

Correct Styles in Summer Garments for Misses and Children

Hot weather brings the natural desire for light, cool summer clothing, expressive of the season and containing the essential elements of comfort, style and wear.

While this store has always been the recognized center of fashion for misses' and children's clothing, never before have we so well and fully been able to meet this demand. Never before have our various departments contained such variety of ideas—such a wide assortment of seasonable garments.

Those who intimately know our store and its fixed policies, know there is no difficulty in filling their requirements. Our constant study of their needs, our policy of a pleased customer whatever the purchase, is a first consideration with us.

For these and many other reasons, we ask you to let us first attempt to fill your needs. One trial will convince you of the completeness of our stock and our unfailing desire to please and satisfy.

Fulmer is Installed Wesleyan Chancellor

Elaborate Ceremonial in Auditorium of School Marks Acceptance of Office.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)

LINCOLN, Neb., June 6.—(Special.)—Clark A. Fulmer was today installed as chancellor of Wesleyan university with elaborate ceremonies in the presence of several high officials of the Methodist church and of the institution. The formal installation was made by John A. Platter of Hastings after the charge had been delivered by Bishop John A. Nulsen of Omaha. The exercises occurred in the Wesleyan auditorium.

The formal installation ceremony by President Platter included the presentation to the chancellor of the plan of agreement under which the university was formed, the charter and the keys of the university. In making the presentation President Platter spoke briefly of the university and of its incoming head.

Chancellor Fulmer has had many years of experience as a school man in Nebraska. Born in Mancelona, N. Y., April 23, 1871, he attended the public schools there until 1888, removing then with his parents to a farm near Gibbon, Neb. He finished the tenth grade in the Gibbon high school and attended the Nebraska Baptist seminary for two years. He then went to Fremont normal school, from which he graduated in 1892. In 1893 he received the degree of bachelor of arts from Nebraska Wesleyan university, and in 1895 that of master of arts from the University of Nebraska.

The new chancellor taught school for three terms in Buffalo county and one semester at Gibbon. He then became principal of the Gibbon high school, which position he held three and one-half years. Later he was superintendent of the public schools at Edgar for six years, at Fairbury city for five years, and at Beatrice for five years. He left the latter place to become dean of the liberal college of Wesleyan university in June, 1908.

FREIGHT RATES COME UP BEFORE RAILWAY BOARD

Final Hearing in Matter of General Classification—Place Looking After Steel Culverts.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)—LINCOLN, June 6.—(Special.)—The final hearing in the matter of the general classification of the western classification No. 41 began today before the State Railway commission. Classification No. 41 is being used as a basis of action in the hearing which is being attended by several commercial club representatives, many freight agents and a few shippers over the state. As the list of rates were gone over, those which were not objected to were adopted but where there were objections they were taken under consideration by the commission and will be acted upon in the future by that body. State Senator Platter of Wahoo, who is engaged in the manufacture of steel culverts, was present and made strenuous objection to the difference between steel and cement culverts. The former at the present time take four cents with a minimum of ten tons per carload while cement takes four classes lower with 20,000 pounds minimum. In Iowa Senator Platter asserted, steel takes one class lower than in Nebraska.

The proposal to increase rabbit metal from fourth to third class, less than car loads, was discussed by J. M. Gault of the Omaha Commercial club. He said he had no objection to the change, but he suggested that solder should be reduced from second to third class, less than car load. He said there was a small basket factory in Omaha and he would investigate to ascertain whether or not the proposed increase in rating of less than car loads from double first class to four times first class would injure the factory's business.

An employee of the commission submitted to it memorandum showing the differences between the classification No. 44 and No. 50. Commenting on the memorandum sheet, the commission's agent said: "This sheet showed 375 differences, 135 of which were covered by the slips in the well prepared copy of No. 50, and 240 were dropped by accepting No. 50. A number of the 125 slips are shown in the call for the meeting. A typewritten sheet for ready reference has been prepared showing the slips mentioned."

