The Complaint About Prices

From Grand Island Independent of Tuesday, July 25th.
From time to time for a year or more, complaints have been heard as to the high prices of living in Grand Island. They pertained occasionally to rentals, but more frequently to food stuffs. Incidentally in the last week especially—these complaints have become urgent and louder, and a few days ago the Independent was requested to explain why certain articles of food cost, as alleged, from 50 to 100 per cent more in Grand Island than in other cities of Nebraska. It will not be difficult to perceive how an extraordinary, unusual, and unusual for region of high prices could injure the public mind. But are the prices for food stuffs higher here than elsewhere? Complaint was brought to the Independent yesterday that new potatoes were being sold for a dollar per bushel wholesale in Omaha, whereas they were retailing here for $2.65. Why the difference? Incidentally it was learned late yesterday that a wholesale firm here was offering groceries a car, if moved quickly, at $1.00 per bushel. But there were 500 bushels; the potatoes so new that they are known by dealers as "green" and would not "store" or keep over a few weeks; they could be handled only by immediate distribution, and on a cash basis. No one crooked felt free to take them, and retail them at $1.00 and thereabouts, though a combination might yet be made. This the Independent is informed, explains why such a firm as Hayden's of Omaha, is buying at $1.00 per bushel at 40c per bushel, while the local consumer was paying or said to be paying $2.65 per bushel. The Hayden firm, it is claimed, buy in five carload lots. The Hayden firm's experience in appearing in Omaha papers contains the following quotations:
The best unskinned sugar... $1.00
Dutchess cooking apples, peck... 20c
10 bars Diamond C soap... 25c
Best creamery butter... 35c
No. 1 country butter... 25c
No. 2 Dairy butter... 20c
Selected eggs... 17 1/2c
4 bunches carrots or turnips... 50c
4 bunches radishes... 50c
5 bunches radishes... 50c
And the Grand Island reader of Omaha papers scans more of such quotations and wonders what is the matter, if any, with Grand Island. He ought to note, first, that these prices are not controlled by "prices that are not controlled by anyone here or there" and will conclude that they are perhaps exceptional. Here or there, prices across the same experience in meats, etc. This is the quotation from Omaha referred to by The Omaha Bee article of Friday Eve., July 25th.

PEOPLE OF PORTUGAL UNEASY

Opponents of Republic Are Fomenting Trouble Secretly.
GOVERNMENT IS READY TO FIGHT
Detachments of Reliable Soldiers Are Sent to Mountainous Districts to Allay Hostile Feelings of the People.
PARIS, July 29.—Persistent reports of new revolutionary activities in Portugal excite the curiosity of Europe as to the destiny of the youngest of the world's republics. It is certain, however, that the republican government, which now seems fairly well on its feet, will offer a stern and probably bloody defense to any effort at restoring a monarchy. Twenty thousand reservists have been called to the colors and are stretched along northern and northeastern frontiers, the most vulnerable points for intruders.
Another important phase of the present situation is the unrest known to be prevailing among the mountaineers element, who is not yet accustomed to the new order of things. To measure these people the government has inaugurated a policy of dispatching to the mountains small detachments of soldiers commanded by an officer whose business is to explain the objects of the republic and counteract the hostile influence of monarchist agents.

