

THE OMAHA SUNDAY BEE

OMAHA SUNDAY, AUGUST 13, 1911

JUDGMENTS

THE Rockies last trip abroad is their best this season. They played six games and won four. Two out of three from each St. Joseph and Sioux City. They left home tied with Sioux City for the fifth place, they return in fifth place, three full games ahead of Sioux City and but one and one-half games behind St. Joe in fourth place. They should pass the Rockies in the present series with them. It is worth noting that Omaha has taken more out of the last three games played with Sioux City, the team that has always been hard for us to beat. Another fact that calls for special mention is that the team was deprived of Gus Williams' services on its late trip and as this had been getting his two and three long hits a day, that meant something. Though Pick played a very fair fight, he did not do much hitting. The Rockies are now at home for a stretch of twenty-one games and counting on them to continue the clip of the last month or so. They should be much further up the ladder when the twenty-one games are over than now. There is no gaining that the team is going good, as good as any and better than most, in the league. Its pitching staff led by Duff, is a dangerous one for any set of batters to face. Under the quiet, steady management of Arbogast, the men have settled down to a fine line of team work. Nothing has done more to balance the team and give it effectiveness than placing Nielson at third and Moore at second. That gives Nielson the best of his position, a finished veteran on each side of him and plugs up the holes where most of the games had been lost. Surmounting the longest train of hardships and difficulties nearly any Rockies club has ever had to face, the boys are now giving great promise. They still need one thing—a heartier and better home support. Give it to them and Pa Hourque and watch results.

The Sporting News points out the one big obstacle in the American association's much-mooted invasion of big league territory on an independent basis. This, of course, would make the association an outlaw and it could not expect surplus players from the two majors, nor recruits from the leagues below. True, but perhaps Messrs. Tinker and others have gone a little further than that in their calculations and perceived the possibility of breaking into the ranks of organized ball above them, setting up conditions inviting to stars in the majors. That would precipitate a real base ball war. But there is no need for it to come to this. The theory on which many people proposed is that there is room for another major league in organized ball. Will the National and American league so view it? Also, as to the idea that the outlaw league would meet itself out of all base of supplies, who of the American league, which came into existence just that way? It means to get enough supplies to keep soul and body together and grow into rather a robust youngster. We shall see what we shall see.

One of the sensations of the week was the Chance-Tinker case, which ended in Tinker's winning Monday's game from the Giants. One who knows of the inside of this affair, says that Tinker had come to a time when he regretted from the big loss was necessary, though it is open to debate whether the measure Chance took and revoked were wise. They seem to have brought results and that is what the manager was after. Chance once made this remark—perhaps he has made it more than once—"When I can't manage the team I will resign the job. We do not have internal strife on the Cubs, for the reason that I will not stand for it. The trouble-maker quits making trouble or quits the team, one or the other and that is in my policy." Mr. Murphy was right in saying that the argument covering first base discipline and because it did the Cubs had won four pennants in five years. Lack of an efficient discipline has kept other good teams out of such honors and it will do it every time.

Fans are never homebats, but if they were they would be in a hand. It came off at Rourke park just before the team left home for this last trip. Kane was on second, a bunt was laid down near third. Kane rounded that corner a few seconds later and, with a pitcher up in a crouch and a sub catcher covering first, Kane stepped properly kept on going for home. He was thrown out by a few inches, but it took a perfect throw and a perfect play at the plate to get him. The substitute homebase fan yelled, "Oh, you homebats, while real ball fans cheered Kane for his heady work and daring effort, attempting the very play that Ty Cobb has been setting the country on fire with all season. Yet he was a homebat because he failed by a fraction of a second to make it. If all spectators understood the game it would be more pleasant for the player."

Lajoie has returned to the game after a long enforced absence with a vengeance and unless Cobb gets a move on, he will be overtaken at the bat by the big Frenchman. Cobb has done mighty well, though, to bat and field and run bases with such force abandon all season, for he has not been entirely a well man and some of his friends have urged him to take fewer chances. But because he has not heeded the advice, largely, his team is still tugging away for the top notch.

It is not exactly an indictment of a fan to say that the average one prefers to be on the home team with to seeing a bang-up good game of ball, but it is a slight reflection on his sense of fair play, when it is the home team that loses as well as the quality of sportsmanship.

Jack Holland has eight players to sell to the majors. Why not make it of the whole team, Jack and be done with it?

As soon as Lutz communicates a few of those tricks to his arm to his head he will be a top-line.

With Tenney, Kling and Donlin, Boston surely ought to be able to pick a manager for next year.

At that rate Des Moines will scarcely be ready for the faster company when the war breaks.

Harry O'Leary must have foamed over, laughing from those two beatings from the Millers.

Pink somehow does not bat as well while playing outfield as he did when at third.

Denver's lead is entirely too large for the purposes of sympathy.

Russ Wagner will be glad to welcome countrymen, Herr O'Leary.

For Pa is out counting and Arbogast and the boys are home working.

WESTERN LEAGUE AVERAGES

James Kane Leading All Singers in the League.

