BIG YIELD FROM SUGAR BEETS

Territory About One Factory in Montana Highly Productive.

ACREAGE NEARING THE LIMIT

Productive Area Can Only Be Increased by Additional Plants for the Reduction of Pulp.

HELENA, Mont., June 2.—(Special.)—The only beet sugar factory in Montana is at Billings, in the Yellowstone valley, which was built a few years ago at a cost of $1,250,000 and produces annually 25,000,000 pounds of sugar.

Last year 15,000 acres were planted to sugar beets to supply this factory. This year the acreage will be somewhat increased, but until additional factories are provided the cultivation of this crop will be limited to a region within a short haul of Billings. The success of both factory and growers will no doubt lead to the erection of other factories and the extension of the cultivation of sugar beets which produce abundantly and of high saccharine strength in many parts of Montana, where they have been grown as an experiment.

Sugar beets are raised on irrigated land. One settler on the Huntley government reclamation project planted forty acres in sugar beets and the net return on his crop was $3,790. The champion grower is Perry Young, who has made affidavit that in the year 1910 he harvested 105 tons of sugar beets from 6.9 acres of land, the gross value of the yield being $90,57, an average of 13,125 lbs. per acre. O. Stout of Hallentine realized $68.16 an acre on a yield of 31.4 acres or a clear profit of $5 per acre.

Returns of the fifty best crops in the Billings territory representing 1,438.39 acres show an average yield of 15.2 tons to the acre. The average value of the crop per acre was $100.53. Throughout the district the net revenue exceeded $50 per acre. Much of the cultivation is done by contract, the cost rarely exceeding $50 an acre. In addition to the profit from the sale of beets the tops have a selling value as well as the pulp. Both are good food for cattle and sheep, many thousands of which are fattened in the neighborhood of the factory and shipped to the stock yards.

Soon Ready to Let Contracts for Dam in the Sun River

Engineers at Work on Surveys and Preliminary Drilling is Nearly Completed.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 2.—(Special.)—Several parties of engineers in the field making the final surveys and a diamond drill working night and day on the dam site for a division dam in the Sun river irrigation project, there is but little more to be done before the government will call for bids for the $6,000,000 work. The first proposition will be for a work to cost $3,000,000.

The litigation has been ended and the government now will have a clear right-of-way for the completion of its undertaking. The court decree was ordered spread of record and the board is clear for contract work to begin.

There has already been a large dam started at Willow creek, which will provide the first storage reservoir. Then there is another storage reservoir at what is known as Warm springs. Just below the dam a few hundred feet is the warm spring, which is what the engineers are now testing by borings for the dam site. This diversion dam will divert the water, some of it to the Teton country and some of it to what is called the Sun river bench. The plan of this dam is already agreed on and the specifications drawn, and the test now made will show how deep the contractor will have to go to get the foundation demanded for the dam. With these things all adjusted, an amount of good times and large business will be open in the Sun river country and reach this city. It is expected, about July 15.

Road Plans Based on Hope of Reciprocity

Campaign is on for Construction of Highway in Montana to the Border.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 2.—(Special.)—One of the manifestations of a belief here that this country and Canada will come to some form of reciprocity agreement is the campaign now on to construct a public highway from this city to the international boundary line at Coult's. The road has already been assured from Steele, about twenty miles north of here, to the Canadian line, and that the twenty miles will be built is apparently assured from statements of members of the county commissioners, among them Kenneth B. McIver, chairman, all of whom have declared favorably to the road.

The road runs through a most fertile section of country. Shelby, Sun river, Conrad and a dozen other smaller but prosperous cities and towns are touched by the road. The counties and townships along the line have voted favorably to the construction and in some cases actual work is now in progress. The plan is to make the road bed suitable to change it into a pipe road later when the population is more dense. The belief here is that reciprocity is sure to come and that being the case the people here see a great fertile trade territory to the north of the boundary, which they want to be ready to claim when the duty wall has been pushed away.

