BAUMAN AND CONDIT FINED

Sheriff of Dodge and His Deputy to Pay $100 and Costs Each.

FOR LENIENCY TO LEVI MUNSON

Given Until July 19 to Make Settlement with Government—Merchants Differ About Anti-Gift Act.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 3.—(Special Telegram.)—Anton Bauman, p. sheriff of Dodge county, and W. C. Condit, his deputy, were brought up before Federal Judge T. C. Munger of the court here today for contempt of court in allowing Levi Munson of this city, sentenced to a thirty-day term in the county jail at Fremont for violating the federal liquor statute, great liberty in roaming about the streets and saloons of that place.

The men were fined $100 and costs apiece, payment to be made by Monday, July 10. In assessing the fine against the Fremont men Judge Munger scathingly arraigned them, asserting that such open and flagrant contempt of orders issued by the federal court of the land was unheard of. Sheriff Bauman, following the announcement of the penalty declared that he had recently gone through a financial crisis and asserted that he would not ask any of his friends for the money necessary to redeem the finest ending with the plea to the judge that he might as well be committed "right now." Judge Munger told the prisoners that they would have the extra time to make their remittances to the clerk of the court.

Anti-Gift Law in Dispute.

Merchants who are in favor of the enforcement of the anti-gift act, passed at the late session of the legislature, and another which restricts orders issued today by Judge T. C. Munger of the federal court, will come to Lincoln July 5 to confer with Attorney General Martin relative to fighting the matter. The litigation, it is believed, will cause considerable dissent on between members of the retail merchants organization over the state and those shopkeepers who have never become affiliated with the organization.

Soon after the filing of the application in the federal court here on the part of the Sperry-Hutchinson trading stamp concern of New Jersey, another application representing the Magazine and Book company of New York City, was also filed, both being granted their restraining orders today. The latter concern, while operating on a different system than the trading stamp scheme has a plan whereby they are assisting merchants in building up their trade, which falls under the provisions of the new law fully as much as the company which filed the first application.

Treasurer Will Buy Bonds.

State Treasurer George has decided to buy $2,500 of water bonds issued by the town of Keweenaw notwithstanding the recent heavy loss in the business portion of the town by fire. The bonds are next in turn on the register of bonds offered to the state for sale and the treasurer will accept them. The assessed valuation of the town is $25,000 and bonds have been voted almost to the limit. The treasurer believes the town is amply able to pay its debts notwithstanding losses by fire. The state treasurer has also agreed to buy $2,500 of bonds issued by the city of Crawford and $2,500 issued by the city of Crawford.

"FAINTING BERTHA" MUST SERVE HER TIME IN PRISON

Special Quarters Will Be Provided for Woman Who Is So Troublesome.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 3.—(Special.)—After the state insanity board relative to the mental condition of "Fainting Bertha" Liebekka, Governor Aldrich today asserted that the woman would have to complete her prison sentence if it were not for the fact that she had been committed to the state penitentiary provision should be made for her at once. Meanwhile Bertha will be taken to Hastings, where she will be kept only until the quarters can be fitted for her at the penitentiary. Governor Aldrich emphasized the fact that the woman would have to serve her time out at the state "pen" and that her removal to Hastings would only be temporary.

The following is the report made by the state insanity board to the governor with relation to the woman who has caused trouble for the police of more than a dozen cities of the middle west:

"To the Governor, Chester H. Aldrich, Lincoln, Neb.: We, the penitentiary medical board, have examined Mrs. I. Armstrong, commonly known as 'Fainting Bertha,' a prisoner at the penitentiary, No. 100, and find that she is insane. The prisoner answered all questions promptly and competently. She gave a history of her life about as follows: Born in Council Bluffs, Ia., thirty-two years ago. At eleven months of age she had what the doctors call St. Vitus dance and at about that time she was sent to the institute for feeble-minded at Glenwood, Ia., where she remained about nine months. Soon after leaving that institution she was sent to the hospital for the insane at Kansas City, Mo., where she was taken for several months, when she was taken back to the prison at Joliet and released by her father.

After leaving Joliet she stated that she was an inmate of the hospital for the insane at St. Joseph, Mo., for several months. She also stated that she has been confined in seven different hospitals, but does not name them all. "During the examination she appeared sane except that she cried and was at times hysterical. Her story of her life was disconnected, and she was unable to give a connected story. During the last fifteen years of her life she has been incarcerated in hospitals for the insane or the greater part of the time. The evidence that she has delusions or hallucinations is shown by her talking to imaginary persons and having the sensation of insects creeping under her skin. Immediately after the examination she left her cell and went to the hall crying and howling and condition and position, running from one room to another to evade the physicians and berating them because of her belief that they would not look after her welfare. "It is the unanimous opinion of the board that she is a nuisance and should be removed from the prison immediately or else suitable provision be made for her care at the prison remote from the other prisoners. The board are not agreed as to whether or not she is actually insane, but a majority of the board is of the opinion that she is insane. It is suggested to move her to one of the hospitals for the insane, at least until proper provision can be made at the penitentiary."

Aldrich Gets No Reply to Recent Suggestion

Offer to Read Paper on Interference of Federal Courts Brings No Rise from East.

