President Delivers Address on Reciprocity After Spending Most Strenuous Day.

RECEPTION AT MARION CLUB Spends Some Time Watch Any Athletic Contests

TRAINMEN BECOME HIS ESCORT Escort Him to State Fair Grounds to Watch Head-on Collision of Two Locomotives—Leaves City for Washington.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 4.—After a few hours' rest at the home of former Vice President Charles W. Fairbanks, 1522 North Meridian street, President Taft arose this morning with the most strenuous day of his western trip before him. From the time scheduled for him to leave the Fairbanks home, the president did not have an idle moment.

Following the parade, the presidential party went to the Marion club for an informal reception to the members and at noon the president was the guest of the Columbia club at luncheon. At 1:30 p. m. he was escorted to the American Association ball park for the athletic contests and awarded the prizes to the winners in the morning parade.

Halfway trainmen became the hosts of the president after the ball park exercises and escorted him to the state fair grounds to witness the head-on collision between two locomotives. The president returned to the Fairbanks home at 5 o'clock and rested until 7, when he attended the Marion club banquet and made the principal speech of the trip.

President Taft chose "Reciprocity" as the subject of his banquet address. In the address the president defended his republicanism in making the agreement with Canada.

Going direct from the banquet where 500 plates were placed and which was attended by leaders of the republican party from all over the state, the president and his party boarded a Pennsylvania train for Washington at 10:45 o'clock tonight.

Busy Time on Way. With the temperature in his private car above 100 for hours at a time, President Taft hurried through Ohio and Indiana yesterday. He began speaking from the rear platform at Cleveland after breakfast and did not get through until 6 o'clock.

He closed with two addresses at the national home for disabled volunteer soldiers here. The president spoke of war, but more of peace and arbitration to the veterans. To the bankers and editors of the Eleventh congressional district he talked about the Aldrich plan of currency reform.

On the way over from Cleveland the president made nine rear platform talks. Sometimes he talked about the heat, as others he argued for a "safe and sane Fourth," and several times turned to prosperity and reciprocity. No fewer than five times, said the president, has the United States intervened between South and Central American countries and peaceful persuasions averted war.

I am not a wild enthusiast or a blind optimist," said the president. "I do not look forward to a complete restoration of peace which cannot be disturbed in the world, even if these arbitration treaties are adopted. Morality of nations improves only step by step and so the making and confirming of these treaties must be regarded only as a step but as a long step toward the securing of peace in the world."

The speech to the bankers and editors was in the nature of a reiteration of his address to the New York state bankers at Manhattan last week. "I do not know any function," said the president, "of greater importance, exercised by the government, after the preservation of law and order and the maintenance of liberty and rights of property, than that of the government to furnish the people a currency system which shall give them a constant and unvarying medium for the measurement of values and the interchange of products that shall enable business to proceed in a normal way."

Mr. Taft is the first president to visit Marion after his assumption of office and (Continued on Second Page.)

Town of Newcastle is Nearly Destroyed by Incendiary Fire

Almost the Entire Business Section of the City Mass of Ruins—Loss $100,000.

PONCA, Neb., July 4.—(Special Telegram.)—Twenty-six buildings in the town of Newcastle were burned here at noon today. It is thought from a fire started by an incendiary. Some of the city hose used in fighting the flames was burned and crippled the fire fighting forces so that the flames burned almost uncontrolled. Newcastle is eleven miles from here in Dixon county. All telephone wires are out and communication with there is impossible. The sheriff of Dixon has gone to Newcastle and some arrests are expected in an effort to fix the blame for the fire. Among the burned buildings are one livery stable, two meat markets, one bank, the Edwards-Bradford Lumber yard and all but two stores. Newcastle has about 1,000 population.

Bullet Into Prison Kills Man Sought by an Avenging Father

Prospector Olds Meets Sudden Death in Jail at Globe, Ariz.—Murderer Unidentified, Says Jury.