Musings of an Old Sport. Tomorrow morning doesn't have to be one of those mornings after. Just clear your mind—and you'll stick for the distance. You don't like to stand for the elbow stuff in the straight and narrow path. Despair sits still with his hands in his lap—but desperation starts coming. If the game looks pretty bad, buy two bits' worth of lilacs and tote 'em home and roll 'em. We've never discovered the truth that's said to be in wine—unless the other fellow was telling it. Several times when they've got us out on a limb, we've found it covered with blossoms. When we're laying down the law to others, we're 'not' talking. Upon the return of the newly wedded couple to their home they were overpowered by a company of visitors and given the ride about town in the cart which had been serviced so often under Shute's lead. The bride was then taken to her home, while the crowd proceeded to work out its revenge. Shute was first taken to the public fountain, where he was compelled to take off his shoes and socks and wash his feet. He was then taken to the Auditorium ball room and there did some spectacular dancing in his bare feet with his trousers rolled up to his knees, to the great delight of the many dancers. Next he was hurried to a waiting automobile and taken to a cafe, where his face was blacked and he was forced to eat a salted cocoon pie. Some sugared oysters had also been prepared for him, but the brigade relieved him of that ordeal. This concluded the program and the bridegroom was taken back to his bride. Throughout the whole performance Shute never balked.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

Oklahoma Man Buys Large Tract of Land For the Mennonites

T. W. Crow Gets Six Hundred Acres to Be Held for Colony of Russian Farmers.

CARLSBAD, N. M., June 2.—(Special.)—A deal has just been closed under the United States reclamation service project here by which T. W. Crow of Oklahoma City purchases 600 acres of land for a colony of Mennonites from Oklahoma. The land was sold for $60,000.

The Carlsbad project has proven one of the most successful that the reclamation service has undertaken. The history of the project is interesting. The late J. J. Hagerman, a Colorado millionaire, discovered the Pecos valley of New Mexico in the early '80s. He came to New Mexico after building the Colorado Midland railroad, then considered an engineering marvel, and bringing with him several million dollars which he had made in Colorado mines. He built the Pecos Valley railroad from Roswell to Carlsbad and connecting with the Texas & Pacific at Pecos City and built the first modern irrigation project in New Mexico in the Pecos river at Carlsbad. A sugar beet factory was built; car loads of colonists were brought in and hundreds of thousands of dollars expended. The project was taken over by the Pecos Irrigation company. Disaster followed the completion of the project. Floods in the Pecos river carried out their dams and washed out their head gates. The sugar beet plant was destroyed by fire; most of the colonists left the country and those who stayed did so by a meager existence from the land because of the uncertain water supply. Then the government stepped in, bought the project and built a thoroughly modern, enduring storage and canal system. There are 20,000 acres under the project and every acre is now under cultivation. Lands under the project in the south of the town of Carlsbad and this year the whole district looks like a garden. The land is held chiefly in forty and sixty-acre tracts. Substantial farm houses and barns have been built. Hundreds of acres of orchard have been planted and the Carlsbad peach has become famous. The Mennonites who were just bought in this district are a substantial class of energetic farmers. It is probable that the government will materially extend the acreage under this project in the near future as abundant surplus water is available.

Oakland Youngsters Help Movement for City's Improvement

Appeal of Boys and Girls is Heard by the Voters and Bonds Are Approved.

OAKLAND, Cal., June 2.—(Special.)—What are the civic influences of this state and girls become effective was not settled definitely at the bond election in Oakland, May 15, but it was clearly demonstrated that youngsters in the primary and high school can make an appeal to the voters that the community acknowledges to be logical and founded on justice. The proposition before the voters of the city of Oakland was to authorize bond propositions amounting to approximately $3,000,000. These propositions were for the enlargement, purchase and improvement of sites, playgrounds, school grounds and for the municipal auditorium site and building to cost $2,000,000. Oakland is not behind even progressive cities in provision for public schools, but the additional equipment was demanded on the ground that the children of Oakland are entitled to the very best facilities possible to be obtained. The campaign for the bonds was largely made by the school children, with comparatively little assistance from their elders, except in matters of advice as to the methods of procedure. One of the features of the bond campaign was a parade of 4,000 boys representing all of the forty-two grammar schools and three high schools in the city and public school system. This procession marched through the principal streets of Oakland in the middle of the afternoon before the day of the election and attracted a larger crowd of spectators than has ever been brought together in Alameda county by a political demonstration. The result of the election which followed the next day was a vote of seven to two in favor of the bond issue on all the propositions submitted.