BERLIN SAVING SICKLY MEN

Afflicted Factory Workers Find Comfort in Night Sanatoriums.
GO DIRECTLY THERE FROM WORK
Great and Costly Sewer System Finished in Berlin and Suburbs After Lapse of Thirty-Eight Years.
BERLIN, July 29.—The establishment of night sanatoriums in the forests surrounding Berlin, where weakly factory workers and store clerks may combat in the midst of pure air the evil effects of close confinement during the day is the latest novel effort of the city sanitary authorities.
Three of these "night cure" establishments, to which the sickly workers go direct from their workshops at 7 o'clock each evening, have been erected, one for women at Eickkamp and Schonholz and one for men at Johannisthal. On their arrival the workers are served with a hot supper and then retire to rest in hammocks in which they are enveloped in sleeping sacks. They are sheltered by a roof from rain, but the sides are open and no curtains are permitted to hinder the free circulation of the air. At 5:30 o'clock in the morning breakfast is served and the patients proceed again to their work. All of those treated in this way have benefited to such an extent in health that the authorities have decided to build a large number of the sanatoriums so as to serve every district of the capital.
Great Sewer System Finished.
The gigantic operation of draining and sewerage of the city of Berlin is about to be completed after thirty-eight years of labor and the expenditure of $45,000,000. When the work was begun in 1873 the capital had only 800,000 inhabitants; now it has 2,100,000, excluding the suburbs.
The total length of the canalization pipes, which are of iron and earthenware, is just over 700 miles. This includes the rainwater tubes, which run into the Lower Spree, and the sewage conduits, which extend to the municipal sewage farms around Berlin. The beneficial effect of the modernization of Berlin's system of drainage is shown by the diminution of the cases of typhus fever from 1.40 per 1,000 in 1872 to 0.04 per 1,000 in 1909.
Germany Lags in Aviation.
That Germany is still much behind France in aviation is the conclusion generally drawn from the results of the German Aviation Circuit race. Although prizes aggregating more than $100,000 were offered, only fourteen of the twenty-four

BREWERY BARON IS GENEROUS

Lord Iveagh Hands $25,000 to the King for Hospitals.
BUYS PLAYGROUND IN DUBLIN
Duke of Connaught, Most Popular of the English Royal Tribe, of a Temper Likely to Attract People of Canada.
LONDON, July 29.—King George's visit to Ireland turned out much as did that of his father some years ago. On both occasions it had been predicted that this would be trouble, or at least counter demonstrations. Neither occurred.
The king and queen indeed received a very warm welcome from their Irish subjects of all political parties. In Francis and Parnock streets, the only two remaining public streets, the residents in which all ardent nationalists, their majesties received a very enthusiastic ovation, but it is not suggested that the visit has changed the politics of the people. King George and Queen Mary went into this district to open a play center established by Lord Iveagh, the immensely wealthy head of the Guinness family, for the children of what is probably the poorest district in the kingdom.
Lord Iveagh, whose employees run into the thousands, is doing a great work in Dublin, by besides his housing plans, he is a liberal contributor to charity, and to cater to the king's wish, he handed his majesty $25,000 for distribution among the hospitals of the country.
Few Autos in Dublin.
Dublin is undoubtedly the only city of any pretensions in the west that has not succumbed to the motor car. For a city of its size few cars are seen here which elsewhere are, and as for taxicabs, not one has yet made its appearance. For general use the jaunting car is still supreme, and it is certainly more picturesque. On the road to the races, at Phoenix Park and Leopardstown, not more than a dozen motor cars were to be seen, practically everybody driving out.
The duke of Connaught, who will soon go to Canada as governor general, is about the most popular man in England today. The popularity, which was that of his brother, King Edward, seems to have fallen to the duke. During the coronation, when he, in common with the other members of the royal family, were naturally much in the public eye, the duke, who is familiar to the public, was picked out oftener than any other man and always given an ovation.

ROSEBERY HAS MANY TITLES

Lord Rosebery, still to be known to the general public by his old title, will in official documents be designated by a string of names that might almost make a king envious. It was disclosed in the official announcement of the coronation honors that Lord Rosebery had received no less than three new titles. They are Baron Epsom, in the county of Surrey; Viscount Midleton, in the county of Buckingham, and earl of Midlothian. Lord Rosebery had before this five peerage titles, namely, earl of Rosebery, Viscount Rosebery, Viscount Inverkeithing, Baron Primrose and Dalmeny and Baron Rosebery of Rosebery, Edinburgh. As a matter of fact, Lord Rosebery has hitherto sat in the House of Lords as Baron Rosebery. He will now have the precedence of an earl of the United Kingdom. The list of his orders, chief of which is that of Knight of the Garter, would more than use up the alphabet.