GLOBE, Ariz., July 4.—Kingsley Olds, the prospector who attempted suicide after the drowning of Lulu and Myrtle Goswick, the two little daughters of his mining partner, on June 24, was murdered in his cell in the county jail here today. When the officers finally ascertained tonight and will begin an investigation. The assassin could be found. It was discovered that he had gained entrance to the building in the night by means of keys belonging to the janitor. From a judge's chamber overlooking Olds' cell window he sent his first shot between the bars into Olds' lungs, causing instantaneous death. The coroner's jury this afternoon rendered a verdict of death at the hands of a person unidentified. A brother of the murdered man arrived tonight and will begin an investigation. Olds was found on June 24 by cowboys making his way to Globe from Salt River. His jaw was shot away and he was unable to talk, but wrote that while in bathing in the river with two little girls, 10 and 12 years old, who had accompanied him to Globe from their father's ranch, he had been shot by a Mexican or an Indian. He had fallen unconscious, he said, and did not know what had become of the girls. Their bodies were found in the river the next day. The posse found no trace of the person who had shot him, and it was charged that he had "assaulted the girls and drowned them to cover his crime. The bodies, when found, bore no trace of violence."

Wesley Goswick, father of the girls, was disarmed the day his daughters' bodies were discovered. As he was coming to Globe with the avowed intention of killing Olds. Olds later confessed that he shot himself in an attempt at suicide.

Sheridan Citizens Win Point in Fight

City Council Decides to Put Off Granting Franchise to Power Company for Two Weeks.

SHERIDAN, Wyo., July 4.—(Special Telegram.)—In the controversy in which the citizens and taxpayers of Sheridan are trying to prevent the city council from granting a new fifty-year franchise and exclusive street lighting contract to the Sheridan Electric Light and Power company, the citizens won a signal victory this evening when the council voted to postpone final action on the proposed objectionable franchise. The city council was scheduled to pass the ordinance tonight, but deferred action out of deference to public opinion. It is now believed that the ordinance will be killed.

HILL LEAVS BERLIN THURSDAY

Reports that Ambassador is to Remain at Post Are Incorrect.

BERLIN, July 4.—Statements emanating from Washington that Dr. David Jayne Hill, the American ambassador to Germany, resigned, has been requested to remain at his post for the present are incorrect. The ambassador will leave Berlin probably on Thursday next for Switzerland, where he will continue on leave of absence status until he has an opportunity to present his letters of recall to the emperor. These letters, it is understood are now on the way from Washington but are not to be presented until the return of his majesty from his Norwegian trip.

It is stated at the foreign office today that a successor to Dr. Hill had not been designated but that it was believed that the president had made a selection for his post.

"SAFE AND SANE" CELEBRATION

Absence of Fireworks and Noise is Feature of Observance of Fourth in Many Cities.

NEW YORK HALL CENTENNIAL Mayor Gaynor Speaks at Celebration of Anniversary of City Building.

HITCHCOCK SITS ON THE LID Postmaster General is Only Member of Cabinet in Washington.

KANSAS CITY WITHOUT NOISE Water Sports and Band Concerts in Thirteen Parks Are Substitute for Fireworks—Historical Parades in Several Cities.

NEW YORK, July 4.—The local ordinances banning every element of the old time Fourth of July celebration have been accepted the weather and except for sizzling heat New York began its celebration of the day under conditions "safe and sane." The principal feature of the celebration was the exercises at the city hall in commemoration of the centennial of that building. There were addresses by Mayor Gaynor and others. Joseph Garibaldi, a grandson of the Italian liberator, who gained distinction in the Mexican insurrection, was the chief figure in a celebration held by the residents around Washington square. The Tammany society listened to addresses by several prominent men, including Representative Oscar W. Underwood and Harry D. Clayton of Alabama. "I believe the democratic party has passed through the period of the storm of defeat and is facing a long period of success and triumph," wrote Governor Dix, who was unable to attend. "Next year will crown the work of the party by the election of a democratic administration in Washington." Similar expressions were received from William J. Bryan and Champ Clark.

WASHINGTON Without Fireworks. WASHINGTON, July 4.—This city celebrated independence day without a fire cracker or a toy pistol, the law prohibiting the sale of explosives being rigidly enforced. Official Washington was deserted. Postmaster General Hitchcock was left "sitting on the lid," the only cabinet officer in town. Vice President Sherman spent the day at his home in Utica, democratic leader Underwood was speaking in New York and most of the members of both senate and house were either at home or making addresses to patriotic gatherings throughout the country.

In the seclusion of his private office at the capitol speaker Champ Clark alternately snuffed his brow, looked thoughtful and wondered when the senate would act on the measures which the house passed over to it. PHILADELPHIA, July 4.—Despite the safe and sane Fourth of July campaign in slowly and almost immediately "safe and sane" the city of Philadelphia. The number was not nearly so large as in other years.

