

EUGENE WARE PASSES AWAY

Ironquill Dies Suddenly from Heart Disease at Cascade, Colo.

WITH FIRST IOWA IN CIVIL WAR

United States Pension Commissioner Under President Roosevelt—His Own Job, Resigning Two Years Ahead.

COLOREADO SPRINGS, Colo., July 1.—Eugene F. Ware, "Ironquill," the famous Kansas poet, United States pension commissioner under President Roosevelt, and one of the best known lawyers in the west, died suddenly from heart disease last night at Cascade, a summer resort several miles west of this city.

Eugene F. Ware was born in Hartford, Conn., May 23, 1841, and when young moved to Iowa with his parents. When 23 years old, he joined the First Iowa volunteer regiment on the day Fort Sumter was fired upon, and served throughout the civil war. He was mustered out as captain of the Seventh Iowa cavalry.

After the close of the civil war Mr. Ware moved to Fort Scott, Kan., and later went to Cherokee county. It was there that he became interested in the study of law. According to the story told by Mr. Ware, in southeastern Kansas, where at that time while men were few, he spent his leisure time in the study of the law. He was admitted to the bar in 1865, and later went to Cherokee county. It was there that he became interested in the study of law.

Up to a few years ago Mr. Ware took an active part in politics, having moved from Fort Scott to Topeka in 1888. He served five terms in the Kansas senate, and was appointed commissioner of pensions by President Roosevelt in 1902. He resigned two years later.

Does Not Like Job. According to close friends, when Mr. Roosevelt offered Mr. Ware the place he declined, saying he did not like the work.

To this Mr. Roosevelt replied: "That is just the reason I want you to take it. The longer you hold the job the less you'll like it."

The Kansas accepted the position May 11, 1902, and it is said his resignation was placed at the disposal of Mr. Roosevelt May 11, 1902, to be accepted two years later.

As "Ironquill" Mr. Ware became famous for the short poems he published. One that attracted much notice was that referring to Dewey's victory over the Spanish fleet in Manila bay.

Probably the poem which brought the greatest recognition was "The Wash Woman's Song."

Automobile Comes in Reach of Everybody

Liberty-Bush Offered at Horse and Buggy Price to the Public.

The biggest gun ever fired in the automobile industry has just been set off by the United States Motor company, when announcement was made that the company has produced a guaranteed efficient automobile to sell for $300.

The car is named the Liberty-Bush and in some respects it resembles the popular Bush runabout. It is capable of every service which can be expected of a runabout, and is built with a power plant that will travel 3,000 miles. This makes the cost one-half a cent per passenger mile and in addition to being the cheapest form of transportation, it means the arrival of the automobile which everyone can buy.

The Liberty-Bush is expected to find its greatest use among salaried men, solicitors, accountants, rural mail delivery carriers, physicians, contractors and dozens of other lines of business; in fact everyone who uses a horse and buggy can get cheaper, quicker and greater service from this runabout.

The announcement marks an epoch in the motor car industry and the evolution of the horse, to say nothing of the increased radius of action which it supplies to the individual.

The Liberty-Bush is built in the Detroit factories of the United States Motor company and will be marketed through the west selling organization which the company has built up.

The design of the car is based on the wisdom acquired from many years experience in building utility runabouts. It has ample room for two passengers and baggage, the utmost ease of control and a range of speed equal to every demand of pleasure or utility.

Borzo, Union Pacific Laborer, Found Dead

Man's Body Discovered in Back Yard of Boarding House with Bruises About Head.

Joshkin Borzo, laborer at the Union Pacific shops, was found dead in the back yard of his boarding house at 23 Leavenworth street at 1:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Edna Bryson, who lives at the same place, was arrested early this morning by the police because the two men quarreled about 8:30 o'clock last night and Borzo struck Bryson's ankle Wafasky, who runs the boarding house, said she thought the quarrel was not serious.

Borzo was not seen alive when he walked out of the house after the quarrel. Gabriel Magry, his roommate, missed him and upon investigation found the man's body lying in the back yard. The head was bruised.

The dead man was reported to have been drinking last night. The police are inclined to think his death may have been accidental.

Cross Defeats Bella. The J. S. Cross team, formerly the Updeaves, won the second game of the season Sunday afternoon from the Nebraska Telephone company, by the score of 23 to 8.

The Cross boys hit the ball for twenty-four runs in the first inning, and ran the bases at will. Langer threw for Cross and allowed no runs in his two innings. Greenman and Overman also did some classy fielding, and but few bases were stolen.

