

Girls' Colored Wash Dresses at Trade-Compelling Prices

Mothers who have been putting off the purchase of wash dresses for the little girls, will find here in a few minutes the much-wanted garments.

It is only occasionally that we are able to place at your disposal an assortment of such smart, stylish and serviceable dresses at such easily-afforded prices.

Should the girls be well supplied just now—lay the foundation for the school outfit by a selection Thursday from this extensive showing.

The materials contributed are fine percales, figures or plain, some in stripes, also wexford cloths and French and Scotch ginghams.

High and low necks, long or short sleeves, full pleated skirts with wide hems. Sizes 8 to 14 years. The prices:—

$1.50 Dresses now.....$1.15

$2.95 and $2.25 Dresses now.....$1.35

$2.50 Dresses now.....$1.85

$3.50, $3.75, $3.95 Dresses now.....$2.65

$5.75 and $7.50 Dresses now.....$3.75

1518-1520 FARNAM STREET

CITY IN THE ICE BUSINESS

Councilman Kugel Sees a Way to Meet Exorbitant Prices.

STORE SUPPLY IN THE WINTER

Peddlers to Be Supplied from Municipal Warehouse and Prices to Consumers to Be Kept at Minimum.

A municipal ice plant to save the poor of the city the hardship of paying exorbitant prices for ice in hot weather is proposed by Councilman Kugel.

"The investment required for an ice house and necessary machinery would be very small," said Councilman Kugel.

Against Private Sanitarium. An ordinance forbidding the building of any sanitarium or hospital for insane people or inebriates near a public park or a school building was introduced by Councilman Fred Schroeder.

ENTRIES FOR TENNIS TOURNAMENT

City Tournament to Start Saturday at the Field Club with More Players Than Ever.

Entries in the city tennis tournament to be held at the Field club beginning Saturday are larger than they have been in previous years, and the tournament promises to be the largest that has ever been held.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

At Cheyboygan, a mound of sand, the foundation of the new bridge, has been burning for a week, and Monday the rising wind fanned it into a stiff breeze.

At Cheyboygan, a circus was forced to stop its performance owing to the smoke that covers the city, and steamers could not make their way to the docks.

JUST A FEW MINUTES TO SHAMPOO THIS WAY

Today fewer women than ever before depend on the hair-dresser for shampooing," writes Mrs. Max Martin, in the Baltimore Herald.

"A teaspoonful of castor oil dissolved in a cup of hot water is enough for a good shampoo. This should be poured on the head slowly and the scalp rubbed briskly.

Proposes Heavy Tax on the Dowries of American Brides

Congressman Kahn of California Has Scheme to Discourage Marriages with Impecunious Noblemen.

WASHINGTON, July 12.—A heavy tax on the dowries of American brides in international marriages, "so that the penurious but titled fortune hunters might secure but a small moiety of the price the bride pays him for a name which he himself dis-

Records of Landing

The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

ST. LOUIS BALLOONS IN LEAD

Gas Bags from Mound City Quality for International Race.

LIEUT. LAHM IN FIRST PLACE

Lands Near La Paz, Ind., Five Hundred and Twenty-Five Miles from Kansas City—Also Reaches Greatest Altitude.

KANSAS CITY, July 12.—With the balloons St. Louis IV and Million Population Club, both of St. Louis, rest the honors of winning first and second places in the national elimination balloon race, which started from this city Monday evening, and to two St. Louis balloon pilots falls the right of joining Alan R. Hawley of New York in representing the United States in the international balloon races for the James Gordon Bennett cup, which will start from here October 8.

While official returns of the race will not be available for several days there is no doubt, according to officials of the Kansas City Aero club, but that first place will go to the St. Louis IV, which landed near La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing

The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not

started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late last night from its pilot, announcing the landing at La Cross.

The altitude record of the race, as well as the distance record, is believed to have been made by Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm and Lieutenant John P. Hart, pilot and aid in the St. Louis IV, whose instruments recorded a maximum altitude of 2,000 feet.

Records of Landing. The balloons, their landing places and unofficial distances, as compiled today, are:

St. Louis IV, pilot Lieutenant Frank P. Lahm, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

Million Population Club, pilot Captain John Perry, landed near Lapaz Junction, Ind.; 533 miles.

La Paz Junction, Ind., at 4:15 yesterday afternoon, and second place to the Million Population Club, which came down at La

Cross, Ind., at 2:45 yesterday afternoon.

The sight of a bright light in the sky moving over Lake Erie in Cleveland last night led to the rumor that the Million Population Club, the only balloon not started from at the time, was absent of all. The whereabouts of the Million Population Club, however, was settled by a telegram received late