GRAIN AND PRODUCE MARKET Advance in Wheat Checked by Arrival of Winter Product. SHARP ADVANCES MAY RESULT Wheat Ruled Firm in Sympathy with the Strength in Corn-Buying Good on Pear of the High Temperatures. OMAHA, July 1, 1911. The early arrivals of new wheat and heavy purchases to arrive coupled with reports of hetter yields than was expected in the winter wheat harvest were the beariah failures that cheeked the advance in Wi wheat, Bulls predicted a return of the hot weather complaints from the northwest and weather conditions there will be a price weather complaints from the northwest and weather conditions there will be a price flactur for the present. Still no rain over the west and southwest corn states and early dispatches showed high temperatures, which caused a renewal of the excited buying of corn futures, each day of extreme heat adding to the possible damage to the growing crop, and sharp advances in prices will result. Wheat ruled firm and higher in sympathy with the strength in corn. Buying was of good class on fears of high temperatures, tash wheat was unchanged. The corn market was wild and excitement run high, ewing to the continued hot, dry weather. Cash corn was 1600 bushels, against receipts last year of no receipts or shipments on account of holiday. Primary corn receipts were 28,000 bushels, against no receipts or shipments last year on account of holiday. Clearances were 229,000 bushels of corn. 2,000 bushels of oats and wheat and flour equal to 200,000 bushels. Liverpool closed 16014 higher on wheat The corn market was wild and excitement run high, ewing to the continued hot, dry weather. Cash corn was \(\frac{1}{2} \) \(\frac{1}{2} 84c. Spreads between lard, butcher and bacon grades showed a further tendency to narrow, and long strings landed within a dime range of $6.30$6.40. Cost of packing droves in two instances was only a little under the latter figure. Shippers took only a half-hearted interest in the narket and purchased in all a bare 10 per cent. Best bacon animals on sale reached $8.50, the highest price paid since April.

While receipts this week give a rather liberal total the demand appeared to be lively and expanding, clearances being easy and early. Present prices are just about 206250 above those of a week ago, but bacon offerings are not earning the premiums of recent weeks, while the heavier classes show the full advance.

SHEEP—Nothing was received in the way of sheep or lambs and the open market showed no changes.

The week's total, fulls 25,000 head, shows good increases over last week's run as well as the supply a year ago and the gain is largely due to a freer late June movement of grass stock from western ranges. Right around three-fourths of entire offerings were billed from the west, Oregon and California furnishing bulk. Sheep were more plentiful than lambs and average condition was very good in view of the fact that the grass country is suffering from drouth in many parts.

On most days trade heid an even, steady course, but the trend to values, especially toward the close, appeared stronger. Heavy grass wethers with age are none too popular and have been moving around $2.55, but handy grades, mostly twos, sold largely at $4.10 and were free sellers at the premium. Range yearings from Oregon, known as newly graduated lambs, found plenty of orders at $4.5694.40, the former price buying the big bulk of arrivals. Callfornia spring lambs, fine wooled and not very attractive, landed at $4.9065.25, while toppy Oregon springers reached $7.15 yesterday. Demand for feeding stock has been lax at all times as finishers are inclined to be very conservative.

shipments of choice lambs were received ate in the week, however, and top strings acted creditably at $8.2596.40. They were shorn and the $6.40 article was prime. Demand for anything fit to kill has been healthy throughout and all kinds of fat stock show net advances of 10915c over a week ago.

it happened. Under the accumulative provision the sum payable in the event of years and it was therefore worth $57,500.

That amount, plus $1,000 for surgical fees, is what the widow would have received if a man is twice as safe when in a public carriage when he met with his injuries, or is because of the safeguards with which if he had been walking along the street and such carriers try to surround their pasa car had knocked him down, or if he had been out hunting and had been shot or a window or down a well, or been frozen. In the former list more than half were

Another interesting provision of this double indeunity insurance is that the person in whose favor the policy is drawn that is the person in whose favor the policy is drawn to can be insured under the same policy, without extra charge, although the amount paid for the latter's injuries or death doesn't double up. For instance, if a man takes out a policy in favor of his wife and adds a "beneficiary supplement" and both are killed or injured in the same accident, they or their heirs receive payments on both deaths. If, the beneficiary is under 15 or over 60 this can't be done, partly because very young folks or very old folks are not supposed to be so capable of taking care of themselves in an emergency.

This same point is put forward when it comes to insuring women. It is the company's excuse for charging a woman a higher rate than a man. They wen't issue ordinary accident insurance to an ordinary woman anyway.

The woman who is earning her living by working for salary or wages outside her home can get a policy providing for a light of the feet are very near the surface and are very sensitive.