No. 44 has 1,000 carload rates; 856 of these carry a higher minimum than proposed for the new classification and 1,110 the same as authorized in No. 50. A number on which No. 50 is higher is made up as follows: 30,000 pounds, 48 items; 35,000 pounds, 25 items; 40,000 pounds, 17 items; 22,000 pounds, 1 item; 20,000 pounds, 35 items; miscellaneous under 20,000 pounds, 1 item. "There have been 123 new carload items added since No. 44 was published. Some of these are car ratings for articles that had only less carload rates before; the others are car ratings for articles that are new to the classification, as for example, airplanes, flying machines, new chemicals, etc. In considering these latter additions, we have checked them as far as acceptable with the exception of about thirty, which we should not accept. The 30,000 and 35,000 and 40,000 pounds for fourth and fifth and 22,000 pounds for third and fourth are included in the 305 mentioned."

There is comparatively little difference between the two classifications in the matter of rates. On carloads there are thirty-five instances, four of which were accepted and thirty-one rejected because they were higher than No. 44. On L. C. there were but twenty-five differences; fifteen were accepted and ten rejected for the same reason.

Ashland High School Alumni Have a Feast

Old Schoolmates Gather for an Evening of Pleasant Reunion.

ASHLAND, Neb., June 6.—(Special.)—One of the most pleasant social functions held in Ashland for many years was the first annual meeting of the Ashland High School Alumni association, held at the old Baptist church Saturday evening. One hundred and twenty former graduates of the school and their friends sat down to the banquet table. The room was tastefully decorated in blue and white bunting, the colors of the high school. A four-course menu was served.

George L. Scott was toastmaster and the first response was by M. C. C. B. Fierol, president of the association. Secretary Earl E. Butt read a number of interesting letters from absent alumni, following which H. A. Wiggenshorn gave a comparison of school life as it is today and when he attended school. Mrs. T. C. Parks, one of Ashland's first graduates, gave some reminiscences of early school days. Miss Oona Wagner followed and Miss Cora O'Donnell of Kearney, a former principal of the Ashland high school, was the next speaker. Ralph K. Hays' response was on "Cranks," and Hon. A. B. Fuller gave the early history of educational matters in and around Ashland.

An interesting letter was read from Prof. Hugh Dobbs of Beatrice, telling of the school as it was at the time he presided over it. It was during his administration, thirty-two years ago, that Miss Bell graduated. Mrs. Fierol then followed with "Words of Gratitude" and the business announcements of the association.

Lincoln Officers Win Case. TUCUMSEH, Neb., June 6.—(Special Telegram.)—In the damage case of Dr. J. G. Neff of Sterling against Frederick Rickards and James Malone, former police officers of Lincoln, and Jay C. Moore of Tucumseh, former county attorney, Judge L. M. Pemberton in the district court here today sustained a motion for a directed verdict made by the attorneys for the defense and directed a verdict against Neff. Neff will have to pay the costs.

GREEN SUCCEEDS W. I. SMITH

Republican Defeats Democrat in Ninth Iowa District by 1,124

CALLED BLOW TO RECIPROCITY

W. F. Cleveland, Democrat, Beaten by Audubon County Judge in Campaign in Which Issue is Canadian Agreement.

Judge W. R. Green, republican, of Audubon county was Monday elected to succeed Judge Walter I. Smith as congressman from the Ninth Iowa district by a plurality of 1,124, according to nearly complete returns. Judge Green defeated W. F. Cleveland, democrat, of Harlan, Shelby county.

The result of the election is hailed as a blow to the Canadian reciprocity agreement by the opponents of that measure. Senator Cleveland had counted definitely on the treaty, while Judge Green, although supported by the progressive republicans, denounced it.

Members of the National Grange were influential in determining the result in many counties. In Center township, Pottawattamie county, which has always been strongly democratic, the grange element was so strong that it went over to the republican column.

Judge Green all through the campaign was in personal touch with the voters, having sent out over 12,000 personal letters to voters all over the district. Senator Cleveland only carried two counties by a majority of 28. Cass was the banner county for the judge, rolling up a majority of 42 and Pottawattamie gave him 47. Harrison and Mills were the only other two counties which went for Cleveland, by majorities of 49 and 39 respectively.

