DELZELL SUCCEEDS CRABTREE
 Governor Aldrich Decides to Advance Former Lexington Man.
ELLIOTT OF BROKEN BOW DEPUTY
 Present Superintendent Will Resign in November, When New Man Will Be Installed—Their Records in Nebraska.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
 LINCOLN, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—In announcing his determination to appoint J. E. Dellzell, formerly of Lexington, to be state superintendent of schools when Superintendent Crabtree resigns, Governor Aldrich today made the following statement:
 "I have received notice that Prof. Crabtree intends to resign as state superintendent on or about November 1 next. In case he carries out his intention my intention is to appoint James E. Dellzell, present deputy state superintendent, to fill the place made vacant by Prof. Crabtree, and Mr. Dellzell's place will be taken by Robert I. Elliott, now of the Broken Bow schools. At least, the position will be offered him, so I am assuming."

"In case Prof. Crabtree carries out his intention to resign I have deemed it wise to appoint Prof. Dellzell for the reason that he is familiar with the policies and methods and details of the office of the present state superintendent and it would cause no rupture or other disturbance. I am sure, in carrying on the affairs of our educational system as devolves upon the state superintendent."
 "Prof. Dellzell is a man of wide experience in educational affairs, having been identified with Nebraska schools for a quarter of a century, and is thoroughly familiar with all of the various departments of our entire high school system."
 "Prof. Elliott, one of the younger superintendents of high schools in the state, is a young man of high character, thoroughly educated and in the vigor of health and strength, and he certainly will be a valuable acquisition in this office in case Prof. Crabtree actually resigns on or about November 1."

Mr. Dellzell has climbed the educational ladder round by round, as a pupil in the rural schools, as a teacher in those schools, as principal of village schools and as superintendent of city schools. He worked his way through the state normal school at Peru by serving as janitor and doing other manual labor. When Governor Miley appointed Mr. Dellzell as a member of the State Normal board he said:
 "I have faith in a man who has worked his way through school and obtained his education through heroic efforts as Mr. Dellzell has. I believe that the interests of an institution like that of Peru will be safely guarded by one who had to work his way through it as Mr. Dellzell did."

Mr. Dellzell's success with boys is phenomenal. During his long tenure of office as superintendent at Lexington there was no high school in the state that enrolled a higher percentage of boys. It was Mr. Dellzell's effort at Lexington that gave that school more than a state-wide reputation.
 He began as a farmer boy in Antelope county, was a student at Peru, principal at Beskehan, superintendent at Lexington, junior normal principal at North Platte and deputy state superintendent for nearly a year.
 Mr. Dellzell announced yesterday afternoon that he had already decided upon Superintendent Robert I. Elliott of Broken Bow as his deputy. Mr. Elliott is a typical representative of the progressive young superintendents of the state. He is about 30 years of age, a native of Illinois and moved with his parents to Nebraska in his early childhood. He attended the rural schools of Wayne county and began teaching in the rural schools in Stanton county. He is a graduate of the Nebraska Normal college at Wayne and since his graduation from that institution has attended the University of Nebraska for nearly three years. He has served as principal at Platte, Stanton county, and was for a time a member of the faculty of the Wayne Normal, and from there went to the superintendency of Wayne county. He works as city superintendent at Chadron and Broken Bow has attracted the attention of educators throughout the state. He has been elected for the third year as superintendent at Broken Bow and has served three seasons as principal of the Broken Bow Normal school.

Mr. Elliott is a natural born leader and organizer. While he was a student in the university he was a member of the state university debating team in the Iowa-Nebraska debate, Nebraska winning unanimously. He is an able speaker.
 This appointment came to Mr. Elliott unlooked for, he having been recommended to Mr. Dellzell by some of the leading educators of the state.

Swedish Lutheran Conference in Wahoo
 Nebraska Conference is Celebrating Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Its Organization.

WAHOO, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The twenty-fifth anniversary of the organization of the Nebraska conference of Lutheran churches in Nebraska is being celebrated here this week.

The state Lutheran league is meeting jointly with the conference. About forty pastors are present together with 200 delegates. The meetings will continue through the week. A large tent has been raised on Luther college campus where most of the programs are held.
 The first program was given on Wednesday evening, which consisted of musical selections rendered by representatives from the different Lutheran churches in the state. Thursday forenoon was set aside for the business meeting of the state league. The conference proper begins its sessions in the evening.
 The Swedish Lutherans have made great advancement in their church work during the last twenty-five years. There are forty congregations in the state together with the same number of Lutheran leagues. The work was purely missionary at the start.

