Council Adopts Plans for an Elaborate System of Street Illumination.

WYMORE, Neb., July 14.—(Special.)—At a special meeting of the mayor and council last night plans were adopted that when carried out will make Wymore the best lighted town in the state of Nebraska, according to Engineer C. H. Meeker, in charge of construction of the city's new water and electric lighting plants. The plans call for twenty-four ornamental lights, four on each side of three blocks in the business district and 250 incandescent lights in the residence portion of the town, distributed four to the block on streets running north and south and three to the block on streets running east and west. A line of lights will be strung to the Mayville road. All this is in addition to the string of lights now in operation on Main street between this city and Blue Springs, which joins this city on the north.

The city's electric light plant is practically completed and the machinery is now being tested out before being turned over to the city. The water plant will be in operation in a few days. A temporary steam plant has been built, using a pump and locomotive boiler loaned by the Burlington. The electric pump will also be ready to run within a short time. The best yield of wheat in this vicinity is reported from the farm of John Taylor, on the Blue river bottom south of the city. Twenty-two acres averaged thirty and a half bushels and his other fields averaged between twenty and twenty-five.

GUYE DEFENDS HIS RULES

Manufacturers Say They Will Be Conscientious, if Enforced.

HOURS FOR WOMEN TO WORK Labor Commissioner Says He is Simply Waiting for a Decision from the Attorney General Before Proceeding.

Rules drafted by Deputy State Labor Commissioner Guye for the protection of employees of factories from death or injury from machinery were discussed by the Manufacturers' association at a meeting Friday. Mr. Guye was present and explained the plans for safeguards which he contemplated when the rules were drafted.

"If you enforce those rules it will close up half the factories in the state of Nebraska." Two other features of the rules attracted considerable discussion. One was the regulation requiring that all belting be enclosed in a housing, by which no one could be caught in the whirl of the machinery. Many members argued that this would be impracticable, insofar that it would be conducive to fire and at the same time would prevent the free play of automatic sprinkler systems in event of a blaze. A rule requiring that doors before all freight elevators be at least six feet high met with considerable opposition, the argument being that most factory ceilings are not high enough to permit the raising of a door of this height.

Mr. Guye's regulations also include the recommendation that all women working near machinery wear light clothing and keep their hair closely coiled. The rules were drafted under the power of the state factory inspection law. Mr. Guye defended them from the attacks of the members of the association at length, saying that they were drafted after similar rules now in application in other states.

Referring to the law which gave him the authority to inspect factories, Mr. Guye said that he has asked the attorney general to make a ruling on that clause which says that women employees shall not work between the hours of 10 p. m. and 6 a. m.

"If the ruling says that this clause is all right, then I will start action against the telephone company in Omaha for employing switchboard girls at those hours of the night," he said in answer to a question that was raised.

"I will start the inspection of the factories to see if these rules are complied with within a time reasonable enough to give the factory owners time to meet the requirements of the law," he said.

Advocates Clearing House Examiner for All Reserve Cities

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Comptroller of the Currency Lawrence O. Murray has asked bankers in thirty-two large cities to adopt the plan of having a clearing house examiner.

In a letter to the bankers today the comptroller says if he were to be granted all the power for which he might ask and if the state banking authorities were similarly equipped, the combination could not equal the efficiency of a clearing house examiner as a force for sound banking.

"The banking power of the United States is approximately $21,000,000,000," the comptroller says in his letter, "a sum greater than the combined banking power of the United Kingdom, Germany and France. No stone ought to be left unturned to safeguard the handling of this great wealth."

Comptroller Murray asks the bankers addressed to communicate with clearing house associations in New York, Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul, Minneapolis, St. Joseph, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Milwaukee, Philadelphia, Oklahoma City, Nashville or Cleveland, where the clearing house examiner system has been adopted.

Thirty-two reserve cities are now without clearing house examiners. They are: Omaha, South Omaha, Boston, Albany, Pittsburg, Baltimore, Savannah, New Orleans, Dallas, Fort Worth, Galveston, Houston, San Antonio, Waco, Cincinnati, Indianapolis, Detroit, Cedar Rapids, Des Moines, Dubuque, Sioux City, Lincoln, Topeka, Wichita, Denver, Pueblo, Muskogee, Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, Portland and Salt Lake City.