(From a Staff Correspondent.) LINCOLN, July 3.—(Special.)—Governor Aldrich, who several weeks ago wrote to the committee on arrangements of the governors' gathering to be held in New Jersey in September offering to deliver an address or read a paper on federal court interference in the matter of state regulation of public service corporations doing business under intra-state jurisdiction, has had no reply from the committee.

In speaking of the matter today the governor said that after all it might be he would be waiting his time to attend such a meeting inasmuch as "all the talk here" which might be there would be afraid to speak above a whisper, for like Harmon of Ohio they are straddlers and afraid to mutter anything aloud for fear they will lose political prestige some place.

Since his return, Governor Aldrich has had a communication from Governor Wilson in which the New Jersey man executive asked him if he had any suggestions as to what the governors might profitably talk about at their meeting. Governor Aldrich's reply, which was short and to the point, stated that he had made one or two recommendations about the matter some time ago.

Police Arrest Man with Bogus Draft in His Possession—Rev. W. H. Buss to Remain in City.

FREMONT, Neb., July 3.—(Special.)—J. P. Williams, a suspect who was picked up by the sheriff at the Union depot yesterday, had as his only asset a draft for $25.00 purporting to have been drawn on the Commercial National bank of this city by Hendrickson & Son of Kansas City through a Kansas City bank which has no existence. He was at the bank earlier in the day and obtained a blank draft. Rev. William H. Buss of the Congregational church announced from the pulpit this morning that he would decline the call given him by the First Congregational church of Topeka, Kan., and reside in Fremont. The local church had unanimously requested him to remain and his many friends outside the church also urged him to decline the call. Mr. Buss came to Fremont in 1898 from Lead, S. D., making his pastorate one of the longest of any in the state.

NIHLISM SEALED HIS DOOM

One of the Most Dramatic Deaths in the History of Russia.

Some months ago speculation was rife among flying men as to the cause of the terrible accident which befell the well-known Russian aviator, Captain Maszenewitch, who, for no apparent reason, fell from a height of 2,000 feet, being instantly killed by his fall.

Light has now been shed upon the mystery by the confession of an arrested terrorist named Anser, who, by his confession, lifts the veil upon one of the most dramatic episodes in the history of Russian terrorism.

Captain Maszenewitch, though an officer of distinction, was, nevertheless, at heart an ardent nihilist and, with the birth of aviation, Maszenewitch, together with his conspirators, realized that the flying machine had put into their hands a novel and effective means of bringing about the destruction of a certain general, a high dignitary of the emperor's court, a man who, by his sweeping reforms and political beliefs, had made himself the detested enemy of the revolutionists.

The general was known to have the greatest sympathy with aviation, which at that time was little more than a Russian; hence Maszenewitch, having obtained leave of absence, was dispatched post haste by his comrades to England, so that he might return as a skilled and proficient aviator, well fitted to carry out the task allotted to him.

Captain Maszenewitch first visited Brooklyn, and subsequently left for Paris. Within a few days of commencing his apprenticeship Maszenewitch was executing spectacular flights in a rough wind with amazing sang-froid to the astonishment of his fellow pupils and instructors, and articles appeared in several English papers at the time, forecasting that a brilliant career as an aviator lay before the courageous Russian.

On obtaining his brevet Maszenewitch returned to Russia and proceeded to carry out daring evolutions over the city of Petersburg. As the terrorists had foreseen, it was but a matter of time before the exploits of their comrade would receive recognition, and, in due course, the imperial court, among whom was General N—, paid a private visit to the flying ground outside the city.

It had been arranged by the society that Maszenewitch, with the general as passenger, should rise to a great height, and, when at an altitude of some thousands of feet, should suddenly take his hand from the lever and abandon the machine to its fate.

After a few preliminary circuits Maszenewitch approached his victim, who, all unconscious of the plot weaved about him, accepted with alacrity the offer of a flight around the aerodrome.

A moment before starting Maszenewitch stepped across to the pilot, and, in low tones, urged the captain to give his word, as an officer and a gentleman, that he would, as far as was in his power, restore his passenger safe and sound. Maszenewitch thereupon gave his parole. The engine was started up, and presently the aeroplane became out a little black speck in the sky, and even the terrorists shuddered at the contemplation of the ghastly scene which was to follow. Yet the minutes flew by, and all was going well. No machine was seen to be falling like a stone through the air, to be shattered into a million fragments as it struck the ground; and, to the astonishment and indignation of the watchers beneath the aerodrome, loomed larger and larger, finally came gently to rest at the feet of the cheering crowd—for Maszenewitch, as an officer of the czar, had found himself unable to break his parole.

At the tribunal held in the city that evening, it was unanimously resolved that the traitor must die by his own hand within twenty-four hours of his sentence.

At daybreak the following morning Maszenewitch wheeled his biplane from its shed, and, climbing into the pilot's seat, rose rapidly to a height of 2,000 feet.

Some few moments later the spectators below were horrified to see the machine, for no apparent reason, dive suddenly forward and, turning over and over in the air, fall like a stone to the ground.—London Opinion.
