LINCOLN, May 28.-(Special.)-The decisions in several test cases made on the not weight provisions of the pure food law were given today by the state supreme court, the provisions being sustained in full by the ruling. The principal cases were against the National Biscuit company. The cases involved the legality of sales of package goods by the retallers and interstate and intrastate sales as well. In the entire list of cases the legality of the pure food law is upheld, the supreme court further holding that the package provision holds to lard, but not to

Details of Decision.

Writs of habeas corpus were asked for by Lew Agnew of Pawnee City, who purchased goods of a dealer in another state; by Burton T. Page, state agent for the National Biscuit company, who shipped goods from one point to another in Nebraska, and by O. J. King, a retail grocer of Lincoln, who bought goods of the state agent in Lincoin and sold them at retail here. These parties were arrested for violating the state law. They instituted habeas corpus proceedings, alleging that they had been unlawfully deprived of their liberty.

They allege the state pure food law to be unconstitutional for these reasons: 1. That rules and regulations governing food products have already been pre-scribed by act of commerce and no state can enforce a statute making different.

2. That the state law is an attempt to interfere with interstate commerce. 2. That the articles sold were pure and wholesome and not adulterated.

Chief Justice Reese in his opinion scores the stipulation of facts entered into by the attorney general and the county attorney of Lancaster county on one side and John L. Webster, attorney for the defendants, on the other. The opinion says.

"Police Eater," but His Appetite Fails

Negro Preacher Declaims and Declares-Ardor Cools When Officers Appear.

The Rev. William Smith, a negro preacher of much local fame, stood on Dodge street between Tweifth and Thirtsenth early last evening, presenting a long sermon which had been suggested to him by the story of Jonah and the whale.

"I eats 'em; I fairly eats 'em!" shouted the famous preacher as he rose to Alpian heights in eloquent oratory, attracting the attention of some thirty. The little minister was speaking principally about policemen. He had "eaten" more coppers than there are on the Omaha force, he declared, by way of freeing himself from the charge made by several negroes that he was a police snitch. Rev. Smith pleaded and then he coaxed with them, he said, but still they held the opinion that he was a 'police snitch." Then came the decalaration that he had "eaten" policemen, which statement, he said, did not have its effect. So then he stood the crowd at bay with an imaginary revolver concealed at the rear of his ecclesiastic cleak. The reverena gentleman stood to the full height of four feet four and held off the mob, and ever ready to "est" the first policeman who hove in sight.

The High Cost of Living Reduced

Much has been said about the high cost of living, its causes, and the possibilities of its reduction. But little has been said about the most costly leak: the false economy existing today in nearly every household.

Much foodstuffs are bought with but one point in view: "How cheap can I get it?" without a thought of quality or "after cost." One of the most serious is baking powder.

By the use of perfect baking powder the housewife can derive as much economy as from any other article used in baking and cooking. In selecting the baking powder, therefore, care should be exercised to purchase one that retains its original strength and always remains the same, thus making the food sweet and wholesome and producing sufficient leavening gas to make the baking light.

Very little of this leavening gas is produced by the cheap baking powders, making it necessary to use double the quantity ordinarily required to secure good results.

You cannot experiment every time you make a cake or biscuits, or test the strength of your baking powder to find out how much of it you should use; yet with most baking powders you should do this for they are put together so carelessly they are never uniform, the quality and strength varying with each can purchased.

Calumet Baking Powder is made of chemically pure ingredients of tested strength. Experienced chemists put it up. The proportions of the different materials remain always the same. Sealed in air-tight cans, Calumet Baking Powder does not alter in strength and is not affected by atmospheric changes.

In using Calumet you are bound to have uniform bread, cake or biscuits, as Calumet does not contain any cheap, useless or adulterating ingredients so commonly used to increase the weight. Furthermore it produces pure, wholesome food, and is a baking powder of rarc merit; therefore is recommended by leading physicians and chemists. It complies with pure food laws, STATE and NATIONAL. The goods are moderate in price, and any lady purchasing Calumet from her grocer, if not satisfied with it, can return it and have her money refunded.

The manufacturers of Calumet Baking Powder have just prepared a new edition of their handsome Cook Book, and will gladly mail it Free to anyone who sends for it. In writing address the Calumet Baking Powder Co., Chicago, and ask for Cook Book "D."

Cracker Suit.

In the Agnew case, involving crackers shipped in from another state, the court finds:

"An original package, as governed by interstate commerce law, is that which is delivered by the importer to the carrier at the initial point of shipment and retains its form and contents until received by the consignee in the same condition as when of the west, was sentenced this morning shipped. If upon arriving at its destination in a foreign state the package is broken and its contents in smaller units this county. Bhe pleaded guilty to the offered for sale and enters into the retail theft of various pleces of dress goods from commerce of the state the distinctive two department stores. She fainted when the goods become at once subject to state laws."

In the King case, involving a purchase of crackers from the manufacturer's agent in this state after the package had been broken, the buyer subsequently exposing the goods for sale in his retail store, the court decides that the same principle of law laid down in the Agnew case will govern.

The application of the three men for writs of habeas corpus are all dismissed and they are remanded by the court to the custody of the shoriff.

Women and Contracts.

It may have been the general rule that a married woman without a separate estate cannot make a contract, but the supreme court of Nebraska has decided that a woman, who has no separate estate may employ an attorney to begin and prosecut or defend an action for divorce and make a contract to compennate the attorney for his services in auch action.