LAW SUIT OVER REWARD MONEY
 Litigation in Kearney County Over Money Paid for Catching Taylor.

MINIDEN, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—A lawsuit which is the offspring of the capture and conviction of Bert M. Taylor, who committed the crime of murder three years ago and who was executed for the same, has occupied the attention of the county court for two days and has attracted considerable attention on the part of the people here. When Taylor was captured in San Bernardino, Cal., the deputy sheriff gave to Asa Ransom, then sheriff of Kearney county, a written power of attorney to collect the reward offered for the capture of Taylor. A dispute arose as to who was entitled to the reward. Ransom claimed one-half the amount as fees and turned over to and took receipts for the remaining $50 from Ransom. Ransom never remitted the money. Ward commenced an action against Adams & Adams and Ransom, charging that the latter charged "fraudulent, unconscionable and unreasonable" and was an agreement between said defendants to defraud and cheat the plaintiff out of all his claims and demands. The amount claimed was $50 and the jury brought in a verdict of $50 against all the defendants. R. E. Adams is running for county judge and it was charged by defendants that the action was commenced to embarrass him politically by L. C. Paulson and his partner, W. S. Moran and McCook.

JOHNSON WOODMEN TO HAVE PICNIC

The camps of all the towns of the county have agreed to take part. This inaugurates annual picnics for the fraternity in the county, and next year it will be held in one of the other towns. The committee chosen for the work are at work on the preliminaries of the picnic. A good speaker will be secured. The services of the Townsband Military band have been contracted for. A big basket dinner will be a feature, and in the afternoon there will be a long program of sports, including racing, etc. There will be a base ball game, probably between the Johnson and First teams. A special program will be provided for the evening.

HILDRETH MAN TRAMPED BY HORSES
 HILDRETH, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Dave Williams was quite seriously injured while trying to catch some colts in a pasture. The pasture is large and he had gone in company with George Taylor, to catch a colt to break. A bunch of horses and colts had been driven into a corner and Taylor threw a rope over a colt's neck, frightening the bunch. They turned to run and Williams ran in front of them to head them off. They knocked him down and trampled him badly, cutting a deep gash in the calf of his leg and inflicting numerous minor injuries. He was brought to town at once, and unless complications set in, he will be around again in a few days.

Grand Island Beet Sugar Plant May Be Greatly Enlarged
 Plans Being Made to Put in New Machinery if Additional Acquire Can Be Secured.

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—At a conference between the members of the executive committee of the Commercial club and General Manager Howe of the American Beet Sugar company and Local Manager Swan it is expected that the Grand Island plant of the company will, as soon as the campaign of 1911 is completed, which will be about the latter part of December, be completely overhauled and given new and more modern machinery. The total outlay for such improvements will run to about $100,000. The Grand Island plant was the mother plant in this state and is today only one of two. It has been in operation with the exception of a year or two, for twenty-one years, including 1911, and the factory for it is such that there will be a long sugar making campaign. The beets have withstood the drought well, better than any other crop, and they are in excellent condition. The aim of the club will be to increase the acreage within a radius of ten miles of Grand Island and thereby to make a moderate success in this factory stands ready to rejuvenate the plant to such an extent that it will be good for another twenty-year run. That little difficulty will be experienced is the general belief because more modern methods in the culture of the beet have eliminated so much of the hard labor which formerly proved irksome. Only the thinning remains of the hand labor and on contracts of twenty acres or over the factory provided this labor, bringing the men to do it at so much per acre. A number of former local farmers will be taken by the factory beet fields in more western counties this year.

More Students Will Come West For Education
 Registrar of State University Gives Figures that Indicate Larger Attendance from East.

(From a Staff Correspondent.)
 LINCOLN, Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Indication point, according to Registrar Harrison of the state university, to a larger attendance at that institution than ever before and this year's enrollment is expected to exceed that of 1909 by from 200 to 300 students. The constantly increasing number of students from eastern states is a matter of comment among university authorities and is explained in the fact that there is a tendency among the prospective students of that section to get at least a portion of their collegiate education in the section of the country. The attendance of students from over the state is looked to be greater than in any previous year and promises to keep step with the usual increase in this regard.