THOMASON IS A CLOSE SECOND

Demott is the Other Omaha Man Hitting Above the Three Hundred

Mark-Rhodes Leads the Omaha Pitching Force.

Consistent hitting has finally placed Omaha men at the head of the Western League. James Kane, who has been the league's doyen since his debut, is repeating beautifully at the top of the list with a batting average of .352, while Pa Star's star pitcher, Thomason, is next in line with an average of .346. Kane's terrific showing of the last three weeks has been enough to bring him up at a remarkable rate, jumping from tenth place to first place in that time. Not only is Kane some hitter, but also some fielder, and is near the top of the list in this branch of the game. Out of 1,035 putouts and 73 assists, he has made but 24 errors, and is chalked up with a fielding average of .979. Rhodes of Omaha is the fifth best pitcher in the league and has won to date sixteen games and lost eight. Following are the averages:

Veterans at Tennis Meet

Jack Bailey

John T. Bailey of Albia, Okla., official referee, and George H. Wright of Boston, Mass., one of the veteran tennis men of the United States, attended the national club tennis tournament this year, and both declared it to be one of the finest tournaments of the country.

Big Games of the Amateurs

All the local lots to be again occupied this afternoon.

Storv Play at the Bluffs

Tournaments in nearby towns are taking many of the amateur players from Omaha to strengthen other teams.

This afternoon the people of the neighboring Iowa villages across the river will be holding the second time this year to behold the Omaha Stors triumph mix affairs. In their last bout the Stors swamped the Bluffs boys, but it would be a tough proposition to attempt a prediction of the result of this event.

Games at Fort Omaha

At Fort Omaha one of the best double bills of the season will be put on this afternoon. In the first encounter the Red Sox and the Hanscom Park will bury themselves in the best and excitement of a terribly exciting and dramatic battle. These two teams and they are very hostile when questions of ability arise. This afternoon's battle will settle for the season the superiority of one or the other. Big John Hickey will dash the sphere for the Omaha boys, while Eddie Bogats will pitch for the Hanscom Park.

Hold Beach Races at Old Orchard, Me.

Promoters believe that game can be successfully played in North as it is in South.

BOSTON, Aug. 12.—Racing automobiles over a beach has come to be regarded as a southern fixture. World's records have been made at the well known Ormond-Dartmouth beach on the Florida coast, and last winter a race was held very successfully on the Atlantic-Pacific strip near Jacksonville.

Game on Creighton Field

The Stors of Scott O'Leary will meet the Athletics on the Creighton ground this afternoon at twenty-sixth and California. Lineups: Athletics: Short, McCarty; Catcher, Green; First, Green; Second, Kasper; Pitcher, Dusen; Outfield, Veron. Stors: Short, Veron; Catcher, Veron; First, Veron; Second, Veron; Pitcher, Veron; Outfield, Veron.

Who Are the Champs

In reality just which team can be called the champions of Omaha is a mighty serious and much argued question. Of course the Stors triumph seem to be the cream of the city yet it is stated as a general rule that before a team can claim any superiority over another team they must have beaten their rivals. Last year they were absent from the city, and others counted there are no practice games among amateurs. The Triumphs have not as yet played the Americans, a team which has beaten every team in Omaha, some of them twice and some very decisive scores. This much is certain that the Triumphs and Americans must clash before either team can claim the championship. As to the answer of George L. Kennedy published in this paper Sunday in regard to the Stors challenge, he ought not to have a word to say. On July 8 the Triumphs played and they claim it was a practice game and they claim it was a practice game and they claim it was a practice game.

Wells Out for Championship

English Lightweight Hopes to Wrest Laurels from Wolcott. NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Matt Wells, the English fighter, is likely to be given a chance to win the lightweight championship of the world. After a great deal of scheming it has been practically arranged to have the English lightweight champion meet the winner of the battle at Milwaukee on September 13 between Ad Wolcott and Packer McFarland. Wells will have to make 135 pounds at 11 o'clock for the fight. This, however, should not be difficult for Wells, who has repeatedly stated that he can make that weight.

Wells Out for Championship

It will be remembered that Wells had an opportunity to meet McFarland at Milwaukee at the end of the month before the Redger club. The fight, however, was dropped owing to the stubbornness of either Wells or his manager, George McDonald.

Fats and Leans Play Base Ball at Ravenna

RAVENNA, Neb., Aug. 12.—(Special)—Friday was a busy day in Ravenna. Every business house in town was open for the day and the lean men. The teams were recruited from among the citizens of the town, and all ball players were barred. The game was fought in a field from the first to the ninth inning, and the final score was 13 to 11 in favor of the lean men. All players were outfitted in gaudy colors with moccasins, water boys, etc. The first ball was pitched by Mayor Jim (Bease), and was batted by Dewey Hlava. The bat had been saved long since and a number of dramatic cases portending a major league explosion and the bat was blown to pieces. In spite of the fact that the batter had on a pair of heavy gloves his hands were somewhat injured.