Judge Green had easy sailing in his own county of Audubon, which he carried by a majority of 28. Cass was the banner county for the judge, rolling up a majority of 42. Montgomery gave the judge 52 and Guthrie 33. His smallest vote was in Adair, which he carried by a majority of 160. The vote was especially light in that county.

Judge, the socialist candidate, pulled the regular vote of approximately 24. The final returns had not all been received at midnight, there being a few precincts missing, but as the vote is always light from them, the result will not be affected. Two years ago Judge Walter I. Smith received a total vote of 23,215, as against 17,861 for George Spencer, the democratic candidate.

Last year Judge Smith was elected over Senator Cleveland by a plurality of 1,547, the vote being 18,763 and Cleveland 16,918. Smith subsequently resigning to accept appointment to the federal bench.

C. C. Rosewater on "Advertising."

When the business session convened Charles C. Rosewater, general manager of the Omaha Bee, took up the subject of "Advertising." Mr. Rosewater went into practical details of the business, and his address was listened to with close attention. The speaker said that while the association had a social side, it was certainly not the main object of the delegates. He declared that newspapers live by their advertising, no matter how high their editorial ideals may be. Advertising was a matter of paramount importance and the possible source for a large amount of revenue to any publisher.

Mr. Rosewater discussed rates of newspapers and country newspapers in particular. He insisted on the maintenance of a flat rate, even in the face of greater business at lower rates. He quoted copiously from the leading advertising agencies of the country in support of his position.

If advertising companies found fault with country newspapers, the speaker urged that the country newspaper study the cause of the objection raised against them and benefit thereby. If publishers always pay, a remedy for all the ills confronting publishers today is plenty of good backbones. He defined advertising as the repetition of one or similar things covering a considerable period of time.

Analysing his definition, he pointed out the relation between the newspaper and the trade markets, either retail or wholesale. He spoke of the power of a newspaper man from either a moral or commercial standpoint, and declared that his strength came from the fact that he could say some things frequently and during a considerable period of time. He closed with a paraphrase from the Latin, which he rendered: "Powerful is the publisher if he only realize his power."

Maupin for Publicity.

Will M. Maupin of Lincoln read a paper entitled "Nebraska as it Should be Known." The paper was replete with information on the state and closed with a poem.

At the election of officers for the coming year, J. M. Tanner was nominated for the presidency by Ross Hammond and the motion was seconded by Will Maupin.

A call vote showed unanimity and Mr. Tanner made a speech expressing his appreciation of the honor.

For vice president, Charles A. Ready of May Center was nominated and H. G. Taylor of Central City. Mr. Taylor was elected by a vote of 50 to 34.

C. C. Johns of Grand Island was re-elected as secretary treasurer and Miss Eunice Hawkins of Stella as corresponding secretary.

Several motions in favor of the publicity for the next year of any year, by rule of the association forbidding interference in questions of a political nature. Will Maupin put the association on record as favoring a bureau of publicity and reform. Discussing the next meeting place Will Campbell of the Omaha Commercial club extended a hearty welcome to the visitors for the next year of any year. By rule of the organization the next meeting must be held in the state capital.

Last night at the Field club the association was entertained at the Field club by the Commercial club.

EDITORS HAVE A BUSY DAY

Listen to Several Interesting Papers from Well Known Writers.

Almost 100 of the editorial and business managers of Nebraska newspapers were assembled Tuesday morning for the second day of the Nebraska Press association convention. Sheridan Hughes, president of the national association, spoke upon the present attitude of the postal department. Mr. Plough, who is a very popular leader among newspaper men, was a member of the national committee which went to Washington to investigate the question of the printing of envelopes by the government and the raising of postal rates on published matter. He described the methods in use for printing envelopes and voiced the protest of publishers generally against any increase in postal rates on second-class matter.

Miss Eunice Hawkins, editor of the "Press" of Stella, one of the woman editors who have been successful in their work, spoke of the ideals of small town newspaper work and made a plea for a higher standard.