Historical Tableau in Chicago. CHICAGO, July 4.—Chicago celebrated its second "safe" fourth today with an independence day parade consisting of historical tableaux. The substitution of this sort of entertainment for the cannon, rocket, toy pistol and fireworks in the celebration of independence day is now an established custom here. There was a marked decrease in the number of fires and accidents compared with a year ago.

The first death due to fireworks was reported shortly after noon when Ira Horwitz, 4 years old, died at the county hospital as a result of burns. No Noise in Kansas City. KANSAS CITY, July 4.—For the first time in its history, the city of Kansas celebrated its fourth today, in sharp contrast to conditions in Kansas City, Kan. The day came in without noisy demonstrations. Water sports and athletics were resorted to as means of observance of the day. Morning, afternoon and evening concerts by thirteen bands in parks and squares in all quarters of the city were arranged by the city.

In Kansas City, Kan., the old style Fourth was observed in the most liberal accidents were reported and one baby, frightened into spasms by a cannon cracker, was dying. A sane Fourth was observed in most Kansas and Oklahoma towns. TOPEKA, Kan., July 4.—Topeka is having its first sane Fourth of July today. There has been no shooting of fire crackers within the city limits. The sale of explosives in the city was forbidden. Energetic policemen, however, erected stands just outside the city limits and did a thriving business.

Elliot Speaks in Faneuil Hall. BOSTON, July 4.—Boston's Fourth of July celebration had the aspect of a "safe" observance which local authorities have been working for several years to secure. Roxbury's celebration of its 21st anniversary led in the festivities of the day. President Charles W. Elliot of Harvard university delivered the patriotic address of the day in Faneuil hall.

The day was marked by unparalleled heat. At 10:45 the mercury had reached 85 degrees and was steadily climbing. Historical Pageant in Baltimore. BALTIMORE, July 4.—A historical pageant was the feature of Baltimore's safe and sane Fourth today. WOLGAST KNOCKS OUT MORAN

Champion Lays Britisher Helpless in the Thirteenth Round.

FAST, EVEN FIGHT UNTIL END Honors Well Divided Until Champion Sends Right Hand Uppercut to Stomach Following with Two Similar Effective Blows.

ARENA, SAN FRANCISCO, July 4.—Champion Ad. Wolgast, fighting true for a retained title this afternoon by knocking out Owen Moran of Birmingham, England, in the thirteenth round of their scheduled twenty-round battle in the Eighth street open air arena. Wolgast knocked out the Englishman in the first minute of fighting in this round. The lightweights had been going at a terrific pace up to the very end with the honors first with one and then with the other.

Wolgast, rushing the Britisher into a neutral corner in the thirteenth, tipped a right-hand uppercut into the stomach of Moran, following with two similar punches that sent the game little Englishman to the canvas helpless and gasping while the arm of the referee tolled off the ten seconds.

Round 1.—After shaking hands they closed in slowly and almost immediately "safe and sane" the city of Philadelphia. The number was not nearly so large as in other years.

Round 2.—Moran's supporters shouted at him to keep away, but the Englishman rushed in. Wolgast rocked his head with short arm punches and laved the way for a volley of lefts by sending in rights to stomach. Moran, fighting tight, kicked Wolgast tottering about the ring with a hard right to the jaw. Wolgast hid his head and Moran followed with a right round which was decidedly in Wolgast's favor.

Round 3.—Moran's supporters shouted at him to keep away, but the Englishman rushed in. Wolgast rocked his head with short arm punches and laved the way for a volley of lefts by sending in rights to stomach. Moran, fighting tight, kicked Wolgast tottering about the ring with a hard right to the jaw. Wolgast hid his head and Moran followed with a right round which was decidedly in Wolgast's favor.

Round 4.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 5.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 6.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 7.—Up to this stage Moran appeared to be the weaker of the two. They at once went into a clinch and a heart-breaking fight followed. Moran landed much the better of the wicked exchange. Wolgast crowded Moran against the ropes and Moran, making a final parried them for the first time. Wolgast, standing in the ring, landed an uppercut to the body with telling effect. Moran landed a right hand to the jaw. Wolgast shot a left to the jaw that sent Moran sprawling against the ropes and Moran ended the round in favor of the champion.

