ELDORA, Is., July 7 .- (Special.)-After seeing his companion. Cecil Smith, aged 10 years, drown in the lows river yesterday afternoon, James Riley returned home and kept the secret until today because he feared a whipping, he having been ordered not to go swimming. Mrs. Parmells Smith, the widowed mother of the drowned boy, her son did not return, but hoped he had gone to a camp of friends who were on an outing north of town. When the boy did not return this morning she gave the slarm and a posse was organised and aided by the Riley boy's confession recovered the CRESTON—After a scorching day, when the mercury reached 110 in the afternoon, light rains fell last night and continue this morning with cool temperature, and indications pointing to heavier showers.

INDIANOLA—J. L. Brown, a leading oftizen of Indianola and a large property owner, is dead from an illness caused by cancer. His wife, a son and daughter are his survivors. Funeral services were held this afternoon at 6:39 o'clock.

CRESTON—The extreme heat during the firemen's tournament held here July 4 and 5 prevented as large attendance at the events as was expected, consequently the receipts failed of being equal to the prizes offered. Both afternoons of the tournament the heat was equatorial, the mercury reaching 110 each day at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

CRESTON—Ernest C. Main, aged 24, one of the young business men of the city, died at Cottage hospital yesterday after submitting to an operation for appendicitis about a week ago. He was born and lived for some time at Mount Ayr. About one year ago he was married, and besides the young wife, his parents and one brother survive him.

MARSHALLTOWN—Three hundred automobiles, carrying 1,500 to 2,000 boosters, will leave Clinton and Council Bluffs next Monday and Tuesday, the two terminals of the transcontinental tourist road, and will meet at Marshalltown Tuesday night, where a monster good roads meeting will be held. Speakers of state-wide reputation will be in attendance and the association which is maintaining the road will be reorganized and new officers elected. No racing will be allowed on this trip. Each car will be given its number in the line and expected to keep it. The meeting is entirely in the interests of the good roads movement in the state.

CRESTON—Another horse was stolen

the state.

CRESTON—Another horse was stolen from Creston streets the night of the Fourth. John Brown, living south of here, tied his horse to a post in front of a store while he watched the fireworks in progress, and when he started home his horse was gone, the halter having been cut with a knife. This is the third horse missing from here in a few weeks.

PACUSIC JUNCTION—William H. Smith.

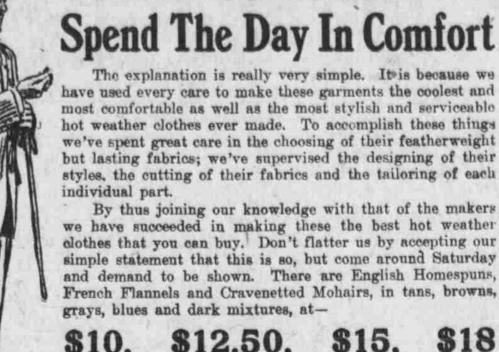

PACIFIC JUNCTION—William H. Smith, a farmer laborer living near Emerson, was killed at Pacific Junction Tuesday night while returning from spending the day in Omaha. He lost his balance while trying to board a train at the junction after stopping there for lunch. He fell beneath the wheels of the train and his head was severed from the body. A coroner's inquest exonerated the train crew from blame in the matter.

Twenty-Five Years of Success-has gained for this store a repu-tation for honesty, fair dealing and progressiveness, that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents. Naturally we're quite jealous of this reputation. For this reason we'll refresh your memory concerning the modern business methods that originated with this store.

In the '80s, when this store was first opened it was established as a strictly "One-Price" store. The few clothing stores then in Omaha (none of which now remain), predicted for us a speedy and complete failure. We, however, had the courage of our convictions and stood by our guns. What a great business has grown from that small beginning you are well aware. And today practically every reputable business is conducted on the "One-Price" system, which we established in Omaha almost a quarter century ago.