The old students who return this year will find fewer changes in the faculty than for some years past. The attention of professors from this school to others has not been so great this year as for several years in the past.
 Chief among the changes in faculty is the departure of Dean C. R. Richards of the engineering college and the assumption of a part of his duties by Prof. J. D. Hoffman of Purdue university. Prof. Hoffman is to be professor of mechanical engineering, but the deanship is left vacant. Another change is the replacing of Prof. G. W. L. Taylor by J. E. Le Rossignol of head professor of political economy.
 Prof. M. Hunter succeeds A. E. Davidson, deceased, as principal of the school of agriculture and becomes a member of the university athletic board. Fred Rasmussen becomes head of the dairy department of the college of agriculture, succeeding A. L. Haacker, resigned. E. O. Stehm becomes the first all-year athletic coach that the university has had. This place having been established only last year. W. J. Dupper, acting head of the department of forestry last semester, is appointed to that position permanently.

With these as the principal faculty changes, the absence of Prof. H. W. Caldwell and Dr. A. E. Guenther will be noticeable to old students. Both faculty men have a leave of absence for one year. Prof. Caldwell will be in Europe and Dr. Guenther in New York City.
 A change in the administration of the teachers' college is being made whereby the college will enroll only students who have had two years' work in other colleges, those to receive degrees from the college in which they originally matriculated and not from the teachers' college. In effect this makes the teachers' college strictly a professional school.

FULLERTON CHAUNTAUGUS
 FULLERTON, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Many families are already camping in Fullerton park. The twelfth session of the Fullerton chauntaugus opened tonight. Dr. D. T. Robertson of Colorado will be the platform superintendent this year and conduct the morning round table. Miss Elizabeth Talcott will be in charge of the Ben Indian work for the children and a Young Men's Christian association, physical director will assist the boys in their play.

CENTRAL CITY CHAUNTAUGUS
 CENTRAL CITY, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Next week the second of the Central City chauntaugus begins. The chauntaugus programs continue every afternoon and evening during the week and will conclude with a program Sunday afternoon and a grand sacred concert by the Royal Italian Grand band Sunday evening.

men of America was held in Diller, Thursday, and was a very successful affair. Fairbury was well represented at the picnic, a special train conveying several hundred visitors to that point. The Fairbury band furnished music for the occasion. The Diller picnic is an annual event, which began about fifteen years ago by the Ancient Order United Workmen lodge and later received the co-operation of the Modern Woodmen. The picnic resembled more of a carnival than the customary picnic of former adjacent general John C. Harrison. Fairbury delegates were in the address of the day and spoke on "fraternitism."

Mike Harrington Again Takes His Pen
 Addresses Democrats of Nebraska Concerning Candidacy of C. E. Harman.

The return of "Mike" Harrington in his verbal bout with C. E. Harman, running for the democratic nomination for railway commissioner, is the subject of a lengthy epistle dated at O'Neill and addressed to the democrats of Nebraska. After a proxy include it says:
 "I have stated and reaffirm that the man that the democrats are trying to nominate in our primaries is C. E. Harman of Omaha. Mr. Harman, in a lengthy article prepared in the main by railroad supporters, wants me to go before the state committee and prove that he participated in the fraud of 1908. I was ready to do so in the election of Cowgill for commissioner. Cowgill was his neighbor and owing to the death of Harman's wife he was to be the candidate. I had offered to try the case promptly with or without a jury and to prove his participation in the handling of those corrupt funds. That cannot be done before the state committee. The men who were corrupt in putting the railroads are not ready voluntarily to prepare affidavits. A state committee has no authority to issue subpoenas to compel attendance of any witness. I don't take the view of an ordinary litigant. But I know of no other way by which the railroads can be held responsible for the fraud of 1908 except by having an action in court. There is no other way. I am subpoenaed and compelled to testify. I was subpoenaed and I have stated with reference to the fraud of 1908 that I am ready to do more than I have stated. By the Bee I am called to speak for not exposing this condition when Cowgill ran. It is a sufficient answer to say that I know nothing of it at the time, but if I had known the corrupt methods that were used, I would have withdrawn from the presidential election ticket and taken the stump against Cowgill."
 The people ought to be aroused to the situation. The effort of the railroads at this time is to vote on the railway commissioner among the other three candidates, while the railroads call vote for Harman. At this moment the railroads are endeavoring to cast their

 Crushed Rock and Sand.
 SILVER CREEK, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—Ten railroads of crushed rock have been bought for use on the sandy road at the south end of the bridge over the Platte river, south of Silver Creek. The rock was furnished by Polk county and the business men of Silver Creek and will be hauled onto the road by farmers living in the vicinity. This crushed rock, when mixed with sand, makes a permanent road and gets as hard and solid as city pavement. The ten railroads will make about 1,200 feet of road.