Round 8.—Moran found Wolgast's face there with the right and he landed a volley of rights. Moran almost sent the champion sprawling but he was not so easily done. Moran landed a right hand to the stomach and followed it with a right uppercut to the jaw. Wolgast started Moran with a left hand to the face. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 9.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 10.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 11.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Round 12.—They clinched, with Wolgast sending force to the body and they separated. Moran jarred the champion with a short arm right to the jaw. Wolgast sent a right hand to the face and a long clinch followed. Wolgast breaking it with a right to the face, Moran landed twice to the head and Wolgast landed twice to the body and Moran had just a shade the better of it.

Many Senators Will Listen to Lorimer Case

Members of Upper House Wish to Get Their Impressions of Testimony From First Hand.

WASHINGTON, July 4.—Many senators not engaged in the inquiry have expressed a desire to observe the demeanor of witnesses before the senate committee charged with the investigation of the election of William Lorimer to the United States senate. Their desire to watch the witness, particularly the confessed bribe-taker, who are expected to be examined after the committee reconvenes, nine days from now, is with a view to informing themselves in connection with the case when it comes to a vote in the senate. So great promises to be the attendance of these outside senators, already large hearings will be held in the committee rooms to replace the present cramped quarters.

It was largely to afford these senators an opportunity of attending the hearings and because of the committee members wanting to remain here in connection with other legislative matters while congress remains in session that the committee decided to continue its hearings in Washington instead of resuming them in Chicago, as was originally planned, by deferring that trip until probably in August. During the recent sessions the daily attendance has been so great that senators who came to the hearing room late had difficulty in getting good seats.

John H. Markie and J. J. Healy, attorneys for the committee, taking advantage of the recess, are searching for new evidence. Hundreds of letters have been received by the committee investigating new lines of evidence, commenting on the character of witnesses already heard by the committee and giving advice generally. All these communications have been turned over to the attorneys and anything that promises to be valuable is being investigated.

POLICE HAVE MURDER CLUE

Believe Bridge Toll Keeper Murdered and Thrown Into River.

NO TRACE FOUND OF THE BODY Man in Comfortable Circumstances and Detectives Are Following Theory that He Was Assaulted by Negroes.

The police of Omaha and Council Bluffs are hard at work on the theory that H. E. Fallers, the tollkeeper at the Douglas street bridge was murdered and his body thrown into the Missouri river shortly before midnight Monday. A series of blood clots on the footpath of the bridge near the middle of the structure led the police at once to suspect murder. The ralling of the bridge on the north side was spattered with blood and the cables which run along over the water were likewise blood stained, which is believed by the police to indicate that Fallers was first beaten up and then thrown overboard in a final effort to hide the crime.

Captain Henry Dunn of the Omaha police department, detailed Detectives Donohue and Hatfield to solve the mystery of the tollkeeper's disappearance and the bodies of Council Bluffs are also working on the case. Fallers resided at 201 Third avenue and was known to be in comfortable circumstances. It was learned by the police yesterday that he invariably carried as much as $100 of his personal funds with him. As far as could be ascertained up to a late hour last night none of the toll money had been taken by the men who are supposed to have made away with Fallers.

These negroes who had been seen hiding on the Iowa side of the bridge, are suspected of having murdered Fallers and the efforts of the police of both cities are directed toward locating them. Last Seen by W. A. Lary. Fallers was last seen at 10:35 o'clock by W. A. Lary, 514 South Seventh street, who paid him 45 cents toll, and the police believe that the man disappeared shortly after that time as his cash register showed the last toll to have been 45 cents.

The street car company was notified of his disappearance about midnight by persons who had passed the toll gate without finding a collector. The police of Council Bluffs and Omaha and more than 100 citizens of the two cities started on a search for the missing man but up until an early hour yesterday no trace of him could be found.

It is known that Fallers had $5.45 in his pockets at the time of his disappearance. Twenty-one dollars were found by the police in a secret drawer in the toll house. The cash register was inspected by officials of the street railway company and showed that $7.45 had been collected since Fallers went on duty at 5 o'clock last night.

Fallers, it is said, always placed his collections in his pocket and rang them up in the cash register. When his pocket was filled he emptied them into the secret drawer. Arnold Clark, a street car conductor on a Council Bluffs car, told the police that he had seen three negroes hiding behind a barrel near the toll house three minutes before the time W. A. Lary said he had paid Fallers 45 cents toll.

Fallers is about 40 years old and had been employed as toll collector since he was injured in a street car wreck ten years ago. The mother of Signorina Sentini, the singer, testified that a thief from her daughter had been organized by Gennaro Cuocolo.

