Poorly and Unevenly. SFRING WHEAT SEASON IS NEAR

Wheat is Nervous and Advances on Coverings by Shorts Due to Heavy Export Sales-Call Wheat is Stronger.

OMAHA, July 27, 1911. OMAHA, July 37, 1911.

The excitement created over the unsettled European political affairs between Germany and France was given no creatence today when cables came lower, reflecting the foreign sentiment. Some bullies opinions were expressed owing to the lighter winter wheat receipts and the continued reports of export trading. On the other hand bears are pointing to the nearness to the spring wheat maytest and the chormous accumulation of stocks at primary markets.

Reports on the growing corn are not very flattering, as numerous complaints are coming in of poor earing and uneven

Steady Selling Movement Causes Prices to Tumble. DECLINES RAPID AND EXTENSIVE

Canadian Pacific Off Three Points, While the Harriman Stocks Show Almost as Great

NEW YORK, July 27.—After a peaceful morning session, with slightly tigaer prices, the stock market was badly upracaved to-day by a heavy selling movement. Deday by a heavy selling movement. Declines were more rapia and extensive than had been the case in several weeks, Consolidated Gas being almost the only stock of any prominence to score an advance.

London selling and a continuation of yesterday's bear raid seemed to be chiefly responsible for today's further setback. The pressure from abroad was simultaneous with reports of the British premier's speech on the Moroccan entanglement.

Estimates of the selling for London account ran from 50,000 to 75,000 shares.

Canadian Pacific, which fell back nearly 3 points, was the heaviest loser among the standard issues, although the Harriman stocks declined nearly as much. A number of Industrials, including United States Steel, Westinghouse Electric, American Beet Sugar, international Harvester and Interborough Metropolitan preferred, were distinctly heavy.

HOGS—Seiters of hogs were able to dictate to the buying faction of the trade again today, a light run being one of the best arguments for higher prices. The market scored an advance of a big dime, all weights showing fast action at better figures. About 105 loads made up total receipts and as this estimate was hardly large enough to split up into droves of moderate size buyers wasted not time in getting down to business. The yards were practically cleared at 9:30 o'clock.

Shipping orders still played a prominent part in furnishing trade support and probably twenty loads of extra quality, all weights, were purchased an outside account. In fact, the demand was "rattling good" from all quarters, packers taking all classes with no more than usual price discrimination to show preference.

Fully 90 per cent of the entire supply sold at between $6.50 and $6.80, best bacon weights reaching $6.70. This top not only shows a dime gain over yesterday's limit, but is also higher than any top made since March, when $7.10 was touched on one or two occasions.

Miss Ruth Hegiund, a pretty orphaned miss of is years, who has been mysteriously missing since Monday from the home of her aunt, Mrs. H. S. Miss Heglund had gone to her aunt's

With the exception of a cousin who saw her downtown later that afternoon, that was the last seen of her until found by her aunt The previous week she had been suffer ing from a severe headache and had been a little out of her head. Thursday and pronounced the girl unharmed in any way, expressing it as his opinion that there were no grounds whatsoever upon which to base an abduction. His only fear is that some pulmonary trouble may develop as a result of the exposure. The origin of the fire, from which Mrs. Carlson was returning when she found her ward and niece, was evidently incendiary, a thing which is inexplicable by the neighbors who youch for the fact that Mrs. Carlson had no enemies. The fire was plainly started from the outside of the building on the west by someone who bored a hole into the casing and poured oll into it. The fire worked its way up the side of the building, which is a double frame structure, and badly gutted the interior, doing perhaps $1,000 worth of damage in all. Four companies responded to the alarm and after their arrival soon had the fire extinguished.

Mrs. Carison was out all Wednesday evening with her nephew, Verner Okel-bloom, searching for the lost girl, and was nearly frontic when she returned home at 11:30 o'clock unsuccessful. Okelbloom had left but a few minutes for his home at Forty-sixth and Izard streets when Mrs. Carlson heard a noise and saw a figure out by the chicken house. She thought it was someone after the chickens, but was afraid to go out. Very probable it was the missing girl for whom they were searching, for when she returned from the fire she found Miss Heglund lying unconscious on a piece of rug in the weeds back of the chicken house. There were no signs of a struggle, and it was fairly evident that the girl had wandered back after days of aimless wandering of her own volition

Alleging that the blocking of the road into his farm has caused him to go nine miles out of his way both coming and going every day for the last two months, Fred Schneider, a Douglas county farmer, brought suit for $1,000 against Joseph C. Reeves, his landlord, in district court

Schneider states that he had rented the land of Reeves under the condition that Reeves should permit him to go across the Reeves farm, which lies between Schneider's rented piece and the public road. Schneider alleges that Reeves has failed to keep his agreement and that as a result he has been damaged in the sum of $1,000 by having to go eighteen miles out of his way daily to get to his work.
