FINALS TO BE PLAYED SATURDAY

Magee, Gaines and Foye of the Country Club and Chambers of the Field Club the Top Men at Sinte Contest.

Three Country club golfers, Jerome Magee, F. H. Gaines and W. J. Foye, and one Field club player, W. N. Chambers, are left in the play for the state championship in the Nebraska State Golf association, now in progress at the Omaha Field

Thursday morning the odds were even, or men of each club being in the running. at the Country club golfers all defeated their men except John W. Redick, who found Chambers too tough a proposition. Baturday the finals will be the big match of the day, F. H. Gaines and Jerome Mages meet in one-half of the semi-finals and "Billy" Chambers will tackle W. J. Foye, holder of the state championship title at the present time. Either of the semi-final matches will be as good golf playing as will be witnessed in the finals ound tomorrow

The morning matches of the tournament ere battles straight through. Magee and Jerome Allen had a struggle for the eighteen holes, although Magee won before thy whole course had been completed, 4 and 2.

Chambers Goes Fast. Billy Chambers played one of the best sames of his golf career in defeating John W. Redick of the Country club, 2 and 1. He drove a little wild on his first hole and the the weild pot has first hole and the best bet mention of the best bet week field club, beat H. C. Redick knew that he would be likely to be a little wild, as he had driven several balls out of the course on the previous day and he did much of his driving with an Iron.

In the professional match this afternoon there will be four of the best golfers of Nebraska entered—W. D. Clark of the Field club, David Mentiply of the Country club, James Egan of the Lincoln Country club and John Kanavan of the Fremost Country club. F. H. Gaines proved too speedy for J. B. The former champion simply played an almost perfect game and won on the sixteenth hole.

Playing in the directors' and secretary's flights and in the consolation flights was good, and many of the matches were fought out harder than the ones in the champion-

Interest is Keen.

Intense interest was shown at the Field club all Friday morning during the third round of the championsh'p play in the round of the championship play. Close matches, with the dark horses dropping out one and two up, kept the crowd in a flurry of excitement.

The question of how the end of the sound would find the standing of the two slavs left in the championship contest, the Field club and the Country club, was in the minds of every one. When F. H. Gaines beat J. B. Lindsay 3 up to 2 to play it was known that at least one of the senil finals would be a Country club man.

However, the other matches were up in Jerome Magee of the Country club, and James Allen of the Field club, were even up on the ninth hole and both men playing like fiends.

W. N. Chambers of the Field club sent a thrill through the galiery when he came in at the end of the first nine, 1 up, on John W. Redick of the Country club. Chamrs was playing a brilliant game, but Redick had settled down by that time and It was sure to be a battle for blood on the inside nine.

Sam W. Reynolds, the youthful player of the Omaha Field club, played a great game against W. J. Foye of the Country club, but lost to the older head, 2 and 1. Rey-molds had Foye 1 down at the end of the first nine, but Billy Foye was not to be drowned so castly, coming back strong in the instice nine. Clubs Divide Honors. In the directors and secretary's flights of the tourney and in the consolation the Omaha Field club, played a great game playing.

Surprises in Championship. prises were dropped on the tournament in quick order Thursday afternoon, by the golfers in the championship round. Jerome P. Magee won his match against F. Hughes, 5 up and 4 to go, when the majority of the gallery had expected at least a nineteen-hole match to settle the supremacy of the Country club and Field club cracks. Hughes was not playing in his bost style in the whole match, while Magee was steady and certain of almost every shot, missing but a few hard ones all the way around

Sam Reynolds and Harold Johnson, the two youthful experts of the Field club, had a go for real blood. Reynolds and Johnson have been at rivalry all year. Recently Johnson won a club championship semifinal's flight from Reynolds in a twentyole match. His revenge came in a nineteen-hole match, winning by one stroke.
