South Omaha and the management of the Union Stock yards vied successfully with the hospitality of Omaha in the entertainment of the Nebraska Press association which held its second day session Tuesday in the Live Stock exchange at the Union Stock yards.

Over 100 editors with the ladies of their families arrived from Omaha immediately before noon in special cars. The company was immediately escorted to the Union Stock yards, where the visitors were taken in a tour of inspection through the different departments of the great plant.

After dinner 700 employees of the Union Stock yards deployed before the visitors. A photograph of the assembly was then taken after which the ladies of the party were taken for a trip to Fort Crook and the delegates returned to the Exchange dining room for a business session.

At the session the following officers were elected: J. M. Tanner of South Omaha, president; H. G. Taylor, Central City, vice president; C. C. Johns of Grand Island, secretary-treasurer, and Miss Eunice Haskins of Stella, corresponding secretary.

At the lunch, Senator J. M. Tanner of South Omaha, acted as toastmaster and introduced the speakers. Senator Tanner in behalf of the men engaged in the live stock industry, the local newspaper men, the South Omaha Commercial club, the bankers, merchants and citizens in general extended the visiting editors a most cordial welcome to South Omaha.

Mr. Tanner emphasized the fact that the Union Stock yards was one of the greatest industries of its kind in the world and asked the guests to lend their efforts in building up a great business center in the state. He concluded with the statement that if the newspapers and newspaper men of the state would support the movement all competitors in the live stock industry would follow where Nebraska led the way.

James McCulloch, editor of the Journal-Stockman, was then introduced. Mr. McCulloch paid a high tribute to the womanhood of the state, whom he said, had done their full part in making Nebraska what it is today.

James H. Van Dusen, in a neat speech, paid a tribute to the honorable profession of the press, of which he said, he had at that time been a member. Mr. Van Dusen offered an eloquent tribute to the name of George L. Miller, former editor of the Omaha Herald, of whom the speaker said he was a fearless advocate of the principles in which he believed.

The speaker insisted that the responsibility resting on a newspaper man to speak what is true is a duty that if the newspapers and newspaper men of the state would support the movement all competitors in the live stock industry would follow where Nebraska led the way.

WOOL BILL IN THE HOUSE

Measure Reported by Democrats of Ways and Means Committee.

PRESIDENT TAFT IS CRITICIZED

Executive Told that His Disapproval of Wool Schedule Would Have Done Some Good Had It Come Earlier.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Sharply criticizing President Taft, the republicans and the tariff board, the report on the Underwood wool bill was submitted to the house of representatives today by the democratic members of the ways and means committee.

On entering on his work in that line he had decided, Plass wrote, to help professional men to help professional men invest funds. He requested the witness to read the pamphlets enclosed in the letter and to let him know what he thought of the proposition.

The report deals at some length with the attitude of the administration in not communicating to congress data on the "steel trust" and other industries now being investigated, and the failure of the tariff board to communicate data on the woolen industry.

The report maintains that any further delay in the revision of the wool schedule would be objectionable to the public. In explaining the determination of the committee not to put raw wool on the free list, but to reduce the present duty to 20 per cent ad valorem, the committee insists that the act of the democratic caucus "is not to be considered as an abandonment of any democratic policy."

Revenue is Needed. "The present situation of the treasury," the report states, "following a long course of unwarranted extravagance by the republican party and the appropriations already made by the Sixty-first congress, which the democratic party could not limit, require that the revenue from customs duties in the immediate future be maintained at approximately the total of the fiscal year 1910."

The committee states that there is no sufficient reason for continuing the complicated and troublesome system of classification of raw wools, characterizing it as a "great burden and annoyance to the customs service and adding to the expense of collecting duties on raw wools."

Class Wanted to Help Professional Men Invest Funds

Third Minister Testifies in Trial of Former Preacher Charged with Misuse of the Mails.

BOSTON, June 6.—College presidents and professional men generally invest their money judiciously for the reason that they are thoroughly absorbed in their professional work and do not take time to look into investments.

This is the sentiment alleged to have been written by the Rev. Norman Plass, head of the Redeemable Investment company, to the Rev. George E. Ladd of Colorado in 1908. Mr. Ladd, the third clergyman who testified against the Redeemable company, was on the witness stand at the opening of the second week of the trial of the mail fraud charges preferred by the postal authorities against three officers of the company in the United States district court today.

On entering on his work in that line he had decided, Plass wrote, to help professional men to help professional men invest funds. He requested the witness to read the pamphlets enclosed in the letter and to let him know what he thought of the proposition.

EXPECT TO AMEND RECIPROcity BILL

Senate Finance Committee Will Probably Adopt Change in Paper and Wood Pulp Section.

MR. ROOT'S IDEA IS FAVORED

Probably Will Be Used in Some Modified Form.

TEN-TO-FIVE VOTE IS LIKELY

Bailey, Simmons and Johnson Will Join Republicans.

FINAL CONSIDERATION TODAY

It Raises Question of Dominion's Authority Over Provinces and May Result in Defeat of the Agreement.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—Hope of the administration that the finance committee would report the Canadian reciprocity bill unamended were dashed today, when after a brief executive session of the committee it was learned that the Root amendment to the paper and wood pulp section probably would be adopted in modified form.

It was said that in addition to seven republican members of the committee, Senators Bailey, Simmons and Johnson, democrats, would vote for the amendment; while Senators Penrose and Cullom are declared to be with the three democrats in opposition, thus presenting the adoption of the amendment by a vote of ten to five.

Final consideration of the measure will be begun by the committee tomorrow. The amendment offered by Senator Root provides that the paper and wood pulp section of the bill shall "not be" in force until the president "shall have satisfactory evidence and shall make proclamation that such wood pulp, paper and board, being products of the United States, are admitted into all the provinces of Canada free of duty."

It is contended by the opponents that the amendment raising the question of the Dominion government's jurisdiction over the provinces will endanger the measure, a contention that is refuted by those who believe in the provision.

The modification of the amendment may have an important bearing on the situation. Secretary of State Knox was supposed to appear before the committee to explain the agreement between the two governments, but was prevented, he sent word, by important engagements. The secretary said he had forwarded to the committee a communication setting forth his views.

The committee endeavored to agree on a day for a vote on the measure. It was apparent that the members favored July 15, and a recommendation probably will be made to the senate to this effect when the bill is reported. Senator Bailey suggested that July 20 be set aside for a vote on the free list bill, and that the wool schedule be acted upon early in August. No definite agreement was reached, however.

The committee will meet again tomorrow, but it is not believed it will be able to take final action on the reciprocity bill at that time.

Mr. Smoot Makes Charge Against House

Utah Man Says Lower Body is Trying to Cut Its Printing Bill and Increase that of Senate.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—The charge that the democratic house is trying to reduce its own printing bills and swell those of the senate was made today by Senator Smoot of Utah, chairman of the joint committee on printing. The accusation followed a request from Senator Culberson for the printing of a senate document of the report of the minority of the senate committee on judiciary on the absorption by the United States Steel corporation of the Tennessee Coal and Iron company, which report was submitted in 1909.

In presenting his request, Mr. Culberson stated that he did so at the request of several members of the house.

Mr. Smoot objected and in doing so asserted that there was an effort on the part of the house to compel most of the printing for congress to be done in the senate.

"The senator attributes a small motive to the house," said Senator Culberson, "and as a member of the party in control of the house, I am disposed to resent his charges."