Young Girls May Learn How to Handle a Needle

"Every woman ought to know how to sew. This fact cannot be over-emphasized," declares Miss Ruth Tompsett, the young woman chosen to direct the newly established six weeks summer course in plain sewing at the Young Women's Christian association beginning July 11.

The course is for high school girls and those of the seventh and eighth grades who are too busy in the school season with history, Latin and algebra to give attention to the practical art of cutting and fitting, basing, hemming and stitching.

Miss Tompsett maintains that sewing will in all probability always have the clothes question to contend with, girls cannot begin too young to learn to sew.

"Girls do sewing more naturally by starting early," says Miss Tompsett. "For the girl of moderate means a knowledge of sewing is invaluable since with it she cannot only make her own garments but also make over her old ones to conform to the current fashion. Even for the woman who can afford to have her clothes made a knowledge of sewing is valuable because she can more intelligently oversee her dressmaker. No poor fit for the woman who knows how to sew."

Miss Tompsett, who attended the Teachers' college, Columbia university, New York, and the New York School of Art, taught manual training in the public school last year. She will give a short course in drawing and water-color painting Wednesday afternoons at the Young Women's Christian association this summer.

Prominent Physician of Council Bluffs is Found Dead in Office

Dr. John F. Sprink Succumbs to Heart Failure Due to Acute Indigestion.

Dr. John F. Sprink of Council Bluffs, president of the Mercy hospital staff and secretary of the Council Bluffs Medical society, was found dead in his office on the fourth floor of the City National bank building in Council Bluffs shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday morning.

The doctor apparently died before midnight. Miss Sprink found the door of his office unlocked and in his private office discovered the body of her brother lying face downward on the floor.

Dr. Jennings was hurriedly called and arrived within a few minutes. An examination convinced him that Dr. Sprink had been dead several hours.

On Friday Dr. Sprink ate some greasy food and drank a number of glasses of soda water at the Clark drug store, causing an acute attack of indigestion. It is believed that this attack and the intense heat of the evening brought about heart weakness that caused his death.

Dr. Sprink was 32 years old and was born in Council Bluffs. He received his early education in the public schools and received a degree of bachelor of arts at St. Benedict's college in Atchison, Kan., in 1898. In 1906 he completed his medical course at Creighton university, graduating with high honors. He was unmarried and made his home with his sister. He is survived by his three sisters, Mrs. August Spies of Columbus, Neb.; Mrs. P. J. Emig of Omaha and Miss Helen of this city. The funeral will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from St. Peter's Catholic church.

To relieve R. E. Stewart as superintendent of the Nebraska School for the Deaf and to install the oral system, Prof. F. W. Booth arrived in Omaha last Friday afternoon from Washington, D. C.

Prof. Booth is of the belief that the sign language which is now in use will soon be displaced all over the country by the oral system. He explains that the training of the deaf to read the oral system which is merely reading the movements of the lips of the deaf is moved to a higher degree of scholarship.

Prior to coming to Omaha Mr. Booth was a teacher and a department superintendent in the Pennsylvania School for the Deaf. He was also connected with the Volta bureau.

AFFAIRS AT SOUTH OMAHA

Gas Peters, Driver for Ice Company, Dies of Heat Prostration.

PRIEST TO HOLD FIRST MASS

Miss Anna R. Campbell Dies at St. Joseph's Hospital, Following Recent Operation—Magic City Gossip.

Gas Peters, residing at Twenty-sixth and Q streets, a driver for the South Omaha Ice company, was overcome by the heat Sunday morning at 11:30 under the Q street viaduct and died an hour later in the South Omaha hospital.

Peters had complained of being ill Saturday, but refused to lay off because the firm was short of drivers. Sunday morning he had covered his regular route and returned to the warehouse for another load of ice. After having loaded the wagon he sat down to rest in the shade of the Q street viaduct. As he arose from a sitting position he was seen to stagger. When assistance arrived he remarked, "I am not drunk, but feel awful dizzy." A moment later he became unconscious. Dr. F. O. Beck was called and ordered the man to the hospital. The patient never regained consciousness.

Peters was about 30 years of age. He leaves a wife, Deputy Coroner Larkin took charge of the body. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Will Celebrate First Mass. Rev. James P. McMahon, a newly ordained priest and a native of South Omaha celebrated his first mass this morning at St. Bridget's church at 9:30 o'clock.

