RAIN SUNDAY AND MONDAY South Platte Section of the State is

Visited by the Best Rain of the Present Season-Crops Are Picking Up.

Almost every town in Nebraska got a the entire state were reported Sunday and early morning reports received Monday showed rain over every division of the Burlington route and over practically all of the Union Pacific lines. The irrigated land in Wyoming is reported to have the best prospects for corn this year than any other place in the country. The McCook division of the Burlington received the heaviest rains of the season in the last two days, and in a few places as high as three inches of rain fell, while almost every town in the division reported at least one-half an inch. The Lincoln and Sterling divisions got heavy rains for both where the rain was needed most, almost three inches fell in the last two days, and Grasshoppers are doing considerable damage within the dry area on the Wymore division, and were doing mischief on the McCook division before the recent heavy rains. It is thought that the moirture will give them a setback on the McCook division, but they are damaging corn in an alarming manner on parts of the Wymore division. Reports from territories where threshing has been done, continue exceedingly favorable as to yield and quality of winter wheat. The most favorable reports previously made on winter wheat are being borne out by reports from fields where threshing is actually being done. Potatoes will make a good crop on McCook division where irrigation water is used.