DAM HELPS MONTANA POWER

Hanser Lake Work Makes Water More Nearly Constant.

GIGANTIC WORKS OF CONCRETE

Big Wall One Hundred and Thirty Feet High and Six Hundred Feet Long is Completed.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., June 2.—(Special.)—The completion recently of Hanser lake dam, near Helena, more than 115 miles from here by the Missouri river course, the great power potentiality at this place. It is said by experts, has been highly improved because of the fact that there will be a more even flow of the water at all times of the year.

The Hanser dam is the greatest engineering project ever undertaken in this state and completed it cost more than $2,500,000. It provided a mountain lake eighteen miles long and thousands of acres in area. It made possible 25,000-horse power of water force, thus adding that asset to the power potentiality of the Missouri river in Montana.

The great dam is of concrete and was built to take the place of a smaller dam which was washed out a few years ago. The big dam is 110 feet thick at the base, which is fifty-five feet below the bed of the river. It is 130 feet high and nearly 600 feet long. It is made of solid concrete and is said to be the first dam ever constructed wholly of concrete. There are only six creeks of any size between the dam and this city. The Sun river and the Smith river also enter the Missouri between this city and the dam. But the flow from these streams, it is claimed, is not sufficient to seriously affect the volume of the river and that with the new dam in place the potentiality of the water power here, which it is claimed equals 250,000-horse power, of which 90,000-horse power are already available, is materially improved. When the gates to the great dam were closed the water in the Missouri river at this point, according to a standard river gauge at the Rainbow power site dam, fell one foot in thirty-six hours.

BROME IS PREPARING TWO NEW ORDINANCES

To Give the Fire Warden More Power and to Create Examining Board.

Two ordinances, one for creating a new examining board for electrical engineers, and the other giving the city fire warden power to regulate the installation of fire escapes on new buildings, are being drawn by Clifford Brome, assistant city attorney. Mr. Brome hopes to get both ready for introduction into the city council next week. The ordinance for examiners will provide for a board of three, to be composed of practical electricians, and will be drawn along the lines of the prevailing ordinance which governs plumbers' examinations. It will also do away with the present board, which is composed of the city electrician, chief of the fire department and building inspector.

The fire ordinance will give the city warden power to force the placing of fire escapes at practical locations and will delegate him with authority to force hotel owners to change the escapes when they are so situated that they can be reached only through a room. A Viper in the Stomach is dyspepsia, complicated with liver and kidney trouble. Electric Bitters help all such cases or no pay. 50c. For sale by Beaton Drug Co.

NEW RAILROAD FOR KEARNEY

Arrangements Made by Commercial Club for Completion of Line to Beloit, Kan.

KEARNEY, Neb., June 2.—(Special.)—A committee of ten prominent business and professional men of the city, John N. Dryden, W. W. Barney, C. H. Gregg, A. U. Dann, R. D. Garrison, F. G. Keens, John G. Lowe, Dan Morris, Warren Pratt and W. L. Stickle, has been placed in charge of the final arrangements for starting work on the proposed Dakota, Kansas & Gulf railroad, which will run from Kearney to Beloit, Kan.

At a meeting of the directors of the Commercial club Monday a proposition from the general attorney of the company, F. T. Burnham of Kansas City, was submitted and unanimously voted the most tangible thing that has been considered and by resolution was accepted by the Commercial club. The plan is that the present indebtedness of the road be paid and that the work of construction be turned over to an eastern company which stands ready to assume the obligation of building the road, forfeiting a $50,000 guarantee bond if it fails to carry out the contract to construct. Subscriptions are to be paid in preferred stock and under this contract are to be refunded to the amount of their subscription in the event that the company taking over the work fails to perform it.