For the occasion elaborate preparation had been made by the pastor, Father T. O'Callaghan, and the parishioners. It was in St. Bridget's church twenty-three years ago that Father McMahon was baptized. His father, James P. McMahon, is foreman at the Cudahy packing house. The young priest was ordained in St. Louis last Friday by Bishop James J. Glendon.

At the ceremonies this morning the following clergymen participated: Revs. James Ahern, T. O'Callaghan, Charles Mullan, J. F. Hennessy and T. J. Flanagan. Rev. D. W. Moriarty of Benson will preach the sermon.

Would Tame Auto Drivers. Mayor Trainor and Councilman Jack Walters are one on the proposition of putting some restraint upon reckless automobile drivers in South Omaha. City Attorney Murphy, it is understood, has under consideration an ordinance relating to the speed limit in the city.

The mayor will insist upon motorists using some kind of horn or warning when crossing corners. It has gotten so of late that drivers come and go at top speed without sound of horn or siren. This is particularly dangerous at the street crossings where the light is bad. It is expected that the matter will be brought to the notice of the council and chief of police.

Miss Anna R. Campbell Dies. Miss Anna R. Campbell of 324 Madison street died Sunday noon at St. Joseph's hospital following an operation for the removal of a tumor. Miss Campbell, who was 22 years of age, resided with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James C. Campbell. Recently Miss Campbell was called to Arkansas to nurse her sister who is ill. Three days after her arrival at the home of her sister she was taken ill. She returned home and was sent to the hospital, where she died. Miss Campbell is survived by her parents and a number of sisters. Awaiting the arrival of relatives from New York City and elsewhere, the funeral arrangements have not been made.

Amusements

"The Belle of Richmond" at the Gayety.

The Ingraham Stock company began the closing week of its summer season at the Gayety yesterday, playing "The Belle of Richmond" as its farewell. Although the heat was intense the audience ignored it completely, so closely did they follow the action of the play.

"The Belle of Richmond" is a melodrama with a plot that is old enough in many of its details, but with a denouement that has a refreshing note. The villain instead of being visited with any of the usual penalties, is told to go out and make a new start for himself and given the means with which to do it.

Gerald Gordon and William Omond, the former a young lawyer and the latter a cashier in Judge Mason's bank, are both in love with the judge's daughter, Nellie, who is the belle of Richmond. Their bouquets are confused in delivery and out of the confusion aided by Omond's knavery and Gordon's nagsmanship, Nellie becomes the fiancée of Omond, willfully rejecting the latter. This follows an embroilment engineered by Omond, who implicates an innocent man in the crime. The real culprit is discovered. Gordon makes good his rival's defalcation, gives him money for a new start and marries the girl.

Miss Fischer plays the belle of Richmond with intelligence in interpretation and charm of manner. Mr. Pollard is, of course, Gerald Gordon, and redeems a rather uninteresting role.

VanDerVelle at Rome Summer Garden. Four lovely artists and an excellent program of moving pictures are entertaining visitors at the Rome summer garden this week. The crowds have been filling the chairs at every table these warm evenings and comfort is sought rather than entertainment, but the singers on the stage are good enough to give the audience a pleasant surprise. The Hirschhorn Alpine entertainers, a women's orchestra and a man orchestra have played very good music. For July 4, Manager William Miller has arranged to give the returns of the Wolgast-Moran fight, and there will be five vaudeville numbers. The matinee will begin at 1 o'clock and the evening performance at 8:30. The garden is on the west side of the hotel where it is comfortably shaded during the afternoon.

Well-known Lawyer CURED OF ECZEMA. By Cuticura Remedies Which He Recommends for Skin Troubles.

"While attending school at Lebanon, Ohio, in 1882, there was a small-pox scare, and we were all vaccinated. Presumably from improper virus used, I became afflicted with eczema on my face, which lasted for about two years, when the affliction assumed the form of a severe case of eczema on my face, the lower part of my face being inflamed most of the time. This would blister, rise up, and open, and wherever the water would touch, it would burn, and cause another one to rise. After the blister would open, the place would scab over, and would burn and itch so as to be almost unbearable at times. In this way the sore would spread from one place to another, back and forth over the whole of my upper lip and chin, and at times the whole lower part of my face would be a solid sore. This condition continued for four or five years, without getting any better for skin diseases." (Signed) A. C. Brandon, Attorney-at-Law, Greenville, O., Jan. 17, 1911.
