MARTIN HITS COURT DECREE Commencement

Attorney General of Nebraska Arraigns Rate Decisions.

SAYS STRIKE AT TWO-CENT LAW Addressing Lincoln Commercial Club, State Official Declares Sanborn Decision is Revolutionary in

Ita Entire Effect.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, June 10 .- (Special Telegram.) Recent decisions by federal courts in railroad rate cases and involving what Governor Aldrich and others of the state administration believe is encroachment of powers of the states were scathingly arraigned by Attorney General Grant G, Martin today in a noon-day address before the Lincoln Commercial club.

The state official took for the theme of his discourse the Sanborn decision in the Minnesota rate cases wherein it was decided that state authority over intra-state rates was limited because of the effect of such legislation upon interstate rates. Attorney General Martin said in part: The decision in the Minnesota rate case is revolutionary in the extreme. People Who comprehend its far-reaching effect upon the rights of the state are astounded. If congress had brought forth a measure which struck down the right of the states to regulate their interest.

regulate their internal ste in the union would have been aroused. This decision is revolutionary because it holds that the Minnesota rate reductions, though applying city to commerce within the state, interfere with interstate commerce, and, hence, violate the federal constitution. For over 100 years, the supreme court of the United States has held that the states had exclusive control over their internal commerce. During all that time, practically all railroad regulation emanated from the states and not from the general government.

"Rate-making is a legislative function," declares the author of the opinion. What nonsense to say that rate-making is a legislative function, and then proceed as a court to declare every rate so made void for one or all the reasons in the catalogue. What rate fixed by a state legislature has been upheld by a federal court? What is the name of the judge of the federal district or circuit court who has yet found a legislative made rate which he has seen in to uphold? Judge McPherson held that the effect of the Missouri law was to confiscate the property of the railroads. Judge Vandevanter held the same, as to the law of Arkansas. Judge Sanborn, sitting with others, held that the Oklahoma law was taking railroad properties without just compensation, and now reiterates the same thing with reference to the law of Minnesota. I am informed that the railway commission of Minnesota spent about $100,000 in making a physical valuation of the railroad properties; every rail and every ties was taken into consideration. The result of this valuation was presented to the referee in the Minnesota cases in the form of evidence. What did he do with it? He brushed it aside and took in its place the tastimony of real estate men, introduced by the companies, as to the value of their terminal properties. These real estate men from Minneapolis and St. Paul, fixed the values so high that any rate could be proved confiscatory because it would not permit a return based on such findings of this referee and declared him "a master learned in the law." I don't call him that. I want this master learned in the law to state the reason why he saw fit to reject the testimony offered by the state based on a large expenditure of the state based on a large expenditure of the state based on of the real road companies, which I understand to be a fact. An expansion of why it was necessary to reject the testimony of the state and adopt that it the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies of the state and adopt that the companies on this point would be more helpful and instructive than a reperior of the companies on this point would be proved to the companies of the state and adopt that the companies of the state and adopt that the Disregarded Evidence. it any wonder that the Wall Street Jour-nal declares that this decision is "invalu-able," which means, of course, that it is exceedingly precious?

There is no doubt but that the testi-mony produced by the Minnesota Railroad commission was the fairest and most equitable, concerning the value of railroad equitable, concerning the value of railroad equitable, concerning the value of railroad properties, which was introduced before the referee who tried the case. This was acknowledged by the greatest authority in America on the subject of railroad construction and maintenance. I refer to Mr. Julius Kruttschuitt of Chicago. In testifying in the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway company case on July 12, 1916, which case is now pending in the federal court of this state and involves the validity of our 3-cent pussenger fare law and the freight rate reduction law, which were passed by the legislature of 1977, this distinguished expert said.

Valuation Plan.

"I have been making a study of this question of railroad valuation for a number of years, and particularly in the last two years, and I have obtained the reports of those state commissions that have valued railroad properties and have studied them, and after looking over all of them it seemed to me that the plan adopted by it seemed to me that the plan adopted by the Minnesota State commission was the fairest of any that has been brought to my attention. The plan is contained in a circular, as I remember it, of Dwight Morgan, who was the expert employed by them to make the valuation, and it seemed to me to be the most comprehensive, most logical and fairest to both interests of any that I knew of. It seemed to me to be particularly free from attack if used in defending railroad suits, because Mr. Morgan was an employe of a state body and certainly could not be accused by the public of prejudice or partisanship, and I have found very few of his views, if any, that I could not preity cordially endorse and accept as my own.

i could not preity cordially endorse and accept as my own.

These fod ral courts have, in part, adopted the revenue theory for assigning the value of railroad property in a state to the various classes of business and in apportioning operating expenses. This is a theory sponsored by the railroads, and when fully applied is so victous in its nature that it enables the companies to defeat any rate established by a state. Had the Minnesota rates been twice as high as fixed by the legislature, still under this revenue theory the companies would have been able to prove them confiscatory.

The strong winds of the last three days, coupled with the intense heat, has had a harmful effect upon the small grain throughout this territory. Rust is apparent in some fields. They came to the governor through the department of state at Washington. They were referred to Attorney General W. T. Thompson, who was then in office. Mr. Thompson wrote an opinion holding that the state of Nebraska was in no way responsible as claimed by the department of President Schell. On the following persons ficers of Douglas county were clothed with authority to quell riots and if they did not do their duty the county should be
