Omaha-Denver Road Marked by Sprague

President of the Omaha Automobile Club Marks Omaha's Share of the Route.

Hot, dusty, tired and hounded, but with the light of an achieved purpose in their faces, E. H. Sprague and H. A. Bearer returned to Omaha after an eight hours' trip of work placing signs on the share of the Omaha-Denver auto highway that was assigned to the Omaha Automobile club. They had placed eighty-one signs on the forty-six miles of road between Omaha and the Louisville bridge, between the hours of 8:30 in the morning and 6 o'clock in the afternoon.

"We found the road between Omaha and Louisville in fine condition," declared President Sprague, Thursday morning. "The farmers along the route are taking great interest in keeping up the road and their dragging of it after every rain has made it an ideal automobile highway. The grades are easy, and although the dry weather has made a little dust, it is a most pleasant road to travel. It is the one for the big intercity path. Where possible the signs are painted also on telephone poles and fence posts along the route so that the drivers of cars may in no manner become lost. Red signs ordering careful and slow driving are put at dangerous curves and embankments, and the distance to the nearest towns are on the sign posts all along the road, so that in case of any accident, the automobilist may know where to proceed for assistance."

Tylo Lyons Also Sustains Fracture of Skull from Blow Given by Fractious Animal.

Kicked by a horse, Tylo Lyons, 16 years old, 301 Himebaugh street, is in a dangerous condition at St. Joseph's hospital where he was taken after the accident at 4:15 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

Young Lyons was attended by Police Surgeon C. H. Peppers, who says the boy has probably sustained a fracture of the skull, besides a broken back.

Lyons, who is a blacksmith's helper, employed at O. S. Watson's shop, 314 Cuming street, was delivering the horse to its owner after it had been shod.

The animal became fractious at Twentieth and Iard streets and reared, causing Lyons to fall. The boy could not get out of its way until he had been struck in the face and the chest. The back of his head was badly lacerated by his fall to the pavement. He was placed under the care of Dr. T. T. Harris at the hospital.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Mayor Trainor Issues Proclamation for Sane Fourth of July.

COMMITTEE FIXES PARADE LINE

Makes Announcement of Order of Procession on Tuesday Next—Boosters Meet Friday Morning at City Hall.

Mayor Trainor in a proclamation has signified his intention of having a safe and sane Fourth of July in South Omaha and has so instructed the chief of police.

The mayor's proclamation forbids specifically the use of firearms, dynamite, smoke powder and bombs of any kind.

"While it is right and proper to celebrate the feast of independence," said the mayor, "we should none the less take care that in our joy we turn the day into a shambling through the reckless use of firearms in the hands of irresponsible persons. We should not have measures our joy by the number of people maimed and injured on the Fourth of July." The following is the proclamation:

In the passing of the year there is possible a safe and sane celebration of the true spirit of Americanism, the most inspiring to the soul of our citizenship and patriotism than the day on which we celebrate independence day, or the Fourth of July.

In this country we have developed the habit of celebrating the Fourth of July in a way which recalls the manner in which the celebration of the occasion. As a nation we have largely passed beyond the village state so that in some of the large cities celebration is becoming a very great problem, and there is a nearly universal condemnation against the indiscriminate use of explosives, such as dynamite, pistols, revolvers and ammunition usually very great and dangerous to the lives of the citizens.

As a safeguard of our people, I, as mayor of the city of South Omaha, do hereby instruct and command the chief of police to see to it that there be no use of such explosives as are aforementioned in this proclamation.

And further in commemoration of this our nation's innate day, I do urge and exhort each and every patriotic citizen to join in the celebration of the occasion. Formal ceremonies will be held in the vicinity of Twenty-fourth and O streets at 2 and 7 o'clock.

D. J. TRAINOR, Mayor.

Order of Parade Announced.
 That the Fourth will be a gala day for South Omaha may be gathered from the plan of the committee on attractions which made its report Thursday afternoon and announced the chief features of the parade, including the line of march.

In the parade will be representatives of every noteworthy organization in the city. The marshals will be John McKale, John Giltz and John Briggs. There will be decorated floats, automobiles, rough riders, uniform drill teams of different organizations and several bands. Two fire departments, including the city firemen and the packing house department. The following is the line of march and the order of formation for the several divisions, the parade forming with its right resting on Twenty-fifth and L, promptly at 10 o'clock a. m.

