RIDLEY WINS HANDICAP SHOOT

Indiana Man Beats Ida Grove Shooter in the Shoot-Off.

MEETING IS MOST SUCCESSFUL

Finish of the Big Event is Puffed Off Friday Morning, Delay Being Caused by Darkness Thursday Evening.

The sixth western handicap shoot, held under the sanction of and managed by the Interstate association, on the grounds of the Omaha Gun club, has become a matter of history. The closing session was held Friday morning when the handicap tie between William Ridley of Aldine, Ind., and C. C. Collins of Eagle Grove, Ia., was shot off, resulting in a victory for the former.

Who broke twenty targets, straight, while his opponent failed on two. The shoot should have closed last night, but it was called on account of darkness and for the further reason that when shooting stopped Thursday night, J. R. Gutzmer of Columbus, Neb., stood to win, having missed but one out of sixty targets in the 100 race, which gave him a chance for a look-in as a possible winner of the handicap.

The last day of the shoot opened with a small crowd on the ground, most of the entrants having left for their homes. Those who had not finished in the race on 100 targets of the handicap seemed to be in poorer form than the entrants who stood behind the traps Thursday.

Forced to Shoot Off. The handicap having been concluded and no winner developing, Secretary Shaner named himself as referee and Henry McDonald of Omaha official marker. Then he called Ridley and Collins to the traps.

Both men got their targets. The crowd back of the ropes maintained perfect silence as the two men popped away at the "clays." Both seemed steady, but in the fifth Collins missed, and in the twelfth Ridley missed his bird. From then on both men shot true to their aim, each killing nineteen of the twenty targets, resulting in another tie.

There was a short intermission, when Referee Shaner again called the men up behind the traps. Collins was the first to shoot, and it was noticed that he was shooting slightly below the target, knocking off a bottom. Ridley was driving straight to center. On the third Collins missed his target and again in the twelfth. It was apparent that he was seized with an attack of fever, while Ridley was killing his birds just as they commenced to drop in their outward flight. He kept up his steady and sure aim to the finish, making a score of twenty targets straight, while Collins quit the field with but eighteen to his credit.

Seizing the opportunity to make a little speech, Referee Shaner, who has been the ruling star of the tournament, introduced Mr. Ridley as the winner of a handicap in which the best shooters of the world had participated. He designated it as an honor well worth striving to gain. The gold medal, the trophy of the meet, was pinned upon the breast of the Indiana champion, who responded in a few words, saying that he had done his best.

Continuing his remarks, Secretary Shaner referred to the tournament as one of the best ever held in the United States, successful in every particular. William Ridley, the new amateur champion is a butcher, conducting a shop in his home town. He has been shooting fifteen years, visiting the state tournaments where he has made some fairly good records. His first crack shooting was at the tournament just closed, where in the money-back system he killed 288 of the targets, winning $46.50 and making a run of 127 without a miss.

White Wins Free-for-All.

The free-for-all shoot, which opened at the first session of the tournament, was finished early in the afternoon. In this 100 targets were used Tuesday, the same number Wednesday and 100 yesterday. For the three days the high men among the amateurs were:

Potter White, 32; J. S. Young, 29, and R. Thompson, 26 targets, respectively.

This makes these three men winners of the tournament, in the order named. Among the professionals the high scores and the makers were:

H. Clark and W. R. Crosby, tied on 35; C. E. Spencer and W. H. Heer, tied on 32; Fred Billa, 30.

With the professionals there are no winners, they simply shooting for pleasure or advertising purposes. They all represent manufacturers who deal in guns, ammunition or equipment used by hunters or trap shooters. They attend all of the tournaments, and while not at these shoots are on the road selling goods.

Amateur Topnotchers. In the last day of the free-for-all, but one man made a hit on each of the 100 targets. He was J. S. Day, a professional from Memphis, Tenn. As on the previous days, the amateurs were among the topnotchers, and while none of them made straight scores the following finished with ninety-nine targets: A. C. Conner, Springfield, Ill.; C. H. Ditto, Kitchburg, Ill.; J. S. Young, Chicago; E. J. Chingren, Spokane, Wash.; N. D. Thorpe, Columbus, Neb., and Fred Call, Axtell, Neb.

These making ninety-eight were: Joe Kautsky, Fort Dodge, Ia.; Ed Varner, Adams, Neb.; H. B. Pettinger, Charleston, Mo.; C. B. Eaton, Fayette, Mo.; H. Dixon, Orange, Mo.; S. A. Huntley, Sioux City, Ia.; R. Thompson, Carnesville, Mo.; N. Munsey, Iowa City, Ia.; W. L. Mulford, Kirksville, Mo.; B. Collins, Shelbyville, Mo.; F. Campbell, Waukegan, Ia.

Those with scores of ninety-seven were: William Ridley, Eagle Grove, Ia.; J. R. Graham, Long Lake, Ill.; Potter White, Watertown, S. D.; T. E. Graham, Long Lake, Ill.; G. W. Lutenberg, Fairfax, Va.; C. P. Shumway, Milwaukee, Georgia; Reimer, Durant, Ia.; Fred Nelson, Holdrege, Neb.; W. F. Holtz, Shelby, Ia.

In the class with ninety-six targets to their credit were: C. C. Tappan, Gandy, Neb.; W. H. Clay, East St. Louis, Ill.; C. C. Collins, Aldine, Ind.; William Veach, Falls City, Neb.; Henry S. McDonald, W. D. Townsend, Omaha; A. P. McDowell, Faulkton, S. D.; E. E. Breckenridge, Manning, Ia.; H. J. Ribhausen, North Platte, Neb.

Thirty Ninety in Shoot. In this shoot the ninety-ninety money, the total net being $475. The high men will win 11 per cent, the next 10, the next 9 per cent, and so on down, the decrease being in the same ratio. In this shoot, during the three days of the tournament, 78,660 cartridges were used.

Western Handicap. The premier event of the day, as well as of the tournament, was the western handicap, with 188 entrants, thirty moneys and a purse of $1,300, divided into thirty moneys, the winner receiving $350; second high man, $125.00; third, $100.00; the winners of the other lucky ones decreasing in about the same ratio.

This was the event that was not finished when night came on. At the close last night C. C. Collins of Aldine, Ind., and William Ridley of Eagle Grove, Ia., were high with scores of ninety-eight each. However, it is possible for J. R. Gutzmer of Columbus to win. When that is called, his squad, No. 31, had shot at sixty of the 100 targets and he had missed but one. In making the announcement of the postponement of the shoot, Secretary Shaner stated that doing so was only in fairness to Mr. Gutzmer, a possible winner.

Wind Drops Scores. The shooting during the greater portion of the afternoon was not up to the high average maintained during the tournament, the scores dropping to a low level. This was due to the high wind.

The race for the handicap during the season, between Charles Spencer of St. Louis, Taylor, German and Heer, who prior to yesterday had shot 1,200 targets and were only three targets apart, has been settled. Spencer being the winner. In the shoot for 100 targets yesterday Spencer missed thirty targets, Taylor and German thirty-seven each, and Heer, thirty-eight. This gives Spencer the race by one target out of 1,800 and an average of 7.22 for the season.
