GRAFF NEW SUPERINTENDENT

Principal of the High School is to Succeed Dr. Davidson.

SPECIAL MEETING IS HELD
E. U. Graff Has Been Principal of the Omaha High School for the Last Three Years—He is Thirty-Nine Years Old.

Miss U. Graff, for three years principal of the high school, was elected superintendent of the public schools of the city for a term of three years at a special meeting of the Board of Education. His salary was placed at $1,200 annually, an increase of $200 over that which he received as principal of the high school.

The new superintendent succeeds Dr. William H. Davidson, who after a successful administration of eight years here, has accepted a call to the superintendency of the schools of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Graff was elected without opposition, Member Bourke voting in the negative. Bourke was not opposed to the naming of Graff, but thought he should be elected for one year, instead of three.

After his election, the new superintendent was escorted into the board room, where, in a great speech, he thanked the members for the honor conferred on him and pledged his best efforts to keep the schools on the high plane where Dr. Davidson has put them.

Previous to the election, the resignation of Dr. Davidson was accepted. Dr. Davidson was elected for a term of three years at a salary of $2,500 at the last meeting of the board.

Was Born in Red Oak.

Mr. Graff, who is 39 years old, was born in Red Oak, Ia., in 1872. In 1897 he graduated from the Lake Forest college at Lake Forest, Ill., taking the A. B. degree. The next year he took a post-graduate course at Chicago university, after which he taught in various schools in Iowa until he came to Omaha in the fall of 1908.

His first service as an instructor were at Clinton, Ia., where he taught Latin and Greek in the high school for one year. Then he was elected to the principalship of the Red Oak schools, a position which he held with marked success for three years.

In 1904, he accepted the principalship of the Marshalltown, Ia., public schools, remaining there for three years. He then went to Rockford, Ill., and remained there until he was called to the Omaha school to succeed A. H. Waterhouse as principal of the high school.

Mr. Graff has two children, both daughters—was married to Miss Margaret Conger of Clinton, Ia., in 1907.

"The Board of Education has made no mistake in the selection of Mr. Graff," said Dr. Davidson after the election. "He is a thorough school man in every respect and will reflect honor and credit on the schools."

Talk of Successor.

The vacancy in the principalship of the high school resulting from the promotion of Mr. Graff will not be filled for two months at least, according to members of the board. Dr. E. Melvold stated that the board would take its time in naming a successor.

"We don't want to rush into this," said he. "We have plenty of time."

J. F. Woolery, Nathan Bernstein and Miss Kate McElugh, all members of the faculty of the high school, are mentioned in connection with the position. "No change will be made in the head of the German department as has been rumored," said Dr. Davidson Saturday afternoon. "Miss Abba Willard Bowes will be retained as the head of the department. Ferdinand Steidinger, appointed as a German teacher at the last meeting, will be assigned to a department in German."

Doctor Who Carries His Pardon With Him

Has His Fine Remitted by Mayor Dahlman Before it is Assessed.

When the case against Dr. Palmer Findley, charged with exceeding the speed limit, was called in police court Saturday morning the doctor appeared with a document signed by Mayor Dahlman remitting his fine. The mayor wrote that he had investigated the charge against Dr. Findley and found there was no evidence to support it.

Dr. Findley was arrested while on his way home Friday night by Motorcycle Policemen Morgan and Emery, who testified that Dr. Findley was traveling at the rate of twenty-five miles an hour. Judge Crawford fined the doctor $15 and costs, which he was not required to pay, as it had already been remitted.

While taking his second spin in the new auto Friday night the machine refused to respond to the manipulation of S. F. Nebel, editor of the Danish Pioneer, and started to run too fast to keep within the speed limit. The bicycle squadron saw Mr. Nebel riding the high priced machine on the Central boulevard and arrested the editor. Judge Nebel was not apprehended in the case.

Crawford decided Saturday morning as of an automobile, $15 and costs would be about suit the case.

OFFERS TO SEND BACK COINS

Highwaymen Tell F. E. Teller How He Can Get Property Back.

POLICE WORKING ON ROBBERY

Three Unmasked Footpads Hold Up Occupants of a Buggy at Sixteenth and Grace Streets Friday Night.