Mayor Calls Boosters.
 That the Boosters' club was not an impulsive expression of what ought to be was proven Thursday afternoon when Mayor Trainor announced a meeting of all the business men of the city for Friday morning at 10 o'clock at the city hall. During the last few days the committees of the Fourth of July celebration have been holding a series of meetings for the purpose of organizing the merchants and progressive men of the city. The subject has been pretty thoroughly discussed and the mayor took an initiative Thursday evening and called a meeting for Friday morning. It is expected that the preliminaries for a better celebration will be considered at the meeting.

The Boosters' club, it is understood, will take up any work for the betterment and improvement in the city. A great deal of attention will be given to advertisement. All the business men of the city are strongly urged to attend the meeting today.

Board Fixes School Budget.
 According to the estimates decided upon at the meeting of the school board held last night at the high school the expense of running the public schools next year will total $124,000. The county commissioners will be asked to levy the full amount of the $124,000. Of the levy only one-third comes to the school fund, the rest being derived from licenses and fines.

The budget is divided as follows: For teachers' salaries, $122,000; for janitor service, $18,000; for furniture and supplies, $12,000; for building and repairs, $17,000; for miscellaneous, $13,000; for interest on bonds, $5,000.

Arthur Parks Slashes Wife; Would Kill Self

South Omaha Negro, in Fit of Jealousy, Uses Razor and May Die.

Awakening his wife at 9 o'clock last night to accuse her of infidelity, Arthur Parks, a negro, Twenty-eighth and R streets, South Omaha, proceeded to punish her by a severe razor slashing. Then thinking he had mortally wounded her, he turned the weapon to his own throat.

The police found the woman in a rear room of their home, bleeding profusely and Parks, lying in a blood-saturated bed, a small child lying asleep beside him.

Both were taken to St. Joseph's hospital where Drs. DeLanney and A. H. Koenig attended them.

The woman, the physicians say, is seriously though probably not fatally hurt, while Parks may die of his self-inflicted wound.

Mrs. Parks was cut about the right side of the face and her throat. Her right ear was almost cut in two. Parks has one deep slash across his throat.

BARBERS UNITE IN EFFORT TO STOP WORK ON SUNDAY

Meeting Held at Dahlman Club to Get Men Back of the Movement.

Union and nonunion barbers last night were strongly in favor of the proposed ordinance compelling the barber shops of Omaha to close on Sunday. Senator John E. Reagan, who has been retained as attorney for the barbers in the fight for the passage of the ordinance, declared that it is legal and cannot be fought from the standpoint of illegality. The meeting was held in Dahlman hall, with 100 barbers present.

"Anything that tends to promote the health and happiness of the people is not unconstitutional," said Mr. Reagan.

"The opposition to this ordinance comes only from a certain party of irresponsible people," said C. M. Peider, general organizer for the barbers' union. "The average barber in Omaha is earning just $11 a week. That statement has been ridiculed, but I can substantiate it. This is a trade where a man must meet pauper and millionaire, poet and philosopher, artisan and artist. He must know how to talk to the highest and the lowest and base him. He must be able to talk intelligently on all subjects of general interest. But where does he get the time to improve his mind? It certainly is not in working seven days a week for $11 and then retiring to his hall bedroom to worry about paying the landlady $2 for a week's rent."

The ministerial association has interested itself in the fight of the barbers for the passage of the ordinance. Pastors of several churches will speak of the campaign from their pulpits next Sunday morning. They will help in the circulation of petitions urging the council to pass the ordinance, which is expected to be brought out of the judiciary committee some time in July.

JAILER SAYS MUNSON WAS TO HAVE ROOM NEXT TO JAIL

Fremont Officer Cited on Contempt Charge Gives Explanation of Loose Guard Kept.

FREMONT, Neb., June 28.—(Special.)—Deputy Sheriff and Jailer W. C. Condit, who, with Sheriff Bauman, have been cited to appear before Judge Munger at Lincoln for contempt of court in allowing Levi Munson, a federal prisoner from Lincoln, too many liberties, says that it was his understanding that Munson was not to be locked up in the jail, but in a room adjoining the jail apartments and was to be allowed to sit in the yard on hot days. He says that Munson left the yard without his permission.

It is said that the cause of the contempt proceedings grows out of Munson's visit to a local saloon, when he informed persons there that he had a key to the jail and could go and come as he wanted to. The citation is returnable July 1, which is the date Munson's confinement is supposed to end. Munson has been seen on the streets and in saloons very frequently since he was sent here June 1. It is the custom of the jailer to allow prisoners to sit in the yard on hot days and has been so for years.