"The editor of a newspaper should keep up the dignity of the publication," she said, "by insisting upon respect for the business ideas of the work, and people should be taught to pay for what they get in a newspaper."

Arthur V. Shaffer of Shaffer's Record of Alma spoke of "Personality in the Business." At 12:30 today the business of the memorial committee, did not give his report, as further proceedings were postponed to the afternoon session.

FIRE RECORD.

Oxford Store Damaged.

OXFORD, Neb., June 6.—(Special Telegram.)—At 12:30 today the basement of the large general store of the Leaback Mercantile company was found to be on fire. The volunteer fire department prevented the fire from reaching the upper floors. A lighted match or cigar stub dropped from the sidewalk in the rear of the store, was the origin. The loss is estimated at $5,000, fully covered by insurance.

Brakeman Seriously Hurt.

RAVENNA, Neb., June 6.—(Special.)—D. C. Lysinger, a brakeman on a freight train running east, was very seriously injured about 9 o'clock Saturday morning at Hazard, second station west of here. Mr. Lysinger climbed down the side of the car to receive a message from the station agent, which the engineer had failed to catch. In some manner he fell from the train and one leg was run over. The company's physician was hurried from here by special train and the injured man taken to the Grand Island hospital. The arm and leg were amputated, and the patient is in a dangerous condition. He was about 21 years of age, unmarried and lived in Ravenna. He has a brother here, also a brakeman, and other relatives in Hamilton county.

Charles F. Showalter is Exonerated of Blame for Death of O. O. Taylor.

Swarms of bugs along the country road were partly responsible for the killing of O. O. Taylor, who was fatally injured in a collision between his motor cycle and an automobile driven by C. F. Showalter, five miles west on the Dodge road late Sunday night.

Several witnesses to the accident testified at the inquest before Coroner Crosby yesterday afternoon that as Taylor came riding down the hill he held his head down to protect his eyes from the bugs, and consequently failed to observe the lights of the auto approaching from the opposite direction.

C. F. Showalter, manager of the Acme Auto company, testified that he had seen Taylor's motor cycle coming down the hill a mile away, but that the foremost rider, who carried no light, did not pay any attention to the auto lamps and plunged right into his machine, which was moving at the rate of about sixteen miles an hour, on the right side of the road. Taylor died less than four hours after having been taken to the Clarkson Memorial hospital.

The jury returned a verdict of death from injuries accidentally received and exonerated Mr. Showalter from all blame in the matter. The body of the cyclist was taken by his father and sent last night to Richards, Mo., where the funeral will be held.

FARMER WOULD WELCOME RAIN

Absence of the Cut Worm Gives Assurance of Exceptionally Fine Stand of Corn.

"Need rain," is the brief comment of every farmer of Nebraska now, when asked as to crop conditions. "No damage has been done yet," each one will say, "except for possibly a little burning out of wheat, but rain is needed badly."

Corn has advanced rapidly during the last week, it being true blue corn weather. But the excessive heat of the sun and the not too wet soil has brought the ground to a condition when rain in the next two days will be very beneficial.

On the other hand, if the ground had been full of moisture before the hot spell came the rays of the sun concentrated on the damp ground around the corn stalks would have scalded the corn in a short time.

The outcrop, the bare of the farmer's life, has not made its appearance this year.

is in many former seasons, and as a result of the absence of the pest there is an exceptionally fine stand of corn throughout

Davidson Accepts Washington's Offer

Will Become Superintendent of Public Schools at Nation's Capital This Year.

Dr. W. M. Davidson has accepted the offer made by the board of education of Washington, D. C.

He arrived at a decision last evening at 1 o'clock and immediately sent his acceptance by telegraph to Captain Oyster, president of the Washington board.

He has been elected for three years at a salary of $5,000 annually. The same figure was met by the Omaha board, which tried every means within its power to hold the educator here. Dr. Davidson deliberated long over the proposition, deciding in the end that Washington offered him greater opportunities for advancement.

Dr. Davidson has not yet made up his mind as to when he will leave Omaha. His office here expires at the end of the school year in August. He will probably not go to Washington before that time, though in the interim he will arrange for his future residence.