Some Endorsements for James B. McGrew, Republican Candidate for State Railway Commissioner

It gives the Advocate great pleasure to speak a few word of commendation for our fellow townsman, J. B. McGrew, who is the republican candidate for railway commissioner. He has been a resident of this state for about twenty-five years and nearly all of this time has been engaged in the banking business in this county, where by his honorable and conservative manner of conducting business he has won a large circle of friends. He was elected by a large majority as a member of the senate from this district and he pursued such a straightforward course during the session, always being for a square deal, that he has the distinction of being one of the fairest and most upright members of that body. He hails from the great Republican Valley in the southwestern part of the state that is entitled to recognition on the ticket, and if elected we feel safe in stating that he will give every one that has business with the Board of Railway Commissioners a square deal, and that is what is demanded rather than a man who is fanatical on either side.—Bloomington Advocate.

State Senator J. B. McGrew of Bloomington will be a candidate before the August primary for the office of state railway commissioner. Mr. McGrew has an excellent record as senator and will no doubt receive the nomination.—Franklin News.

J. B. McGrew went down to Lincoln last week and filed as a republican candidate for the office of state railway commissioner. Mac made a rattling good record in the state senate last winter and has the stuff in him to make a good commissioner, but before we'll vote for him he's got to promise us a better train service here at Riverton.—Riverton (Dem.) Review.

James B. McGrew, Bloomington, Neb.

Our friend, Senator J. B. McGrew of this district, has filed as a candidate for railway commissioner. No one can deny Mr. McGrew's ability in matters of the kind that would come before him should he be elected, most of the questions that come up before that body for judgment being problems of a business complexion, and in the settlement of which his long years of practical experience in the business world will come mighty handy. His heart will be in the right place, too, that is, for fairness and justice. Mr. McGrew won this reputation when in the banking business, and as far as we know never took a mean or unfair advantage of anybody in all the various dealings he had with men. This is saying a good deal, because, too often, you hear it said that so-and-so "pinched him" when he caught some one in trouble. The testimony is the other way, however, as regards Mr. McGrew. "Mac always treated me right" is what you hear about him. We believe the same verdict will be returned after he has served his time in the office of railway commissioner. "He was all right" will be the common opinion you'll hear when his term is ended and the office turned over to a successor.—Franklin Sentinel.

The following resolution was unanimously passed by the republican convention of Franklin county:

"We take pride in the clean record of Hon. James B. McGrew, as state senator in the recent legislature. His fellow citizens in Franklin county believe that his record should commend him as an able, honest and industrious public servant, to higher official honors at the hands of the people of the state of Nebraska, and hereby endorse his candidacy for State Railway Commissioner."

TYPHOID FEVER AT BEATRICE
 Situation at the Institution for the Feeble-Minded Shows Little Improvement.

BEATRICE, Neb., Aug. 11.—(Special.)—The typhoid fever situation at the institution for the feeble-minded here is but little improved. Dr. Thomas, the superintendent, spent a restless day Thursday, and his recovery is yet in doubt. There are at present sixteen cases of the disease, and so far, five deaths have been reported. Dr. Wilson of Lincoln, president of the State Board of Health, investigated conditions at the institution yesterday, and is stated that everything possible has been done to check the spread of the disease. Monday the water from the new well at the institution will be turned into the standpipes, and a quantity of chloride of lime will be used in the water in order to give the pipe-line and everything about the building a thorough cleansing. A view of making it as sanitary as possible.

suffered With Diarrhoea

For two days I suffered terrible agony with Diarrhoea and Griping pains, when a friend recommended Wakefield's Blackberry Balsam to me and I sent out and got a bottle. The effect it had on me was wonderful. It quickly relieved the pain, quieted me and I went to sleep soon after commencing the Balsam. When I woke up I was cured. I have not had an attack of the trouble since.

I have been subject to bowel trouble and have tried a good many other remedies with no satisfaction. But this one is just what I needed and I take pleasure in writing you this letter telling of my experience with it.
 Very truly yours,
