MORE SHOOTERS AT THE TRAPS

Number is Increased to Over Two Hundred Wednesday Morning.

GALLERY ALSO INCREASES IN SIZE

George White and Joe Kosnyky Led the Amateurs to Noon—High Winds Keep Down Scores of the Gun Men.

The second big day of the shooting tournament on the Omaha Gun club grounds across the river opened with 300 entrants waiting their chances to get behind the traps, several new men having arrived Tuesday night and registered Wednesday morning. The largest gallery of the tournament was present, many women being in the crowd behind the ropes that separated the shooters from the public.

Generally, the shooting was behind that of Tuesday, due principally to the high wind that swept across the field from the north, making the flight of the targets unsteady and erratic. The shooters are divided into forty squads of five men each and at noon twenty-eight squads had shot off seventy-five of the 100 targets. Seven of the squads had not had an opportunity of getting up to the traps.

At the noon intermission, George Potter White and Joe Kosnyky lead the amateurs, having each broken seventy-four of their seventy-five targets. Among the professionals, W. R. Crosby, Fred Gilbert, John R. Taylor and J. German were tied, with seventy-four targets each.

Owing to the great length of the program and in order to finish the stages before dark the doubles have been cut out. The management has been forced on the side of the tournament. It was anticipated that 150 to 200 entrants would be the maximum and the grounds were planned for that number. The result is that with 300 men shooting, the waits of the squads are long and tedious. However, it is too late now to clear off additional space and install more traps and the tournament will be finished with the present number in action.

Clark High Tuesday.

In the professional class, Homer Clark of Albion, Ill., was high man, finishing with a score of 140 out of a possible 150. While his shooting was considered good, it was not the best record that he has made. At the last state tournament in Oklahoma City, he broke 130 targets out of a possible 150. At that shoot he broke 125 targets without a miss, winning the gold medal.

Among the amateurs, George F. White of Waterloo, D. C., walked off with the honors, knocking down 147 of the 150 targets. The last ninety targets were broken without a miss. White holds the championship of South Dakota, having won it three years in succession, his average during the three seasons being 130.

ALL DELEGATES ARE JURILANT

Worrell Manufacturing Company of St. Louis Makes Hit with Visiting Sheriffs at Paxton Hotel Headquarters.

Delegates attending the annual convention of the National Sheriffs' association will leave Omaha July 10th for the magnificent reception accorded them. Never have the members of the association had such a thoroughly enjoyable and profitable time at any previous meetings, and this fact is largely due to the Worrell Manufacturing company of St. Louis, which assumed the burden of entertaining the delegates and making them feel that the whole world and the best part of Omaha belonged to them.

Well Known in Omaha.

Under the direction of F. L. Herik, who by the way is not a stranger in Omaha, the Worrell company established headquarters for the sheriffs at the Paxton hotel, where hundreds of visitors were entertained in royal fashion between convention sessions. A part of the entertainment provided, and in fact, most of the important social event of the convention week was the reception given to the delegates by this company at the Rome hotel, Herik, who is a prosaiguator extraordinaire, which in English, means an exceptionally clever sleight-of-hand manipulator, furnished one.

BREAKFAST CAPS IN VOGUE

Elaborate Hair Dressing Not Feasible for Early Morning, Hence the Caps.

The breakfast cap or hoodlet may become a necessity when the more elaborate styles of hair dressing came into vogue a few years ago. Women of taste and neatness are reluctant to appear at any time in the day with tousled or unpressed hair, but the time required to "do up" the coiffures that have been worn during recent years cannot be spared in the early morning hours, neither by the matron who supervises her own household nor by the woman of leisure. Hence the necessity, one may almost say the luxury, of the breakfast cap.

Double Target Event.

The second big event of the day was the twenty-five double target, fifty-nine men participating. J. S. Young of Chicago leading the amateurs with a score of 6 and W. R. Crosby of O'Fallon, Ill., at the head of the professional class with a score of 6 targets.

The score of the shooters was as follows:

You Win in Two Ways

The Hope slightly-used piano-sale plan is one by which buyers win in two ways. They have no chance to lose through having the piano damaged, for they play—get a musical education free. All the expense is on Hope, for the slightly used pianos, which sell from $60 to $110, may be returned after the youngsters have learned to play, and all the costs then applied on a new instrument. The first piano cost nothing and the children bumped their heads on a new instrument. These slightly used pianos may be taken from the store any day. It's a good plan to investigate. Hope also rents pianos at $3.00 a month and sends a scarf and stool along.