Plants Lead Charm. If more women realized the charming effect of a growing plant or two in the home they would visit the florists with greater regularity. It may only be a bright colored geranium, a tiny tree of stary daisies or a low dish of ferns on the library table that gives the note of greenery to the room, but the result is so homely and so altogether desirable that the women who have not already practiced this little household diplomacy should hasten to do so. Walking into a room in which a growing plant is discreetly placed, there comes the feeling at once that the place is livable, that some one who has the home love has placed it there. The plant need not be of an expensive variety, in fact the most effective ones at this season are the scarlet and crimson geraniums or the bright colored primroses. These convey the air of something living and growing that takes the formality from a room and makes one feel instantly at home.

GREEN PEA IN OUR MIDST Reception in His Honor by Mr. and Mrs. Busy Shopper. MISS ASPARAGUS FLYING HIGH She Has Been Keeping Company with Driver Hornrum, 'Speed King,' and Can See No One Else at This Time. Mr. and Mrs. Busy Shopper were host and hostess to Mr. Merry Green French Pea at the annual home welcome of the visitors from Kansas and other states of this glorious union during the last week. Omaha was just all abuzz over the arrival of these little appetizing members of the Graden Set, and you could see women shoppers talking glibly to the little green fellows at every market place. Some of the local members of the Vegetarian Clan were looking for French peas, pilgrims from the land of fashion and other things. This business of looking for things from Paris and other European centers gets you nowhere when you want things to eat. Fashion cannot shape the growth of vegetables, so even the members of the 400-or-is-it-the-40000—must eat things that are grown at home in our own little gardens by our own little gardeners. It really is a shame that people cannot get green peas, sliced tomatoes, cucumbers, etc., from the merry center of Paris. These vegetables would be so much more delicious if they came from Paris and breaded in the Rue de la Paix, or if they were shipped from London and had the atmosphere of Bond street or Buckingham palace. French Peas sell Well. These little French peas, however, to get back to American, were sold for 19 cents a quart. Not very expensive, considering their fine flavor and their power to satisfy a hungry appetite. Among the other arrivals of the week were Mr. Exhausted Cucumber and Miss Highflyer Asparagus. Mr. Cucumber was not in such great demand as some of the earlier arrivals, but he expects to get around to his friends during the week. He is sure to be wanted as an after-dinner speaker at many tables. He is good fellow, but he has his faults, so many people do not like to invite him to their homes. Miss Asparagus Too Fast. Miss Asparagus has been keeping company with Driver Ray Hornrum of Indianapolis, so it was hard to catch her. She is flying so high these days because her sisters have not been able to reach market and pull her down. She looks good to everybody, but it takes a higher flyer to get her. Some of the aeronauts were able to reach her within the next few days. Pineapples are at their best now. The Florida spines are selling faster than the other kinds. Lemons are in greater demand than for several months. Prices are very low, because dealers have a large supply. Cheese went down 1 1/2 cents lower than it was last week. Fresh eggs have not changed their prices. Butter has been higher. The best butter sold at 30 cents. This price is 2 cents higher than last price. Pork has not altered its price for more than a week. All green vegetables are cheaper, because there is a large supply on the local market. California fruits are arriving in large allotments, causing a lower scale of prices. Got What Was His Due. All the pent up wrath of Glassboro, (N. J.) bridegrooms who had suffered from tomorrow and 'jokers' at their weddings was let loose upon Raymond E. Shute, who had been one of the ringleaders in the silly game for several years. Shute was married himself a few days ago, but managed to get away by a subterfuge. The plotters were busy, however, and they 'got' him. Upon the return of the newly wedded couple to their home they were overpowered by a company of visitors and given the ride about town in the cart which had been serviced so often under Shute's lead. The bride was then taken to her home, while the crowd proceeded to work out its revenge.