Four city detectives are hunting through Omaha for the three highwaymen who held up and robbed F. E. Teller and Michael Glanoun at Sixteenth and Grace streets late Friday night. No clue to the robbers has been discovered up to noon, but Captain of Detectives John Savage is confident the three desperadoes will soon be caught. The horse and buggy driven by the victims of the holdup returned to the Palace stables at 3:30 Saturday morning after showing evidence of hard driving. The horse is believed to have been driven to within a block of the stable and then allowed to make its way back home.

Mr. Teller said today the bandits displayed the coolest kind of nerve while going through his pockets, and that when he questioned them to not rob him of a rare $10 gold piece and several antique coins one of the men said: "You have been advertising for rare coins right along, so you can advertise for these that we may know where to send them." Following the instructions of the robber Teller inserted an ad in The Bee today.

At the time of the holdup Teller and Glanoun were riding in a buggy at Sixteenth and Grace streets. Three highwaymen stopped their horse at 11:30 o'clock at night and robbed the two occupants of $10 and some rare coins as a Sherman avenue street car loaded with people returning from Courtland beach was passing. Then at the points of revolvers they forced the two men from the rig, got in and hurriedly drove away.

Teller and Glanoun, the victims, ran two blocks to telephone the police. The emergency automobile with a squad of detectives was rushed to the scene. A thorough search of all the thoroughfares in the neighborhood was fruitless.

It was thought the bandits went to South Omaha in the rig. The South Omaha police were notified and a search for them in both cities was begun.

About $10 of the money taken from Teller belonged to the Tracy Clear store, where he is employed. The horse and buggy was hired from the Palace stables. From Glanoun, the robbers got nothing.

When a man came through my pockets," said Glanoun, "I turned and looked at him. He covered his face with his left arm and with his right pointed the revolver at my face and told me to look the other way."

Glanoun and Teller saw the men standing, one on each corner of the street, as they turned into Grace street to go north. The three holdups surrounded them, one holding the horse's head while the other two came to the sides of the buggy.

Besides the $10 belonging to the Tracy store, the bandits took a rare $10 gold piece and a number of antique coins. A valuable watch, they gave back after inspecting it.

"The bandits asked where the rig belonged," Teller said, "and on being told, said they would see that it was returned."

Club Manager Asks Injunction Against the Police Officers

Would Have Policemen Kept Away from His Club Rooms—Makes Strong Charges.

Injunction proceedings were filed against J. J. Donahue, chief of police, and Harry W. Dunn, acting chief, by Charles E. Coleman, manager of a colored club at 209 South Fourteenth street, in district court, seeking to restrain the authorities from alleged intimidation. Coleman charges that the two officials told him that unless he sold out to one Woods, that he might place his gambling house at Thirteenth and Farham streets in the room occupied by Coleman, that they would force him out of business; also that men close to the defendants offered to buy him out.

Coleman, as manager and president, runs a small catering business and a number of pool tables in connection with the club, which he calls "The Independent Political and Social Club." He gives the membership at 209, with the price of membership at $1.

Coleman alleges that for the last three months police officers, by constant harassment and threats made to members, have almost entirely destroyed his business. In his petition he asks that the police officers remain away from his place of business for the purpose of intimidating members of the club, by at least a distance of one-half a block.

U. P. BRIDGE BONDS RETIRED

County Clerk Authorized to Draw Warrant for $158,000.

ELSSASSER ASKS FOR ECONOMY

Payment of Sixty Dollars Monthly by County to the Associated Charities Causes a Heated Debate.

Bonds were taken up for the first time in the history of Douglas county Saturday when the Board of County Commissioners authorized the county clerk to draw a warrant for $158,000 for the retirement of an issue known as the Union Pacific bridge bonds. The bonds were issued July 1, 1911; they were refunded twenty years later, July 1, 1931, and made payable July 1, 1931. A warrant was also directed for $30,000 on interest.

A resolution, introduced by Peter E. Elssasser on the plea of economy, to do away with the $60 a month that the county has been paying into the Associated Charities as the salary of one investigator at that office, was laid over for a week after a hot fight on the part of its sponsor to get it through.

Elssasser argued that work was light at this time of the year, three claims a day on an average being all that was allowed, and that he could take care of the work himself.

John C. Lynch aided with Elssasser on the grounds that they ought to do everything possible in way of economy, but went farther, stating that there were at present three men in the county store at South Omaha with nothing more to do than to wrap up a few packages and drawing good wages for it.

Present, Q. J. Pickard inducted a motion appointing Frank McArtis, a farmer, inspector of the painting now being done on the county bridges. The resolution was passed in the face of strong opposition from Lynch and Elssasser.
