country the order of a court has put an end to what gave eevery indication of becoming one of the bitterest struggles ever waged between organized labor on the one hand and capital on the other.

The mandate issued by Judge Lawrence DeGraff of the district court last night was promptly obeyed by the Des Moines City Railway company and the carmen's union, and while there is ample prospect of a fight later in the courts one thing is certain, an injunction has restored, temporarily at least, nearly 500 conductors and motormen to their original positions.

The scenes attending the resumption of traffic rivaled those of Friday night when the men turned the cars in for what many of them thought would be the last time The streets in the vicinity of the central waiting rooms at Sixth and Mulberry streets were thronged for nearly three hours before the time set for the first car to pass.
