international paper company is a "combination in restraint of trade."

He declared that he had been unable to procure paper at market prices at any paper mill east of the Rocky Mountains.

The American Paper and Pulp company, he claimed, was "a so-called bureau of statistics to enable the paper makers of the country to maintain prices at an agreed figure."

In attacking the international Paper company Mr. Norris declared it had absorbed nearly all the paper mills in the United States. He declared that the company undervalued paper mill water power that it started immediately after its organization on "wood land speculation" and that it had reduced its output so as to increase the market price.

The corporation had an excessive capitalization, said Mr. Norris, which was inflated at least $40,000,000. He declared it frequently sold paper for from $5 to $10 a ton cheaper abroad than in this country.