IOWA MAN MURDERS WIFE AND TWO CHILDREN—SHOTS SELF

DUBUQUE, Ia., July 4.—Lestle Miller, who lived near New Hampton, Ia., murdered his wife and two of his five children and then committed suicide this afternoon. He first killed the two children with a shotgun and then went to town, where his wife was in a sanitarium. He called her out and shot her and then shot himself.

BLISTERING HEAT SCORCHES OMAHA

Official Record Shows that Mercury Reaches One Hundred Five Degrees at Four O'Clock.

DAY HOT FROM VERY OUTSET Only Once in Thirty-Nine Years July Temperatures Higher.

LAST YEAR'S RECORD EXCEEDED At Five O'Clock in Morning of Fourth 82 Degrees Registered.

HEAT INTENSIFIES RAPIDLY During Day Mercury Climbed Up Tally by Leaps and Bounds, Making Two and Three Degrees During Several Hours.

Maximum Temperature. Valentine, 100; Chicago, 100; St. Louis, 100; St. Paul, 100; Des Moines, 100; Council Bluffs, 100; Lincoln, 100; Omaha, 100; Kansas City, 100; Phoenix, 100; Denver, 100; Boston, 100; New York, 100; Philadelphia, 100; Washington, 100; Baltimore, 100; St. Louis, 100.

With the mercury registering 105 degrees Omahans dragged through the hottest day of the year yesterday. Only once in thirty-nine years has the temperature gone higher, that being 1 July of 1874, when the official thermometer registered 105 degrees.

From the very outset the Fourth of July in Omaha was marked for a scorching. At 5 o'clock in the morning the day was started with a temperature of 82. By 11 o'clock the mercury went up 5 to 82, and by 1:30, reaching a maximum of 96 at 4 o'clock.

Yesterday was probably the hottest Fourth that has ever been officially recorded here. Last year on this day it was 95, the year before 90 and in 1909, 88. The record July temperature occurred on the 27th of last July, when the mercury registered 104.

Even though the temperature went soaring to a record point the day passed with a reasonably few number of fires. This was largely due to the fact that Omahans indulged in the safest Fourth in the history of the city. There seemed to be a general tendency to discard explosives and enjoy the day with other forms of pleasures. Up to 7 o'clock last night only eleven fires were reported. The most serious fire of the day occurred at Sixteenth and Locust, where three barn burned endangering several horses.

According to reports received from all the principal cities of the United States Omaha was the hottest place on the map on the Fourth. The area of high temperatures seemed to begin along the Missouri, Ponca, Neb., reports unofficially that 11 degrees was reached on the streets there but this marking is not accepted as it was made in the sun on one of the hottest streets in the town. The next apparently is moving to the north. In the northern states temperatures ranged in the lightest atmosphere, and in the northwest as low as seventy degrees was reached.

LINCOLN, July 4.—(Special.)—Lincoln celebrated the Fourth was much the same as other cities. In the northern states that more people journeyed out of town than usual to nearby parks or groves where they might picnic to their heart's content. Those who stayed at home in the city were treated to one of the most pure and healthful atmospheres ever experienced. The nation's birthday, the thermometer at 1 o'clock registering 94 degrees in the shade and one degree above that shortly afterward according to the United States weather bureau. A big Woodmen celebration at Bennett, private picnic parties at Epworth park, an afternoon excursion at woods within driving distance of the city were the objective points of many thousands and capital city people during the day.

Woman Mayor Gets Ungallant Council to Meet with Her

HUNNEWELL, Kan., July 4.—At last the city council met with Mrs. Ella Wilson, the mayor, tonight. It was the first regular meeting the aldermen have attended since a woman was selected head of the city government on April 1. The meeting tonight could hardly be called a victory for the mayor. But two pieces of official business were transacted. The resignation of Alderman W. L. Lewis was accepted and a resolution voted for repairing the town pump was adopted. Every appointment the mayor asked the council to confirm was turned down.

Mrs. Wilson first proposed the name of Mrs. E. R. Hilton for city clerk. The councilmen smiled, nodded approval and then refused unanimously to confirm Mrs. Hilton's appointment. When the mayor named Robert Boye for city marshal, Alderman J. F. Richardson said: "We don't need a marshal. There will be no arrests here."

The mayor then said she would see that there was a marshal and that he would find something to do. "What are you waiting for?" she demanded. This question brought a laugh from the council, and then some one explained that it was the mayor's duty to put the motion.
